A Small College Experience Within Indiana University

Academics

Collins residents are serious about their studies, and there are ample opportunities for them to get involved in shaping our academic mission.

- + Student-selected courses through our Board of Educational Programming (BOEP)
- + Courses fulfill Gen Ed and CASE distribution credit requirements
- + On-site classrooms, quiet places for study, and spaces for collaboration
- + Annual international visiting scholar-in-residence who teaches for Collins
- + Summer expeditions courses, where learning takes place outdoors
- + Peer educators who offer a gateway-to-Collins course, called the Q Class
- + Student-planned fireside chats and professor dinners
