Presentation and Discussion

Donald Shively presented his capstone project and the strategic planning process to the Board as required by the KASA New Superintendent Training. He has lead a stakeholder-driven, research based, strategic planning process, collecting over 1,600 surveys and input from parents, faculty, staff, students and community leaders to figure out how Paducah schools can better serve the community and meet students' needs. Shively has assessed the district's strengths, weaknesses and opportunities with the future in mind. "We are the most diverse district in the state of Kentucky," Shively continued. "So how do you meet those unique needs of all those different kids? It's a major strength of ours, our diversity, but it's also a tremendous challenge. I'm going to stop and say: It always has been and always will be about relationships. That's what it starts with."
