OUR HISTORY

THE High School movement was in full swing in Utah in the spring of 1913, when Mr. J. L. Kearns, then but recently elected superintendent of schools of Summit county, set apart three high school districts—Park City, North Summit and South Summit. Soon after, an election was held by the people of the South Summit district to decide two questions: "Shall We Establish a High School?" and "Where?"

Four men deserve great credit for their good work in boosting for the school: Supt. J. L. Kearns, Dr. Chas. F. Wherritt, State High School Inspector Mosiah Hall, and the late Judge of the Juvenile Court Alexander McMaster. These gentlemen visited every town in the district, Woodland, Francis, Kamas, Marion, Oakley and Peoa, rousing the people to the importance of the movement.

As the result of the election the question was decided in the affirmative, and Kamas was chosen as the place. The South Summit High School first opened its doors September 18, 1913, in the rooms of the L. D. S. Church. Mr. M. A. Nelson of the Agricultural College of Utah was the principal, and Miss Lenore Foster was his assistant. The enrollment that year was forty-eight; the next year, with Mr. Nelson and Miss Myrtle Johnson, it was sixty-four; the following year a larger faculty—Mr. James A. Langton, Mr. Albert E. Sells, Miss Myrtle Johnson and Miss Mary S. Horne—gave instruction to ninety-two students. For the present year the total registration has mounted to one hundred and seven. The organization as at present constituted is: Superintendent, J. L. Kearns; Principal, Jos. E. Richards, with Jos. H. Snow, Albert E. Sells, Ivie M. Burnham, Anna K. Taylor and Violet Greenhalgh Snow, assisting.

From the very first the school has met all requirements made of a state high school and has run nine months each year. Two years of work were given the first year; three the second year, and for the last two years a full four years' course has been offered.

The first High School board appointed by the various boards of the old districts to serve until the regular election were Dr. Chas. F. Wherritt, James Knight, John Franson, James Prescott, A. H. Maxwell and Supt. J. L. Kearns. In April, 1915, each High School district was named a county school district of the first-class, and the South Summit district was sub-divided into five divisions for election purposes; consolidation was now an accomplished fact.

After one year in the quarters so hospitably offered in the L. D. S. church, on July 31, 1914, a contract for a modern building was let to Mortenson and King for $20,600, the district having voted a bond issue for $30,000 by a vote of two to one. Of this sum $13,260 was all that the resident tax-payers would have to meet. The beautiful half-acre tract at the mouth of Beaver Creek canyon, from which we now look out of our class rooms over this "valley of the mountains," was purchased and donated to the school by the people of Kamas.

Education for the life that we are to live has been our guiding principle in selecting and developing our course of study. The ennobling of rural pursuits, the preparation of young men for the farm and of young women for the queenly duties of the home, together with as liberal an education in literature, history and the sciences as possible—these constitute our aim.

Colors—Red and Green.

Flower—Red Rose.

Motto—Climb tho the rocks be rugged.

One day there came to S. S. High
A group of students gay.
They came with smiles and laughs and shouts
And not to work, but play.
But we were Freshies then,
And frivolous, we'll admit,
We tried our teachers' patience
Until they turned to fits.
Our parties we gave with much success,
Regardless of our grades,
But when report cards came
There were no records made.
The next year came, and Sophomores then,
Profiting by mistakes,
We worked our brains and used our eyes,
The better road did take.
So passed the year more happily by,
With no failures at the end.
We left school with a heaving sigh,
And longed for school to begin.
The next year came and we came, too,
To do our very best.:
To work, win honors, fame,
And secure and gain success.
Our PROM also came that same year,
To bring each one delight;
The Juniors, Sophs and all were there
And enjoyed a glorious night.
On came the next year with a rush;
On came the Seniors brave and strong;
On came the tasks which made a hush;
And the Seniors led the throng.
Happy, yet dignified, sedate,
Worked our way right thru,
And our high school days are at an end—
So we will say ADIEU!

JUNIORS

HE Junior Class is the liveliest and most progressive class in school. When Freshmen, we were victorious in the track meet. We gave our parties, and raised our colors to the top of the school, where they waved as an emblem of the strength and loyalty of our class. While Sophomores, the greater number of our boys made the basket-ball and base-ball teams. Many a time has our class brought victory and fame to the S. S. High.

As Juniors, we still continue to lead in school activities. We are proud to claim as officers of the Student Body, the president, vice-president, athletic manager, business manager and attorney. In the debating team we claim two members, and also one in declamation. We could go on telling you how we won the class championship in basket ball and other games, but we do not want to flaunt our triumphs in the faces of the defeated. Just take for granted that the Juniors come out on top every time.

In social activities we rank high. Our programs in chapel have all been interesting. We are justly proud of the Junior Prom. The first glance into the hall thrilled everyone with the gay adventure awaiting. The blue and white decorations formed a large diamond that gave the appearance of a blue sky streaked with white fleecy clouds. The orchestra stand was draped with streamers. The other classes were represented with booths. In one corner was a quaint representation of a rugged cliff decked in red and green, with miniature men and women placed about on it as if climbing. In another corner was an inviting little parlor with red and white blocked walls. Some distance away a little booth of purple and white was situated, its frame work wrapped in the colors. The orchestra played the lively latest tunes and all present swayed with the music.

All in all, the greatness of the "Class of Eighteen" requires an abler pen than mine to describe. To remember our association together, will ever bring happy thoughts. SARAH HALLSTROM, '18.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

---

HE whole District of the South Summit will doubtless not forget when the class of '19 started their high school career. With their heads high in the air never once have they gone to the dust. A full staff of class officers was elected: Curtis Wilde, president; Eunice Seymour, vice-president; Fay King, secretary and treasurer.

At flag rushing they were famous, always leading in the fray never losing in the day. At the Junior Prom so grand, this jolly band had a booth. With mirrors, pictures, chairs and a leather couch where every one liked to come after each dance.

And for their parties neat,
The Freshmen could not be beat.

Now that we are Sophomores, tho we are fewer than before, our strength has redoubled, even tho we are only a score. At the first of the year, with a lot of good cheer, we elected our class staff: Harold Pitt, president; Eunice Seymour, vice-president; Lapreal Hardman, secretary and treasurer; Rowens Pack, chairman of entertainments. But we had some hard luck—we lost our class president and had to elect another, Leland Fitzgerald.

The Sophomores held many live programs during the year where the students and many visitors were entertained. More glory came to the Sophomores when they entertained the Juniors and the faculty. Here the windows rattled and the rooms and halls echoed with their musical laughter. Every one indulged in games, dancing and refreshments.

We are well represented in the Student Body Staff by Eunice Seymour as secretary and treasurer, and by Fay Frazier as yell master. The school orchestra could not go without the assistance of Clarence Potts at the drums, and Fay Frazier on the violin.

The Class of Nineteen-Nineteen is well represented in all the activities that have taken place: Basket ball, base ball, and dramatic. Especially in the opera, "Wind Mills of Holland," the Sophs have many of the leading parts. At all times they, with their purple and white, are game for any fight.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class

“Green But Growing.”

WE had wonderful ambitions and ideas for the coming year when we started to school last fall, and as we were thirty strong and all anxious to make our class successful, our dreams have come true.

We were first organized into a class with Elmer Maxwell as our president; Lavene Turnbow, as vice-president; Lindsay Holt, secretary and treasurer; Freda Corbett, chairman of entertainments, and Ishmael Fitzgerald as sergeant-at-arms. We decided upon maroon and white as our class colors and sent for a flag, we think the most beautiful in school.

When our president discontinued his schooling, Clarence Frost was chosen to fill his place. The Freshmen took a prominent part in one flag rush of the season, even if they were unable to keep their flag up against the rest of the school.

“We had a party”—guess you heard about it before. We had a very nice time playing games, which caused much laughter, especially when the Red Cross Nurse and barnyard games were played. Then when the candy was ready, each one was given a piece to pull. This caused much fun. Stealing each other’s candy became the order of the evening. Ask Everett about the candy he pulled. Our Freshman basket-ball team played the Freshmen team of the Park City High School at Park City. The score was one point in favor of the Park team, but we felt that we could have beaten them in our own hall if they had played a return game.

Just a few weeks later the Freshmen played the Sophomores and gave a dance after the game. The Freshies won the game, and the dance was a huge success.

LAVENE TURNBOW, '20.

FRESHMAN SONG

Oh, you ought to see us Freshmen;
We stand above them all.
We stand for honor and for right,
And for the truth will surely fight.
We'll win in all the sports
With the dear old red and white.

Wake up! Oh, ye Freshmen!
With the dear old red and white,
We will show the other classes
That the Freshmen are all right.

SCENES FROM "WINDMILLS OF HOLLAND."

"The Windmills of Holland."

For the first time in its history, our school presented an operetta—"The Windmills of Holland." It was always known that we had much talent, and this year it was proven, for our operetta was certainly fine. The principals covered themselves with glory. J. E. Richards proved to be an excellent Dutch farmer and was the star actor of the occasion. Mrs. Sells was truly a loving mother, and seemed right at home with her daughters, Loraine McCormick and Sarah Hallstrom. The girls certainly appreciated her. Bob Yankee made a fine American salesman, but he could not make the people of Holland see his point of view.

Our school had been broken into by scarlet fever many times, and we were disappointed the day of our operetta by one of our principals taking the disease. Fay Frazier, our Hans, was quarantined, but Gilbert Lewis came to our rescue and took the part of Loraine's "lover" real well. Horace and Sarah, after singing so bravely, "There are no Others," at last found out there were no others. Reta kept a close eye on Grant and finally won him over. Miss Taylor made an excellent director, and spent many hours of hard, earnest work to get the cast into a presentable condition.

The orchestra gave great support with Mrs. Snow at the piano, Mr. Snow with his cornet, and Ranch Potts with his violin.

The cast wore typical Dutch costumes, including wooden shoes. The girls wore full gathered skirts of light colors, tight-fitting bodices of black, and aprons and caps of white. The boys wore baggy navy blue bloomers, tight-fitting shirts, and rimless caps. Bob Yankee made all the girls look in his direction, so striking was he in his white duds, blue trousers, blue coat and straw hat.

Our school can well be proud of our work for, as Mrs. Ranch Potts honestly said: "It was the best treat Kamas Valley has had for a long time."

CAST—Mynheer Hertogenbosch, J. E. Richards; Urouw Hertogenbosch, Mrs. Nina Sells; Wilhelmina, Loraine McCormick; Hilma, Sarah Hallstrom; Bob Yankee, Grant Milles; Hans, Gilbert Lewis; Franze, Horace Richards; Katrina, Reta Parke.

CHORUS—Lorraine Lambert, Rowene Pack, Rhoda Murphy, Phyllis Lewis, Lindsay Holt, Asa Webb, Cleamond Eskelson, Roy Lefler, Eunice Seymour, Cleaone Maxwell, Lavene Turnbow, Iva Potts, Leland Fitzgerald, Douglas Simpson, Willie Lewis, Lucille Carpenter, Fay King, Leane Maxwell, Hannah Marchant.

DEBATING

The South Summit High broke into the debating game by meeting Park City on the evening of March 28th. We were a long way from home, but did our best. The subject was:

“Resolved.: That the several states should establish a schedule

	AFFIRMATIVE.
Sarah Hallstrom	Thomas Parry	Myrtle Anderson
	NEGATIVE
William Maxwell	Grant Milles	Mary Christensen

of minimum wages for unskilled labor, constitutionality waived.”

The judges were Dr. Waddoups, Mr. Welsh and Mr. McDonough, all of Park City. The decision was unanimously in favor of Park City. We have been initiated and hope to reverse the verdict next year.

The affirmative team was made by Sarah Hallstrom, Thomas Parry and Myrtle Anderson. The negative debaters were Will Maxwell, Mary Christensen and Grant Miles, who stood ready to defend the honor of the old school in case the affirmative team had been victorious.

DECLAMATION AND EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING

The proud honor of district championship in all of these contests, and the right to claim several prospective state champions, were won this year by our school. Very few of the districts had decided their winners, when the finals set for High School Day at the U. of U. were abandoned because of the war.

Ralph Parke won a two to one decision in extemporaneous speaking. His subject was “Government Ownership of Railroads.”

Marie White gave the dramatic battle scene from “Sohrab and Rustum.”

Irene Potts read, “The Child’s Dream of a Star.”

Rhoda Murphy won great applause in the humorous selection, “How Jinny Eased Her Mind.”

Monday, April the second, is the date of Park City’s defeat.

School Song

.. We love to dwell on the things that tell
Of the dear old school we love,
And every day, in our work or play,

Every heart beats clean for the white and green,
She’s as fresh as the mountain pine;
She’s come to stay till the sunset’s ray
Gives note to the end of time.

And when our eyes are growing dim,
And night is drawing nigh,
We’ll sing the songs we used to sing,
In dear old S. S. High.

SCHOOL LIFE

Insurrection

THE South Summit High School was started in the year 1913 with a very small enrollment. With a very few boys, she struggled hard to start the main spirit and life of any school, which is athletics. The boys were all green at the game, but secured the services of Franklin Lambert, who had attended the B. Y. U., to coach them. He remained with us for two years. We played a game of football with Park City High School, each of the first two years, and lost both games by a large score. In basket ball, we won a third of the games played. The schools we competed against were Park City High, Morgan High and Coalville High.

No track work was done during these years owing to the lack of a coach, and the further fact that most of the boys left school before the season began.

In the year 1915-16 we won our division in basket ball. And out of the eighteen games played that season we won thirteen, with the following scores:

- |                  |                     |
|------------------|---------------------|
| S. S. High, 31;  | Oakley, 36          |
| Oakley, 21;      | S. S. High, 22      |
| S. S. High, 48;  | Park City High, 21  |
| S. S. High, 32;  | Morgan High, 21     |
| S. S. High, 38;  | Park City High, 22  |
| Morgan High, 33; | S. S. High, 26      |
| S. S. High, 45;  | Morgan High, 14     |
| Hoytsville, 29;  | S. S. High, 33      |
| Heber High, 24;  | S. S. High, 12      |
| S. S. High, 44;  | Hoytsville, 26      |
| S. S. High, 17;  | Tooele, 29          |
| S. S. High, 21;  | Kamas Town Team, 20 |

The same year we played one game of football with Park City, the score being 7 to 13 in favor of Park City.

The year 1916-17 was a most promising year for athletics, as J. H. Snow, one of the best athletes of the state, came to coach us, and we had an abundance of material. But due to work on the farms, most of the boys were unable to get into school until the football season was to a close. However, we succeeded in getting two games, which were the first football games ever played in Kamas—one with our old rival, Park City, and the other with Westminster College of Salt Lake. The teams were evenly matched in weight, and the S. S. High team was always able to gain ground through the opponent's line, but owing to the inexperience of our material and the wide experience of our opponents, we lost by a small margin.

The outlook for basket ball was very bright, but just as the work was organized and started, school was shut down because of an epidemic of scarlet fever and measles. However, we won our division, but were unable to meet the winner of the northern division, Box Elder High School, to determine which team should go to the State Meet. The games we played, however, showed that we had a strong aggregation and the making of a good team. Out of the seven games played we won six. The scores are as follows:

S. S. High, 37;	Oakley, 31
S. S. High, 27;	Oakley, 20
S. S. High, 50;	N. S. High, 7
S. S. High, 25;	Francis, 16
Coalville Town Team, 13;	S. S. High, 11

The prospects for next year are exceptionally bright as we expect to have all of our players back, with the exception of Franklin Fitzgerald, who expects to graduate this spring, and Cartis Lewis who will be eliminated by the age limit. With the good work of Clemond Eskelson, as captain; Geo. Eskelson and Grant Miles, as guards; Rufus Richardson at center, and Ensign Fitzgerald as forward, and other good men, we should be able to make a bid for the State title.

This year we expected to do some good work in track. The outlook was very promising for some first place men to go to the State High School meet, but owing to the fact that the State meet will not be held this year, we have abandoned track work and are planting our athletic field to potatoes.

WHAT a superb site for a school? Backed by a majestic spur of the Uintah, our modern high school building is fronted by the thriving town of Kamas, and skirted by rolling fields which in summer produce abundant crops of hay, grain and garden stuff, and in winter are covered with snow. The invigorating atmosphere in this mountain valley is unsurpassed even by the most picturesque hamlet of the Alps.

Two rippling sparkling streams, fresh from mountain side, sing merrily by within a few steps of the building. Their crystal ripples lap the mossy banks intermingled with moss and turf. Silver-sided trout lie lazily in their shallow crannies. Tall alders, cottonwoods, wild brier and willows cling to their banks and contribute shade from the sun or protection from the wind.

What is the natural consequences of such an environment? What has been the effect of the South Summit High? Small need to say such an environment is in itself an incentive to progress, and a contribution to health and happiness. No school is blessed with a cleaner class of young men and women than is the S. S. High. They all hail from the farm and rural life, where wholesome surroundings have given them the attributes necessary for the making of big, broad talented men and women.

The effect of this social and natural environment has been to assimilate into our Student Body all the boys and girls of High School age. In four years time the registration has increased from thirty-eight to one hundred and seven in the present or fourth year.

South Summit School Dist.

J. L. Kearns, District Superintendent. Office: Kamas, Utah.

The district comprises seven public schools: Woodland, Francis, Kamas, Marion, Oakley, Peoa, and the Big-Four Mill, which give elementary training, and one central high school situated at Kamas.

The enrollment at the High School of one hundred seven for the current year, over one-sixth of the school population of all ages, is unsurpassed by any district in the state.

The course of study at the High School includes: English, Mathematics, Biology, General Science, Agriculture, Animal Husbandry, Dairying, Dry Farming, Rural Economics, Woodwork, Domestic Art, Domestic Science, Outlines of European History, American History, German, Economics, Physical Training, Vocal Music and Orchestra.

The Great Problem of Rural Education

How to keep the boy on the farm, our schools are attempting to solve by equipping him for intelligent farm management. It is to further this policy, as well as to answer the call of OUR COUNTRY for increased food production, that the school board is financing the Student Body in the cultivation of the school campus.

Ask Your Father

if he could get along in his office without a telephone, typewriter, desk and other modern conveniences in his office. His answer will be "NO." Then ask him how he expects your mother to get along without modern conveniences in the kitchen— an ELECTRIC RANGE.

If your mother will but call at our store, we will be glad to demonstrate an Electric Range to her. We will show her how she can save her health—time and money and at the same time get better results by cooking Electrically. There is an Electric range for every purse—for every kitchen. Sold on monthly payments.
