CAMERON MAY– PENELERICK NAMED SEAHAWKS PLAYER OF THE WEEK!!

The Seattle Seahawks, CenturyLink, Inc. (NYSE: CTL) and Q13 FOX (KCPQ) announced Cameron May-Penelerick of Cle Elum Roslyn High School as the Week 10 CenturyLink High School Athlete of the Week. Cameron will be recognized on the field at CenturyLink Field during the December 4 game vs. the Carolina Panthers.

Cameron, a senior at Cle Elum Roslyn High School, was selected Athlete of the Week based on his dedication to academics, community involvement, leadership, and athletic performance. He maintains a 3.87 GPA while taking Advanced Placement classes. Cameron is Treasurer of the Honor Society, Vice President of Interact Club, and a member of Academic Club. He helped raise $10,000 for Interact Club's trip to Ecuador where they built a well for a community that needed fresh water and he is currently raising money for a similar project in the Dominican Republic this spring. Cameron helped bring the traveling Vietnam Wall to Cle Elum and was part of creating Cle Elum's Flag Pole Park. He has also been a major contributor for Shop with a Cop in Ellensburg where he raised money to purchase dinner for all participants. Cameron is a captain of his football team and a First Team All-League linebacker.

Cameron will be recognized at his school in front of families, peers and teachers, as well as at a Seahawks game. He will also receive a $1,000 equipment grant to the school from the Seahawks for the school's Athletic Department along with media recognition, tickets and sideline passes to a Seahawks game, a customized football, and a customized 2016 Seahawks jersey. A total of $10,000 will be awarded to high schools over the course of the program.

STUDENTS OF THE MONTH BY CHASE MARQUETTE

The November Student of the Month award goes to senior Lydia Weis. Lydia is being recognized for her leadership, attitude, ability to problem solve, improvement in mathematics, and outstanding grades and dedications especially in the area of mathematics. Calculus teacher, Mr. Johnson had the following things to say about Lydia, “Very sharp in mathematics; always appropriate and on task; does her work well and neatly and on time; pleasant and helpful in class; always willing to participate and well prepared; and all around good citizen in and outside of school.” In addition to being a stellar student, Lydia is a cheerleader and active member of various clubs on campus. Congratulations Lydia on all of your academic success!

The second Student of the Month award goes to junior Maria “Chuyita” Naranjo. Maria was nominated by Senior Aldrich “El Cid” for outstanding leadership, dedication and effort to improving the school, outstanding attitude, and willingness to help others. According to El Cid, “Chuyita is a multi-talented student who really has the heart of a warrior. Her desire to help and to make a difference in people’s lives is exemplary. She works hard and really does amazing things. Her life is not easy but she still takes the time to listen to others and is genuinely concerned about them. When you ask her how she is doing, she always says, ‘Meh,’ but I think that is her way of saying, ‘Enough about me, what about you? How’s your day is going?’ She is really a remarkable and special person.” Maria, you are an amazing young lady! Keep making people smile. You truly do make a difference!

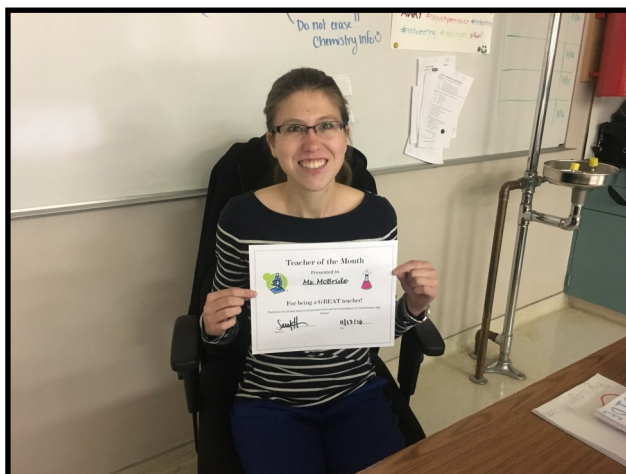

The third Student of the Month award goes to sophomore William Seay. William was nominated by Mrs. Williams for being an outstanding student. Will is hard working, polite, and take his academics very seriously. Mrs. Williams said, “Will sets a great example for other students.” Will pushes himself to do well in all of his classes and always contributes to class discussions. In addition to being a stellar student, William is the vice president for the sophomore class. Keep up the good work Will, continue to push yourself and keep working hard in all of your classes!

November’s freshmen Student of the Month award goes to the dynamic Baker duo, or as Mr. Bell calls them the ACADEMIC POWERHOUSE! Natali and Naomi Baker have been selected for their leadership, great attendance, outstanding grades, and amazing attitudes. Science teacher, Mr. Bell said, “This month we have a tie for the two best academic achievers in 9th grade Agriculture Science out of all my classes. Both Natali and Naomi have over 100% in class and always strive to do their best each and every day. They both have a dedication for striving for excellence and their hard work is admirable. It’s important to point out that they have maintained this remarkable grade during a very busy time in their lives – volleyball season. They are remarkable athletes that know how to balance their school and sports careers. In class, Natali and Naomi always contribute to class discussion and work as team players to help others out when needed. #BAKERPOWER” Natali and Naomi not only excel in science, but in all of their classes. They are amazing young ladies who deserve to be recognized. Keep it up Bakers!

TEACHER OF THE MONTH

Biology, Chemistry, Forensics, cats, and pretty much anything to do with science are all things Ms. McBride is known to love. Ms. McBride however has shown a great love to her students as well. Jasmine Billings has nominated Ms. McBride as this month's teacher of the month for many reason. Jasmine described Ms. McBride as trustworthy, kind, well dressed, and overall a great teacher who goes the extra mile for her students. In her classroom, every student feels welcomed and Ms. McBride handles every situation in her class calmly and never loses her kindness. Jasmine says, "She will listen and give honest advice and she wants to see people learn, grow, and become more than a small town boy/girl." Thank you Ms. McBride for being a positive influence in every student's life and helping us all succeed!

ATHLETES OF THE MONTH

Marisa is a goalkeeper for the lady warrior's soccer team and helped lead the team to the post-season. "From the start, Missy has dedicated herself to the team and the new program, working extremely hard to improve her skills all season! She is a leader on and off the field, and is always willing to go out of her way to help her teammates.", says Coach Marina Williams, "She stepped into the role of starting keeper, and has had a wonderful season and shown so much growth." She has shown great leadership, dedication, and is a team player and is a great candidate for the award. Great job Marisa!

For the month of November, we have Brycen Hand and Marisa Del Gaizo as honorary Athletes of the Month. Brycen plays offensive and defensive line for the football team. He was chosen for the award because of his positive attitude and commitment to his team this year. His dedication, hard work, desire to improve and sportsmanship showed that he truly deserves this award. Brycen underwent surgery on his right hand shortly after the season from an incident that occurred against Zillah in their last home game. His hand was stepped on by multiple Zillah players resulting in a broken finger, hand, and wrist. We wish Brycen the very best and hope he is in good health. Congratulations on the award Brycen!

WHERE ARE THEY NOW? BY CLAIRE HOWERTON

Every month we will be looking at CERHS graduate and seeing what they are up to now. This month we decided to look at Cody Foust. Cody is a junior at Western Washington University and is majoring in Sociology and Social Studies as his major. He was recently featured on The Western Front website in an article about his tie-dye business. Working with a business license Cody has his own company called Lizard and Dye Co. which he created in 2014. He works from his basement and sells clothing articles from t-shirts to sweatshirts to tank tops. He looks forward to working with people to making something truly original to them. We look forward to seeing more about Cody as he approaches graduation.

NHS INDUCTS MEMBERS

Tuesday, November 8th, 2016 was a special day for 16 of Cle Elum's brightest students as they were inducted into the National Honor Society. Guests and inductees were greeted with music played by Michael Otto. The ceremony began with a call to order by NHS advisor, Mrs. Harper. Math teacher, Mr. Johnson, the ceremony's key note speaker, stressed the importance of academics and service to one's community- both core values of the National Honor Society. Following Mr. Johnson's speech was the ceremonial lighting of the candle. Each candle represented one of the National Honor Society's core values: scholarship, leadership, service, and character. NHS President, Sarah Zabik officially inducted the new members by having them sign their names in the sacred pledge book. By signing their names in the book, the inductees promised to maintain a 3.5 cumulative grade point average, serve as leaders of the school and community, complete a minimum of 25 community service hours per school year, and demonstrate outstanding character and citizenship. This year's National Honor Society ceremony inducted the following new members: Karley Burrows (10), Mason Gray (10), Madeline Huston (12), Kater Larimer (10), Haley Maldonado (10), Karl Merkel (10), Amelia Montague (10), Katelyn Nass (10), Brady Norrish (10), Emmalee Sargent (10), Sydney Seay (11), William Seay (10), Harsh Signh (10), Sarah Syverson (10), Kassidy Tourangeau (10), and Dylan Weis (10).

JUNK OF THE MONTH BY JOSH SAY

This November lucky winner of The Junk of the Month goes to Josh Say and his 78 International Scout 2. This vehicle is sportin a 304 V8 that is straight piped to Cherry Bombs. This thing will rattle anything it goes near. It may even rattle itself apart. This rig looks like it just got off the assembly line with its spray can paint job that you would find on a 12 year olds bike. This Corn binder is also sporting a limited edition windshield that consists of multiple cracks throughout the whole windshield. Good thing visibility isn't important! If you look past the dents, cracked windows, and overspray this is a pretty cool rig. This 78 International Scout ii is a Selective Edition Scout. The Selective Edition was only made from 78-79, this includes a gold accent stripe and gold spoke rims. Even though it is out of date and that is not safe to be in you will not see another one like this one that Josh Say drives.

DEPARTMENT OF THE MONTH

This month we decided to shine the spotlight on the college in the classroom courses. Our school provides the unique opportunity for high school students to earn dual credits from both the high school and college. What does this mean? Current sophomores have the opportunity to graduate high school with 43 quarter credits and 3 semester credits. The quarter credits would be through Central Washington University while the semester credits would be through Washington State University. When asked about the benefits of taking these courses, Mrs. Harper stated, "The main benefits to taking these classes while in high school are discounted prices for credits, a longer period of time to cover the same amount of content, more contact with the instructor, and no commuting during adverse weather." These classes are not like other classes. The grades for these courses will permanently be on your college transcript and they are not completely free. Sixty percent of the money paid for the courses will be refunded but only if the student receives a C or better in the course. When asking whether or not to enroll in these courses one must ask themselves if they are ready to take on that responsibility and put in the work necessary to be successful. Teachers are great resources and all instructors have the ability to answer any questions that students may have.

GETTING TO KNOW THE COACHES

WRESTLING:

I sat down with Wrestling coach Jim Briggs to ask him a few questions. Jim has coached wrestling for 33 years and has coached at CERHS for 21 years. He says the hardest part of coaching for him is trying to get the wrestlers to work as a team since it is, in fact, an individual sport. He also told me that the best part of coaching is being able to watch the wrestlers grow as people. Briggs runs a tight ship in practice and likes to keep his wrestlers in shape. Practice consists of 2.5 hours working on wrestling moves and perfecting technique and then they spend a half hour in the weight room doing various exercises. Coach Briggs believes that his team will make another appearance in the state competition this year.

Boys Basketball:

This season there is a new face on the boy's basketball bench, it is head coach, Eric Terrill. Coach Terrill has been coaching for over 26 years primarily at the AAU level. Coach Terrill is well versed in Warrior basketball as he has previously spent two years as an assistant coach for the Warrior team. He expects his team to continue to develop and improve throughout the season and be very competitive in the SCAC West league. Coach Terrill would like to see his team make it into the state tournament but at minimum make it to districts. His favorite part of coaching is helping players develop their skills individually and as a team. Come out and support Coach Terrill and the warriors at their first home game on December 10th.

Girls Basketball:

Nikki Dearing has been coaching basketball at Cle Elum Roslyn High school for 8 years. What brought Nikki to coaching is her own love for basketball. Nikki was fortunate to have great coaches throughout her playing years that helped form her into the person she is today. Those coaches inspired her to be a better person which is Nikki's goal with her players-to help them become a better person and inspire them to do better in life. Nikki loves coaching the Cle Elum girls basketball team because "There is nothing more rewarding than to see your athletes move into the world after graduating and become successful members of society with strong morals and ethics.". This year is going to be a positive, successful, fun, and rewarding season that the coaches and players look forward to. "These girls are great kids, extremely coachable and have the dedication to do whatever it takes to win and be successful!". Come out to support them at their first home game December 10th against Warden. JV starts at 4:30pm and Varsity at 6pm.
