

Junior Parents/Guardians:

We just wanted to send out a quick reminder that state testing will begin next week with the administration of the ACT. The following week, we will be administering the US History and Science examinations. All three exams are REQUIRED for graduation next year. Please make sure your student is at school and on time on their exam days. Testing rosters have been created through English III/ AP Literature enrollment and your student should have already been notified by their English teacher about their testing day and location.

We will begin testing each morning promptly at 8:45 AM. Once testing begins, students will not be permitted into the room. Therefore, it is imperative that they arrive on time to their testing room!

Below is the schedule. To determine what day and where your student will test, locate their English teacher and the hour in which they are enrolled with that teacher.

If your student is on an IEP or 504 they may not be testing with their English class. You should have received communication from their resource teacher or a member of the counseling office with information regarding their testing day and location. If you did not receive communication, please feel free to contact their resource teacher or Tori Christiansen for the information.

Junior ACT Administration information: Students will be unable to access their cell phones during the entire duration of the ACT. This is approximately a four hour exam.

For the ACT, students should bring a calculator if they have one available to them. As it is a four hour exam, it is also a great idea to bring a snack and drink to be accessed during breaks. Again, cell phones and electronic devices, including smart watches, cannot be accessed until after the entire exam is completed. If a student is caught with a device, their exam session will be terminated.

Junior Science and US History Administration information: students will be given a lunch break in between the Science and US History exams
