Freedom Gardens now has a YouTube channel! Please jump on and see what is happening in the Frenchtown Freedom Gardens each week. Posted below are a few picture updates as to what the greenhouse is looking like these days!

Sphero Robots Are All The Rage K-5

The makerspace carts with Spheros have been a big success for both teachers and students. Using coding skills to guide Spheros across the floor in the halls and classroom has brought a new level of fun to classrooms across the district. Thanks to our great Librarians for setting up fun new projects for kids.

Movement Is Important Even When It's Raining

Frenchtown Intermediate School students have had to get creative with constant changes this Winter/Spring regarding weather. Pictured below is a class that found some exercise space in a hallway while the playground was wet and flooding as the snow melted while it was raining. Nice job Intermediate Students in making movement a priority

Mr. Devins Day

Staff and students surprised Mr. Devins with a day where they dressed up as him and put his picture on T-shirts. This was very humbling and shocking for Mr. Devins and he was so thankful for the kindness of his staff and students. Thanks everyone that made this surprise happen and thank you to the community for all the kind comments throughout the day.

K-5 Book Fair!

Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Rugg put on a book fair that was amazing for students, parents and the community. Over $14,000 worth of books were sold and a portion of those profits will go directly back into the library to support our amazing Makerspace. Thank you Frenchtown Community for making reading a priority!

Parents Teacher Conferences

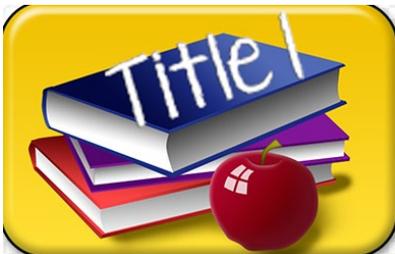

With conferences ranging from online, over the phone and in person, the Intermediate School ended up with 94% attendance across the building. Thank you to parents for making time to come talk about your students' progress throughout the year.

Title I Night

The Frenchtown's K-5 Title I Team put on a virtual Title I night that went over how the Title I process looks within the Frenchtown School District and gave avenues as to where parents can go for resources and support regarding grade level specific content. The link for this night is listed below as well as is in the live feed on the FTSD.org website.

March recipients of the Ag in my Classroom award from the Montana Farm Bureau Federation (Mrs. Harvey's 4th Grade Class)

This built-in garden bed has not been touched in several decades. My students have been working hard this year to bring this garden bed back to life! Whether hauling soil and fertilizer, starting seeds, transferring plants, working the compost bin, or pulling weeds, every student has held a vital role in making our garden successful. Our garden bed has been a great teaching point to learn about how plant structures are essential for survival and growth. We have also studied soil to ensure our soil could support the plants we are growing. All of our seeds came from Montana, making our produce a little closer to home. We are getting very close to our first harvest!
