Data Sources:

The use of data drives the Barton Elementary counseling program. Therefore, information is collected from a variety of sources, in order for students to receive adequate counseling services. Below are listed sources utilized to obtain information for the elementary school counselor:

- Eschool data - used as a source for grades, attendance, and contact information
- Triand data- used as a source for transcript retrieval
- IStation data - used as an indicator of academic achievement/success for students in grades K-2nd
- ACT Aspire data - used as an indicator of academic achievement/success for students in grades 4th-6th.
- STAR Reading data - used as an indicator of reading comprehension for grades 1-6.
- School Status data - used as a source for student contact information, communication, attendance, grading and discipline.
- Educator's Handbook - a program for discipline infractions, utilized for classroom guidance lessons, small group sessions, and individual counseling sessions
- Student Needs Assessments - utilized for bullying pre/post lesson, special needs
- Teacher surveys - utilized for classroom guidance lessons and general feedback

Counseling Facilities:

The elementary counselor's office is located in the lobby of the Kirkland Multipurpose Facility. It consists of a waiting/counseling area, the counselor's office, and a student records/storage room. It is easily accessible to both students and families. It includes a private phone line and copier/scanner. A large conference room located in the elementary school building is also available for small group, parent, and individual meetings.

Delivery:

Direct Services - The Barton Elementary counseling program is preventative in nature, and includes areas such as decision making and awareness of self and others, with the intention of allowing students to make appropriate school and life choices. Lessons and interventions are provided with the purpose of preventing serious infractions, or minimizing the size of such infractions, when and if they do occur. Some activities and services provided include classroom guidance lessons, individual counseling, group counseling, consultation with teachers and/or administrators, positive, supportive parent communication, and referral to community agencies.

- Classroom guidance lessons - Provided monthly, these lessons are based on character traits such as conflict resolution, inclusion, respect, kindness and responsibility. Teacher and student feedback is taken into consideration for additional specific lessons upon request (i.e., tattling vs. telling, hygiene, etc.).
- Student of the Month - Students will be selected by homeroom teacher. The criteria will be the student who demonstrates most effectively the skill learned in Character Education for that month.
- Individual counseling - provided to individual students, based on observable behaviors, teacher feedback, administrative request, data collection from Educator's Handbook, School Status, performance data and attendance records.
- Small group counseling - available for small groups of students with specific, tailored needs, such as conflict resolution, tolerance, friendship and absenteeism.
- Consultation with teachers - At times, teachers seek guidance on a particular student or classroom behavior, rather than requesting individual counseling services. The school counselor acts in the capacity of advisor to the teacher, offering suggestions/ideas for student improvement. Teachers will also help select Student of the Month, based on the student who demonstrates the skill taught in Character Education for that month.
- Parent consultation - It is necessary to create and maintain a positive, supportive relationship with parents/guardians. Keeping them abreast of their child's progress at school (academic/attendance/discipline) is an important aspect of that relationship. The school counselor should always provide an "open door" policy for family members, to ensure student success in all areas.
- Community agency referrals - Several community agencies in the area are available for student or family referrals, in order to assist further.

Indirect services -

- Member of Building Leadership Committee - advocates for students and families
- Assists in making SPED referrals and recommendations at review meetings
- Parental Involvement committee member
- 504 Coordinator
- Secretary of district Health and Wellness Committee
- Consults with parents, staff, administration as a student's advocate.

Administrative duties -

- Enrolling new students
- Dropping transfer students
- Sending/receiving student records

- Updating records
- Lunch duty
- Afternoon car duty
- Elementary Indistar committee member

Assessment tools:

- Educator's Handbook
- ACT Aspire test scores
- Teacher Needs Assessment
- Student Needs Assessment
- School Report Card

Accountability:

- Areas of weakness: discipline, attendance, reading and math scores on ACT Aspire Interims
- Educator's Handbook records indicate an increase in bullying, insubordination, and disrespect.
- Both ESchool and SchoolStatus indicate a rise in absenteeism at Barton Elementary in the 2019-20 school year. In the school year 2018-19, the attendance rate was 93.01%, while in the school year 2019-20, the attendance rate was 94.18%.
- Student feedback/surveys reported that students were interested in more guidance lessons on bullying and respect.
- Teacher surveys reported that teachers were interested in more student guidance lessons on respect, responsibility, and relationships with peers.

In accordance with the assessment/accountability results, the Barton Elementary counselor will offer more support/guidance to:

- Increase scores in reading, math, science, and social studies for the 2020-21 school year.
- Offer more intensive individual/small group/classroom guidance on the subjects of bullying, respect, responsibility, and peer relationships.
- Meet with students who have frequent discipline infractions weekly.
- Establish small group interventions for students with peer relationship issues, specifically, 6th grade females.
- Initiate additional guidance lessons for classrooms with above-average discipline infractions.
- Continue to keep parents/families apprised of student progress.
