Preschoolers have started their ABC Countdown to the last day of school this week! Each day we are celebrating a letter in the alphabet starting with the letter A and going all the way to letter Z. We are continuing to learn about our Unit: Reduce, Reuse, Recycle by thinking of ways we can reuse items. This week we have reused donated items like newspapers, paper towel rolls, and art supplies by creating collages. We also explored how to make instruments out of egg cartons, paper towel tubes, water bottles, and water bottle tops.

Kindergarten has been learning about 2D & 3D shapes in math. In Foundations they have been continuing to learn about digraphs and sentences. Students have been working on opinion writing and iReady computer programs. They made Mother's Day handprint flowers and teacup cards. Kindergarten students have been reading stories about being kind, and being good listeners.

First Grade was very excited to go on their class trip to Fernbrook Farms. They got to work in small groups and learn about worms and decomposition, different farm animals, different crops, and take a ride on a tractor. Students have just finished-up learning about different graphs in Math. They will start their next chapter on shapes. In Foundations, first grade is working on sounding out and writing words with 5 sounds. They are also continuing to learn about bossy "r", vowel teams, and closed syllables. In Reading, students love to work in small groups and read with the teacher. They are also enjoying reading the stories in their Journeys text book. In Writing, they are starting opinion writing.

Second Graders are continuing their study of Life Sciences by learning about what plants need to grow. Students dissected lima beans to discover the different parts of a seed.

Third Grade is very happy to be finished NJSLA testing and are getting back into their study of the North and South poles in the story, Life on the Ice. In math, They are working on classifying shapes and learning about English colonies in social studies. Third grade is looking forward to Fitness day in the next few weeks!

Fourth Grade students worked so hard last week on their state testing! Their teachers are so proud of them. They are now working on their Wax Museum speeches and backdrops getting ready for the big day! Each class is also working on book studies within their classes for the remainder of the school year!

Mrs. McCann's class is now targeting money skills, continuing their multiplication facts and working on their iReady minutes each week. They started their research and facts for the Wax Museum on May 25th. Come meet a few famous people such as Elvis, Pele, and Roberto Clemente!

Fifth Grade have ended their Road to Revolution unit this week. They each were given an identity from the colonial period, including a job, a salary, which colony they lived in, and whether they were patriots, loyalists, or neutralists. Students enjoyed debating issues of the time period from the point of view of their character. Students were not very happy with the King's decision to tax them, and they especially wanted to revolt when he punished the colonists from Massachusetts because of the Boston Tea Party!
