

Lawrence L. Jones Memorial Scholarship

This scholarship was originally established in 1995 as the Joyce C. Martin Memorial Scholarship. At her death, Lawrence, a good friend of Joyce, helped to fund a scholarship to assist graduates of Arthur Lovington Atwood Hammond High School to further their educational careers.

It was Ms. Martin's desire to establish a scholarship to be given annually to ALAH grads to continue their education in the science, engineering, or healthcare fields. Mr. Jones, who graduated from Arthur High School and taught science and math at Arthur for many years, believed in giving back to his community and former school. He believed that furthering this scholarship opportunity was the best way to do that.

The scholarship(s) will be awarded based on financial and academic standing.
