Will Lay The Corner ...

Records and Photographs to Be Deposited in Foundation.

Another step toward the realization of the New Ovid Central School will be taken on Saturday, when the corner-stone will be laid with fitting ceremonies by H. J. Williams, president of the Board of Education. Principal C. L. Linton will be in charge of the program and activities which will begin at 3:00 p. m.

Mrs. Laura Chapman has been active for several weeks in an effort to have a large number of alumni, from Ovid and Lodi schools, present to witness the event, take part in the ceremony and assemble for special exercises later in Columbus Hall. Word has been received that a former principal George C. Perry, and Mrs. Perry will be here for the occasion.

During the ceremony, a heavy copper box 10x5x6 inches will be sealed in the corner. The box will contain various records and photographs which are enumerated elsewhere. Among these will be the current number of the Gazette. The copy of the local paper contains, besides important school news, a directory of representative business men of this district who have cooperated in making this directory a part of the permanent record of this community. Deposited in the copper box, it will give authoritative information about the business life of this district that will be recorded in no other place.

A survey of the progress of the school project at this date shows that the foundations are 70 per cent completed and a portion of the structural steel is erected. About 6000 bags of cement have been used to mix 1000 yards of concrete that has been poured. There are 84 men employed, 90 per cent of them being residents of this area.

After the Corner-stone is laid and the foundations completed, it is expected that rapid progress will mark the actual construction of the building.
