Tecumseh Parents,

Following this week of virtual instruction, we find ourselves in better shape in regards to both our number of positive cases and associated quarantines. With our review of the current numbers as of today, we plan to return to our traditional in person instruction on Monday, December 7, 2020. We are hopeful that this additional week of virtual instruction has helped us to reduce our number of positive cases and quarantines which will allow us to return to our traditional in person instruction to complete the first semester.

Please know that we will continue to monitor our number of positive cases and associated quarantines each day to assist us with future decisions on the method of instruction that we will utilize for the remainder of the semester. Today's decision is a result of the current numbers and may require changes in the method of instruction at any time that we experience an increase in the number of positive cases and/or quarantines that would present a more significant risk and/or our ability to adequately staff and supervise the student instruction in our classrooms.

Thank you for your continued support of Tecumseh Public Schools.

Sincerely,

Tom Wilsie
