About St. Jude

- Families never receive a bill from St. Jude for treatment, travel, housing or food—because all a family should worry about is helping their child live.
- Treatments invented at St. Jude have helped push the overall childhood cancer survival rate from 20% when the hospital opened in 1962 to more than 80% today.
- Because the majority of St. Jude funding comes from individual contributors, St. Jude has the freedom to focus on what matters most—saving kids regardless of their financial situation.

Meet Bella

Bella is a precocious toddler who loves to dance. In 2018, tests in India revealed a mass on her brain. Bella's parents turned to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital for her care.

At St. Jude, Bella's treatment for anaplastic ependymoma, a cancerous brain tumor, included proton therapy and chemotherapy. "At St. Jude, they're not just thinking of your child's treatment, they're thinking about what families go through," said Bella's dad. "You don't have to worry about anything. You just focus on your child."

Bella is now home and returns to St. Jude for regular checkups.

Please detach and return this permission slip to your child's school tomorrow.
