

Thank you to all the girls who came to Modified Volleyball try-outs and thank you to their parents/families for adjusting on the fly to our schedule changes. We had more than two dozen girls participate over the three days try-outs were held. The girls knew what the numbers were and should be proud of themselves for participating in try-outs knowing that cuts would be made. It takes courage to try out for a team, especially when the outcome is not certain. I am proud of all the girls who came out.

For those athletes not on the final roster I would encourage you to stay involved in athletics. Whether that be with another sport, after school intramurals or attending camps/clinics if you are determined to stick with volleyball. Not making the final roster on a modified team is not the end of your athletic career. It may be just a setback. There are many opportunities out there!
