No quarantine for close contact with confirmed positive

Group C

Quarantine for travel

If someone travels to New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania or Connecticut there is no quarantine needed.

Travel to other states requires the following:

- 10 day quarantine without a negative test
- 7 day quarantine with a negative test

If someone has had COVID 19, they do not have to quarantine for 90 days when traveling

If someone has been fully vaccinated they still must quarantine for travel

Quarantine for household contacts

14 day quarantine starts after the 10 days of COVID-19 positive isolation.

If you live with someone who is positive the quarantine remains 24 days.

Please note: At this time, 90 days after vaccination or having COVID a person would return to Group A.
These protocols are subject to change as more updated information becomes available
