

Rumshock would like to offer a scholarship of five hundred dollars to a high school student who has had a parent or grandparent who served in the military. To apply, the student should write an essay on how that family member being in the military helped create the foundation of who that student is today. The essay should convey how coming from a military background influenced their values and goals in life. The genre of the essay could vary: it could be a biography of the parent's/grandparent's time in the service whether it was during a time of war or not. The student could convey any hardships of separation that their family experienced during deployment. The student could depict not only the sacrifices the soldier has made, but the sacrifices the family had to endure, past or present.

We are offering this scholarship to all senior high school students in Orange County. The most moving essay will be chosen. Deadline for essay is June 1st 2021

We are asking for a minimum of an eight hundred word count which is equivalent to five to six paragraphs. Essays can be sent to email below. Best of luck to the students participating!
