Innovative Teachers

Three staff members were chosen for the Innovative Teacher Award this winter. Congratulations to Lindsay Harper (GES), Jeannie Schroeter (GMS) and Jeannie Clarke (GHS; not pictured). They were honored at the board meeting this month for finding new and exciting ways to teach their content. We are excited to see the changes they are bringing to their classrooms as a part of our new Strategic Plan!

Innovative Learning Team Tours Schools

In our efforts to create an exceptional school system, Gunter ISD has adopted a Strategic Plan to develop great people to better our world. One goal that came from the plan was to create an innovative learning environment that empowers students to become creative and collaborative problem solvers. Members of the Innovative Learning committee traveled to two schools who are successfully implementing tools in their district that allow students to learn through explorative inquiry-based learning. Our goal in our travels was to gain a perspective on how to put our plan into action.

Royse City ISD has successfully implemented a 1:1 Chromebook initiative at their high school, and a 2:1 initiative at the middle and primary schools. Our group walked through several classrooms where the teachers were successfully using the technology tools to enhance their curriculum. The Gunter group was able to converse with the teachers and students to gain a perspective on what they were doing and how it influenced their learning.

Sunnyvale ISD brought alternative spaces to light during a tour of their middle school. Teachers at Sunnyvale Middle School have their own space for their classroom, but also enjoy the flexibility of literally opening up their classroom to a larger open space where the students can work together. The classroom doors open up “garage style” to a large area that has whiteboards, tables, and group seating areas. This allows the students to step outside the four walls of a classroom and collaborate with students in their class as well as the other classes.

By touring these schools, we gained an understanding of makerspaces, flexible seating, collaboration spaces, digital tools, and the importance of creativity. We will take what we learned and create a learning environment that will allow our students at GISD to follow their passions and interests through explorative inquiry-based learning and real-world applications.

Special thanks to the two districts who helped us in our venture to move forward with our Strategic Plan!

Congratulations to the Food Service Department! They were honored at the board meeting for being awarded the Texas Department of Agriculture's 2017 Best of the Bunch Award. These ladies are amazing, and we are lucky to have them at GISD!

TIGER TEACHERS & TCEA

Several faculty members from Gunter attended the TCEA (Texas Computer Education Association) Convention in Austin. The conference offered hundreds of workshops to choose from and provides valuable learning opportunities for educators. This group will take what they've learned back to GISD to share with others through training opportunities.

Exxon Mobil Educational Alliance Grant

Gunter Elementary has once again been awarded an Exxon Mobil Educational Alliance Grant to enrich math and/or science instruction in the classroom. GES is looking into using the money to create a weather station for the students to use to monitor and learn about weather patterns. The grant of $500 was made possible by funding from the Exxon Mobil Corporation through our local Kwik-Chek Convenience Store. This grant is part of a program that supports schools in communities that are served by Exxon Mobil sites. Exxon Mobil has a long history of providing support to schools. Kwik-Chek is happy to have the opportunity to invest in the future of their community to neighborhood schools.

Dictionary Donation

GES 3rd graders were presented with dictionaries by Ms. Robin McCoy of The Grayson County Republican Women. A special donation was also made by Angela and Bill Magers that allowed our students to receive these great tools. The students are so excited to have their own dictionary.

COLLEGE WEEK MARCH 19 - MARCH 23

Drag out those college tees and sweatshirts! College Week begins on March 19th at all three campuses. We are excited to celebrate this week by decorating our doors, talking about our alma mater, wearing college gear and encouraging students to research colleges. At the elementary campus, we are excited to be hosting a "Career Day" on March 23rd. Many parents have volunteered to come speak to our students about their career during the students PE/Music times. This would be a great week for you to talk about post secondary plans with your child at home!

Thank you to the National Honor Society for repainting Office B and making it look so good! Special thanks to Wendi Osburn and Eliza Allen for the amazing art work that is painted on the walls. Also thank you to the Kanouse family for donating some awesome furniture to make the high school teacher lounge so much nicer. We appreciate your kindness!

Reserve Champion & "Keepin' it Country"

by Chris Dodd, GHS Principal

Three years ago, administration empowered Brad Schnitker to add programs and opportunities for our AG and FFA students. AG students miss a lot of class time during the spring. The pay-off is experiences that take learning beyond the classroom. The Grayson County Exposition, better known as 'Loy Lake' in these parts, is not just a Gunter tradition, but part of the curriculum for many students in this region. Few realize that AG is a year round opportunity that extends beyond "showing" a couple times each year and includes judging, speech, parliamentary procedure, and a number of other showcases in leadership. Gunter ISD students are now competing year round, and many of them have found a niche that keeps them engaged. They are also finding a doorway to rest of their life.

Luke Willard played football his freshman year. He was not just 'coachable' but the type of student-athlete you want to coach. He showed up, did what you told him to do with energy and enthusiasm, and seldom responded to any directive beyond a simple "yes sir". That off-season, much to the chagrin of his coaches, Luke decided to place his focus elsewhere. Many times this is the beginning of indecision and lack of direction for high school boys. But not for Luke. Luke knew what he wanted to do and where he was going, and with

Mr. Schnitker providing more pathways for students to explore a career in agriculture, Luke had opportunities a plenty. "Brad Schnitker is a huge influence in my life," Luke says. "More than judging or shows, he has provided me opportunities to be around other students and given me options for the future."

Luke entered a gooseneck trailer in the San Angelo Stock show last month and walked away as Reserve Grand Champion in the AG Mechanics competition. The trailer took countless man-hours to build and Luke estimates he has over $6000 in it. Once Luke and his trailer finish the season's show circuit, he will hand it over to his father to use in the family business and day-to-day operations at Willard Farms. The trailer could fetch a handsome price that would cover far beyond the costs Luke has in it. Providing the trailer for dad to use is a more worthy endeavor for Luke. Jim Bob and Denise Willard raised a farm boy. Like his older brother Dillon, Luke cut his teeth on FFA activities. The Willards are a staple in the Gunter FFA community and very active in leadership in the alumni association. The Willards embody the value of the rural farm community on our great State and understand the importance of providing support and direction to the next generation of leaders in agriculture. If there is a jackpot, auction, show, or hamburger cooking on a fall Friday night, chances are the Willards are there.

"It is just what we do," Luke proclaims with a shy grin. "It is who we are."

Luke is all in on what the FFA program can provide. He has taken every elective AG course available, in addition to several business courses, to supplement his understanding of the industry. Luke also serves as a teacher aide for Mr. Schnitker and runs errands that support the needs of his classmates. It is no secret that Luke is Mr. Schnitker's right hand man. If a student needs help with a project or someone to run lead on a group undertaking in the AG shop, chances are Luke Willard is right in the middle of it. "Luke is the hardest working student I have ever had and has awesome common sense," Mr. Schnitker proclaims in his 'no I really mean it' way of stating a fact. "He (Luke) is a rare combination of work ethic, maturity, and skill."

Luke's teachers understand exactly what Mr. Schnitker is saying. "Luke Willard is one of the most respectful and hardworking seniors I've had," brags Claudia Reed his English teacher. "He is reliable and a self-starter. I have no doubt that Luke will be an asset to any company that hires him.” Campus secretary Linda Mazerolle adds, “Luke is trust-worthy and represents what you want a Gunter Tiger to be.” “Luke’s friendly nature allows him to get along with a wide range of people,” Jill Dodd asserts. “He works hard in the classroom and brings a ‘country perspective’ to all we are doing.”

Each of these identified traits are part of Luke’s upbringing, but even more so, the virtues of a student active in FFA. Engineering instructor Cynthia Foster describes Luke as a “good ole’ country boy.” “Luke is polite, well-mannered, and helpful,” she explains. “He works well with others.” Luke has been a part of the Gunter FFA program since he was eight years old. This supplements life on a farm with one-hundred-fifty head of Angus cattle plus dogs, cats, and whatever other ‘project’ animals the Willards are raising.

The award-winning trailer is not the first major accomplishment for Luke in FFA. He is a leader on the Land and Livestock judging teams that reached the State level of competition in only two years of existence. Luke has his trailer in the fabrications competition at Loy

Lake, in addition to showing a steer and goat. Once show season is over, he will turn his attention to graduation and preparations for heading west for college. He plans to attend Clarendon College and study agriculture. Luke’s accolades will cover most of the costs in scholarships. “I plan on majoring in wildlife management,” he declares. “What that leads to next...industry, forestry, game warden, ranching, we will see,” Luke says with a smile.

There is an old saying that “you can take the boy out of the farm but you can’t take the farm out of the boy.” Luke doesn’t plan to leave the “farm” and that is right where he needs to be.

And for that reason Luke Willard is the Tiger Times student of the month for March.

Bridges Fire Hydrants get Facelift, Scout Earns His Wings

If you notice fresh paint on some of the fire hydrants in The Bridges, you can thank the Boy Scouts and some Gunter firefighters. Ben Cole, who is also a volunteer fire fighter, made the decision to repaint the fire hydrants in The Bridges with a fresh coat of paint as his Eagle Scout project. With the help of the Gunter Volunteer Fire Fighters and the Boy Scouts, 20 hydrants were repainted and look great! Ben was awarded the status of Eagle Scout on February 27th.

Notes from the GHS Principal:

Parents,

Spring has sprung! What a busy time of the year. Before we blink the Class of 2018 will be walking across the graduation stage.

We are working to build a culture of “respect” and “responsibility”. This requires all stakeholders to understand our role and perform our part.

There are several areas of focus I ask your assistance with that can help us continue #growingchampions and most importantly keep the #AMBUSH safe.

Attendance

Documentation is important when your student is absent. Please email us or send a note with your student. Every physician’s office sends “return to school” notes. The absence is marked UNEXCUSED when we do not receive documentation within seven days from the time of the absence. When students accrue four or more UNEXCUSED absences they are assigned Prime Time. Attendance is important not only for student learning and success but also for state funding. Simple rule of thumb: communicate when your student is absent.

Dress Code

Our students know the expectations with regards to dress and grooming. We are assigning detentions when students come to school out of dress code. Our methodology is to treat our high school students like young adults. We are preparing them for the business world, and each place of employment has standards to adhere to.

Cell Phones

Again, we seek to treat our students like young adults. I have spoken with many campus administrators across the region. I feel our “policy” fits our culture of “respect” and “responsibility”. Our teachers provide a request to put the phone away when it becomes a distraction. When students fail to comply the phone is collected for the day and we contact parents.

Visitors to Campus

School security is an area all campuses across our Nation continue to evaluate. No one is allowed access to our students without first checking in to the front office. We are instructing our students to only enter certain doors and to never “let anyone in.” At this time we are only allowing parents to have access to their students during the school day. Siblings, friends, guests are not allowed into instructional or common areas. We do not allow visitors for lunch except parents. Anyone wanting to meet with school personnel or “visit” must first obtain permission.

If you every have any questions or concerns please contact us.

We have an outstanding campus and I believe this is because all stakeholders continually seek ways for us to improve!
