At Jackson Elementary School, students rose to the challenge of this unusual school year. While the school typically hosts an annual Black History Program, this year they hosted their first ever virtual program in celebration of Black History. After taking time to learn about the contributions of Black inventors, HBCUs, Black artists and writers, Black musicians and athletes, and other Black historical figures, the students put all their learning into a video for everyone to enjoy. We encourage you to visit bit.ly/JESBlackHistory21 to participate in this awesome learning opportunity!
