

I am a:	As students, parents, educators and community members, what are some ways we can send a strong message to our legislators in addition to a possible work stoppage?	As students, parents, educators and community members, what are your questions or concerns regarding a possible work stoppage?
Student	By taking buses of students up to the capital to protest.	School being pushed back into the summer preventing students from participating in summer camps. Not being prepared for AP tests
Student	Transportation should be provided so that students can lead a peaceful protest at the capital	My biggest worry is that April 3 is the free ACT for juniors and I don't know if we will be able to take it
Student	Email your legislators as much as possible to show your discontent with teacher pay. Many of them will read it.	Will school have to be prolonged if we have a school closing?
Student	I believe that walking-out/going on strike will be effective, but there will not be changes made soon enough. The best way, in my opinion, to send a message if nothing is done would be for none of the staff or students to show up in August.	My biggest concern would be missing sporting events and extra- curricular activities. Student athletes will not have the stats to qualify for state competitions, make all state, or get noticed by College scouts. Also, if the school year is extended, many students will have conflicting commitments such as vacations, camps, and school-sponsored trips. I am attending Girls' State at OU the week after our current last day of school, and I will go there even if we have school through June.
Student	A peaceful protest, like a walkout.	Being suspended or expelled because I am practicing my rights.
Student	Tell them how you feel about it	i don't have any
Student	Strike or protest	That it could possibly backfire
Student	have a decision with them let them hear your demands.	why can we just all get along and have peace to the world?
Student	Tell them facts, recommend the possible solutions to avoid this possible occurrence.	Are Teachers and students brought into consideration.
Student	I think we can start making posts in social media so that the word is spread faster. We could also just try and support the teachers and staff who are trying to protest.	I would just like to know what will happen during school and what we're supposed to do. I fully support the teachers, and I think that we should focus on restoring funding for education.
Student	actually go through with the walkouts and strike.	how would our education be affected
Student	Work stoppage is the best solution, delivering a message to employers and officials that impacts much harder than any other alternative. Other than that, the options consist of letters, picketing, notifying media, or even marches.	I agree with the cause, it's something that's needed to be said for awhile now. However I can also see how some would be against it, seeing how it could disrupt student education. But, if action isn't taken now, when will it be? Next year? Or will that be too disruptive too? There isn't a schedule to reformation.
Student	get the students to help do something let it be known to the legislators that In the United States the right to petition is guaranteed by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution .	nope
Student	Calling our legislators, putting up a strong, unified front	would it count against our attendance? Will graduation be pushed back? Will we have to come in to school in June or on Saturdays?

	1. Shut down the schools, including after school activities. Interrupt state testing. Parents and students may be livid about this, but we are desperate to get education funded. (Encourage those groups affected to call/write/email/visit the legislators to tell them to do their jobs!!) Any stoppages lie completely with our legislators who are crying there is no money. There IS money. (They always seem to find money for their life-long benefit of health insurance, for raises for themselves and their "people"...etc) 2. Write letters to either support those legislators who are PRO education, or letters of disappointment to the ones NOT supporting education. 3. Allow a few teachers from each school/site to have multiple Professional Leave days to go to the capitol to talk to legislators and to support the numbers of teachers taking a stand for education. Many of us are willing to contribute gas/toll money or to drive for ourselves to the capitol.	1. After MANY years with no money in education, we FINALLY are coming together as a state.....we have unity. My fear is that we will lose this momentum. My biggest concern is that we will back down, making a mockery of educators finally speaking up. We need to step squarely into the testing window, telling legislators it IS TIME TO FUND education. I fear we will not have this opportunity across the state to finally make a difference. 2. It is important for the very future of our state to see funding finally coming to education. My biggest immediate concern is whether our health insurance continue to be effective during our walkout. Another concern is that we WILL see another mass exodus from Oklahoma's teachers. We have dealt with this poverty situation in Lawton and it is not fair to our students, nor to its employees, and our situations are similar all over the state. Relatives of mine who own or are CEOs CFOs, or presidents of their companies, quit seeking to invest in our state because education is not a priority of our legislators nor our governor. Our state's situation will suffer fiscally even more. Teachers were so demoralized until we saw that our superintendent and our school board are supporting us. Thank you for that from the bottom of our hearts!!!!
Student	Wright a petition	How would this effect my attendance
Student	going on strike would be a good way to show how the community feels. it will show how much we actually care about our teachers and school systems	my only concern is having to makeup the days we miss after graduation. that would be really annoying if we had to come to school after we already graduated.
Student	We can protest as well as contact our legislators to let them know our concerns.
Student	We can also vote people out of office who do not meet our needs.	My only concern is not graduating on time.
Student	Protest(without violence)	Does this effect seniors for graduation ?
	To stop working and show they deserve better and more pay. It should tell them something anyways since so many adults don't want to be teachers in Oklahoma due to the pays and the disrespect. Most teachers they have now dont even have degrees.	Would we have to come to school? And would it cut into our summer? And would it really work?
Student	Put 1000 pairs of shoes on the capitals lawn	Will it effect the school year will it effect grauadation what will the students be effected by the walk out
	I do think that the teachers should be getting paid more because all they have to go through during the day which is a lot but after they pay taxes and all the bills they pay the only have a small amount of money yet they still have to by food	I think that if u are going to have to someone teaching a disrespectful child then they should have more
Student		What will happen if this prolongs for days?
Student	I feel like if we go on strike we can finally get our point across and take our messege into consideration	is this going effect the students if the teachers go on strike
Student	Like the activist in at the Capitol where they placed 1000s of shoes, but we do something just as dramatic	Is it going to affect graduation

Student	Let it be known that you hear the teachers and are listening, fix the problem instead of keep putting it off or soon we will have no-one left to educate us.	Will the teachers return? Do you guys know how much this will effect us now and in the near future? Are you guys really concerned about it?
Student	Protesting with no school	None
Student	Stay home from school	None
Student	We could peacefully protest. We could also start a petition for a raise for hardworking teachers.	My main concern is whether or not we will have to make up the days of the stoppage. if we do have to make up those days then there is really no point for the stoppage in the first place. i strongly support the stoppage and hope all ends well so that our educators can receive the money they deserve for educating the young minds of our future.
Student	By perhaps, going viral.	Nothing, you do you, get your money.
Student	Having students contact the legislators via email, telephone, social media, and in person to let them know that the students stand with them and see a problem.	I think it can be harmful for AP students or students preparing for an ACT who would lose study days with their teachers. Not to mention the detriment it could cause for the elementary school children or parents who can't get off work to watch them. However, I stand with teachers.
Student	1: better checking bags as we walk in the school 2: better safety 3: always check for id's to make sure they go to that school 4: if the students don't drive then they are not allowed to leave to with other students that drive 5: following all the rules from the begining in not wait till the end to start them	my first question is why wait till 2018 after a 11 years when the teachers should always get a raised each year? my second question is why would we as student don't have the right education as new book instead of 2003?
Student	Walkout. These legislators need to give my parents a freaking raise!	I am not worried about anything. The only thing Im worried about it my parents getting a 10,000 dollar raise
Student	make a speech	nothing
Student	A strong message to send to our legislators could be in the form of email and letters from parents and students giving suggestions for safety.	As a student, my concerns are regarding my grades and leaving school so we can actually get funds for the education that I need to succeed in life. We need to fix our future. We should be able to do this without a work stoppage but if we really need to so that the state can see we should do it.
Student	In addition to the stoppage, we can protest and contact our legislators. We can also vote ineffective legislators out of office.	I am only concerned about not graduating on time.
Student	I honestly don't think they truly care enough i honestly don't think they're gonna change anything.	Not letting it go on to where we have to make up days later on in like May. will it effect me and my future goals?
Student	put 10,000 shoes on the capital.
Student	Protest on the capital building, but in a peaceful manner.	That baseball games will be cancelled.
Student	protest and strike	how will this effect the students
Student	Pull students and teachers out. Asking nicely won't accomplish anything we must show the legislatures we are serious about what we believe in. I also understand seniors don't want to have graduation postponed or stay in school longer but don't be selfish. Your children and the middle schoolers and some high schoolers will be impacted. Students complain about all kinds of things at school but it will never change if you don't take a stand	^^^

Student	The strongest message to send would probably be a protest.	Is a work stoppage going to help? Is it going to get the attention of those who are in charge? If so, what changes are we going to make regarding our school's safety?
Student	I don't know	Graduation
Student	We could impose protests outside of the school year to get our point across	none
Student	write letters	what's going to happen with graduation? they need to solve this issue when I'm gone because I do not have time for the mess to set me back from completing my school year
Student	stop messing with people's education
Student		Is a work stoppage going to fix any of the problems we are having in the school community?
Student	Show them that we care.	Not having qualified teachers.
Student	If we show that we care more & address it more.	My concern is if they stay gone for too long, it cutting into my summer. How will the rest of the school year be affected? I ask because in my head the longer teachers are on strike the worse the affect will be on students for things like AP tests. Will the school year be prolonged?
Student	We could write emails to our legislators.
Student		As a student what repercussions and consequences should I expect as a result of the work stoppage? Will I be forced to make up lost time? Will there be any noticeable change to my education after the work stoppage has concluded, succeed or fail? Will the work stoppage affect universities, trade schools, and tech centers? Should I be worried? What is the endgoal of the work stoppage? What is the worst case scenario?
Student	We can email our legislatures and voice our opinions more to them	How long are the students and teachers staying out of school? What are they going to do with events that are coming up as well as graduation for seniors? Why does the work stoppage have to take place on the day Juniors are supposed to take the ACT? It's very inconvenient. Please move the date to April 4 or some other day.
Student	I don't know.
Student	walkout, and have them know that they should concentrate more on teachers and there salaries because they do not know how to pay teachers, teachers are the most important things around	having to stay in school longer, and a drill meet coming up, I really don't want it to get canceled
Student	Not to give them what they want meaning like conformity and obedience. The educators of LPS have been silent for too long. It's time to take a stand against the legislators and demand more.	How will it affect AP tests? How much of a positive impact is this actually going to make? If the legislators do include a raise but the teachers aren't satisfied with it, how long is it going to last?
Student	We can have petitions and emails to legislators directly.	I'm concerned about my classes and not being ready for major tests. Such as the AP exam.
Student	I think a work stoppage is the strongest way to send a message to our legislators because it shows how important and how needed teachers (and other staff in education) are to our community and by suddenly not having them available can show how under appreciated they are.	A few concerns are whether or not there will be advanced notice and if students will be held accountable to make up days missed by the work stoppage.
Student	Send letter and stay outside the capital	How long can we afford to do this? What about testing?
Student	They shouldn't stop school.	Are we going to have to do summer school?

		If there is a work stoppage, will I have to attend school if there are enough subs or enough teachers that stay in the building?
Student	We could potentially start a petition with a strongly worded letter that clearly states our demands and why we believe they should be met. Some officials will not take the situation seriously with just a stop on the education of the youth.	I am concerned about the possibility of longer school days, summer school is attainable, but most students have home situations that would not allow this. Some students have jobs and the extension of the day might inflict on that. And some teachers have to pick up a second job to be able to live moderately because of the salary issues, what kind of support would these teachers have if they said they HAD to go find employment with the impending work stoppage?
Student	Standing up to them and telling them what we want, not giving up and lobbying.	Are you really going to cut into our summer? I already have a summer job and i would rather not have to quit my job.
	We have to put up a fight in these situations. Continually we have been let down by those above us. These decisions are not reflecting the people and our needs. I deserve a good education, my brother deserves a good education, every single person I walk these halls with and the students that fill the other schools in this district deserve better. Our teachers, the ones who haven't left us in these situations for better pay, deserve better. We do not deserve the short selling we've revived for so many years and in this time that teachers will be making this known, we the students will be standing with them.
Student	We should create petitions to show our legislators that students also support the movement.	Its long overdue for something to be done about this. I hope that our well being and best concern is kept in mind throughout and that what must be done gets done.
Student		Due to the teacher's strike, if the school district shuts down for an extended period, are we required to attend school past our deadline?
Student		I have AP tests that I'll have less time to learn for because of potential loss of school days. My sporting events may be canceled due to canceled days. Will us students have to make up the days missed? I personally have other obligations I have signed up for as well have paid for already starting the Saturday school is let out. I have a pretty good attendance and would not want to be punished for missing days because I was already suppose to be done with school.
Student	I honestly have no idea to be completely honest maybe write them a lengthy heart felt letter?	My concern is not being able to go to my tennis games because of LPS closing down
Student	We should go to our state's capital to show our support. We must organize and establish a set time for our local teachers to communicate with these legislators about their grievances.	My main concern is that the students who rely on food from LPS will continue to receive the food that they need. I support our teachers wholeheartedly and wish for a speedy resolution from the legislators that brings the raise that is vital for our wonderful educators to continue their teaching in Oklahoma.
Student	Protest , We Have The Right To Do So .	Why don't the teachers at Lawton high check the bags the correct way ?
Student	Well, we have to be unified. There is strength in numbers.	None whatsoever. If you truly feel passionate about this, then do it.

As a student I am concerned about how this will affect me. I support that teachers do great things and should have good pay, however, this is hazardous for the students. What about the seniors? They want to be done with school. will you either prolong their pain, or make them attend another year if this goes on long enough? I'm not trying to be an angry student only concerned with my summer but I was planning on going to basic training this summer for the national guard. Basic training lasts 9 weeks. I need as much of summer as I have without it being condensed into such immovable space. My career was supposed to kick off and now it might not happen. It's not just me. Masses of students won't benefit from several weeks of no education. How do you expect to stop school and then let them take finals or AP tests? I do not feel comfortable with a substitute. Yesterday I had one even. I read the instructions to her five times, and she still didn't fully understand. I ended up helping the class myself. Some subs are just crazy, and others just sit in a corner in silence just making sure the class isn't loud. I can't learn from someone who can't teach and whose only purpose is to settle us down when we get too excited.

I understand the struggles that teachers have, but with all do respect, teachers knew what they were getting into before they chose their profession. Don't get me wrong, I love my teachers and I respect them very much and respect their drive to stand up for something greater but I am concerned as a student that this could potentially throw my education off and I'll have to spend excessive amounts of time catching up in hopeless efforts to try and gain back any lost time.

Student

my loss of education, even if we do just add days onto the school year the AP tests don't change and im losing education needed to pass these tests. also what if i already have a vacation planned for this summer and my gaurdians have taken off work because they never get off but once a year, then when i miss the school because of something i planned a year ago.

Student

stick together with a common goal that benefits education as a whole Stand up for the teachers and walk out with

I don't have any i just think the deserve more money for all that they do what will we do in that time?

Student

we should try to do a capital protest.

That the teachers are gonna walk out because not enough money is being paid to them

Student

Well we can support teachers in the walkout i don't know will seniors still graduate ?

Student

Do a protest at the capital

What will we do during that time

Student

Positive progress within the school both academically and socially.

None

Student

Positive progress within the school both academically and socially.

None

Student

by making our own demands a realty can it be done after graduation so seniors don't have to be punished by your actions?

Student

If students have to come back to school after graduation, instead we should have Saturday school or something. Teachers going out shouldn't affect our education because they at going on strike if anything this problem should of been addressed already.

Student

We should finish out the school year and worry about this problem later.

Student

Student

The work stoppage is going to effect when students finish school and seniors graduate go on strike as a team :)

Are you going to close school for the stoppage and how will students make up school days

Student

by writing them

what is it really for?

Student

More Pay

Nothing

Student

the work stop would send the best message i dont really no

how long are we going to have to come back

Student

how long well we have to come back to school during the summer

Student Student Student	Maybe to make a compromise so then the teachers wouldn't feel compelled to strike. There are better ways, but many just feel the need to go the more extreme maybe try social media Protest	I don't come to school to have fun, it's to get an education and I think it'd waste time more than anything; and I hate wasting time. what is it about? How are the students going to be affected
Student	Refuse to participate in school or other school related activities, while resorting to online education for those who are able to do it. Voting for representatives who will support education and care about stoppage.	Even before this work stoppage, walking out, going on strike etc., Oklahoma is in the bottom 5 states for education, and we get very little funding for new supplies. I believe that we should continue upgrading our knowledge resources through electronics and have little to no more need for obsolete books (an exception would be in the fine arts and history). I highly doubt the effectiveness of walking out unless it be drastically long and drawn out, for days, or possibly weeks. If a single school did it, it's unlikely much change would come, because that is a small influence, but if the entire Lawton Public Schools and the surrounding schools did participate, the influence could be seen from people who are higher up and in charge.
Student	They're pretty stuck in their ways so I'm not sure anything will honestly change their minds they simply don't care about our education	Being able to still graduate on time if this whole walk out lasts longer then it should.
Student	I believe that we should walk out and show the legislator that we support the teachers	Why should teacher get paid less with all the education they have to give to students that may not listen to them. They take time to deal with students and educate us.
Student	one way could be not coming to school at all like a strike Mostly in the auditorium or gym	My concern is having more school in summer when I'm supposed to have a full time job so I can pay my certain bills i do not have any i don't want any more time in school to be honest
Student	I support that teachers need more pay and more respect. I feel that they should be one of the top paid occupations because they are our resources. They are providing knowledge so then we can get those dream jobs. Without our teachers where would we be? All my life I have had teachers that go the extra mile to ensure that their students are taken care of and are receiving the best possible education that they are able to provide.	From my point of view the students here do not need to miss any more school. Our education and knowledge has been severely depleted. My generation does not need any days off of school. As far as I am concerned they could use all the help they can get. It is a shame to see what people have turned to nowadays.
Student	i have no clue how we could do this because were already dealing with teachers not getting paid enough	would this work stoppage be a good thing or would it probably make things worst then there already are with the teachers pay

	There is no good way, because every single way to project a message would end up hurting the students in a manner. Walking out would cause us to have to work harder and worry about the time being taken away from the vacation time, and yet we would like to see our teachers/school receive more funding so the quality of teaching would be more of a blessing than a hassle and turn-off. I don't love school, I accept it, but by no means do I love it; there needs to be change, despite my feelings for school, and probably the best way is to resist in some way, like walking out. I'd be willing to lose some of my vacation (or staying extra time after school) to make up for the time lost, to benefit my future education for the next two years of high school.
Student		The lengthening of school days/year, the school year is tough enough already and I would prefer to stay at school 15-30 minutes longer than to dissolve our vacation time.
Student Student	i have no clue how we could do this because we were already dealing with teachers not getting paid enough	would this work stoppage be a good thing or would it probably make things worst then there already are with the teachers pay
Student	We need to work together and come together as a community in order to get what we want but we gotta do a peaceful protest though.	what time are we doing this?
Student	us as a whole parents teachers and students show that we're tired of them not helping are education and not taking care of the teachers and giving themselves increase in cost of living every year excluding two who would not take the increase in pay .They're not taking care of the now and future of this state and country and we all join in the stoppage. The right of peaceful protesting and showing we wont stop and showing the determination of getting is deserved	whats an estimate time for the stoppage
Student	I have no addition to make towards a work stoppage because it has no purpose in my opinion.	I do not believe a work stoppage is necessary because it's not going to change anything and we will still have to make up those days up in the future, so it makes no sense.
Student	Influence kids to go to the library or study so that they can learn more and so they have a reason to be successful.	My concern as a student is if the stoppage goes through will graduation go through on the same day or will it be postponed? And also even though teachers are making the statement for supplies and the well teaching for the students how will the stoppage also effect the students? Taking time away from school and lessons so close to the state testing time where students use the time most wisely to review on all the lessons they have learned for the semester testing in the course. In my opinion I feel like there are other ways the problem can be solved without completely stopping school and taking away from the students in the situation as well.
Student		why are they going to have a possible work stoppage because if they don't have school or any way to learn how will they be able to work?
Student	We as a community need to let them know how we feel as a whole not our separate feelings but how we feel together.	I just want to know.... when are we going to do something about this?

Student	Protest As a student, learning from these teachers, these educators giving hours and hours of there lives to teach and guide us, they deserve so much more, they are giving us our futures, they are creating the future of this country , if they were to walk out I support the decision if they do, they need better pay and benefits so they can better us.	How are the students going to be affected as a student I enjoy coming home at 2:34 to finish homework and de-stress and I enjoy the time I get with my family on Saturday and Sunday, church and relatives. once or if the walkout/stoppage happens will I have to stay longer at school, and go to Saturday school? In may when we get Fridays off , take those away and make up the days we were gone.
Student	As students, parents, educators, and community members the ways that I would recommend would be to let them have time to their selves and be with their family's and they try to guide us to the right direction and there is some kids that don't want that but for me I want to pursue my dreams unlike other people.	I really don't have nothing to say right now but teachers need time to their selves and with their family but they need to be in school so they can teach us so we can pursue our dream in life and if we have snowy or icy days give us work like on the computer like on google classroom and they can give us a grade on it.
Student	a school walk out to get the district attention	nothing
Student	I think it's important that we keep calling our legislators, and that we show up to the capital in support of our teachers.	I'm concerned about the kids who rely on free lunches and how they're going to get food. I'm also concerned about how the work stoppage will affect the rest of the school year.
Student	We the people could have fundraisers for the teachers, students and community.	Why does the higher level schools get the lottery and the profits?
Student	protest for whats right	when will lawton high do the protest
Student	We can go on a strike	What is the purpose of the stoppage
Student	Just keep voicing what the school and staff believe they need, get support from the community and don't back down but be willing to compromise on proposals that achieve the school and staff's goals.	How it will effect my education and what will I miss because of this stoppage?
Student		By giving teachers the best credit when it is due. The actual acknowledgment of the ones who are doing their jobs in practically raising us children.
Student	Students can do a walkout to.	Will the students have to make up the days that the teachers don't work?
Student	Teachers could start doing the minimum time in and actions that they are paid for. Instead of taking extra time out their day to make phone calls to parents and grading work for students and helping out students that may need the extra help. Since they do not have to stay over the time required for them to work and what they get paid for then they shouldn't. Since its not acknowledged that they go beyond what is required then they should just do the minimum to show how the extra effort they put into their jobs makes a big difference in the lives of students and teachers and a raise would be well deserved.	How will the attendance be effected ?

Student Student	Perhaps you could send letters informing the legislators that the money is needed or get the press involved by making sure they are apparent when the letters are being sent out. The more one is heard the more likely the legislators will start to listen. a peaceful protest would be fine This work stoppage is a protest and is sending a powerful message to our legislators.	Will the work stoppage interfere with Seniors graduating? i dont have any questions.
Student		How long would this work stoppage be ?
Student Student	We can start by getting more news coverage of real life students talking about our schools and problems we feel need to be addressed. News and media are a big connection and if we can get the word out there that this is something serious and not just a simple issue that can be cast aside then we could have more support from the citizens. Our legislators may vote on a rule but it's truly the civilians that will take the fault or benefits from their decisions. Everything affects us and they may not be worried about it but truth is to be ranked low in education as a state needs to be something we improve on. We can't just stand by as the future of our country and the people that help benefit and ready them for the real world are left with the material the other futures failed to use effectively. Everyone wants a bright future for their children yet some people aren't willing to take and give when it comes right down to it. the first amendment On a social media platform or a text message Rally	Whether or not classes will be pushed back and graduation will be postponed. I'm also concerned with the readiness of students in AP classes and those that take Standardize test if a work stoppage becomes present. They will lose class time that they need to prepare for their future. will it count against us?
Student Student		I have no questions Would it interfere with attendance
Student	We need to stop and think how this can negatively affect teacher and school pay and funding if we say this just hurts our education we need long term results if we want to create a stable environment and we have to have money/funding in order to establish a truly safe.	How long will our state try to hold out against funding cuts. When will school funding cuts stop
Student	we can tell them this is wrong what they are doing and their actions are not just hurting the school but teachers within them...	OUR SENIORS GRADUATION!!!!!!!!!!!!!! yes i understand and agree what they have done is honorably wrong but having a STRIKE this late in the year is soooooooooooooooooooooo dumb and even worse! you are taking summer and longing the year even more that not fair to us students! i'm completely in disagreement with the shut down fully...
Student Student	give faculty a break	the only concerns i have are for the kids who depend on school for food and a warm place to be during the day. Another concern i have is the graduation date being put back, because the day after graduation iâ€™m moving to a whole different state and i canâ€™t come back to lawton high to finish my core classes. how long will it be

Student	would be to say that people might get harm if not a thing is done before its already to late . that their would be no school and will cause use to come during the summer.	why do people need to do a work stoppage even if they do not get payed good money they can quit the job and look for another one. or that the congers should just give the teacher more because of all the things that they do to help the students to get a better live.
Student	we could do a walk out or rally to send out a message about how the teachers pay isn't fair and that teachers have to have more than one job to actually be paid what they should be as a teacher	i have no questions or concerns
Student	I believe that it would be a good idea to show that our teachers are teaching us to the best of their abilities, but that if they had better reaurces (especially financially) that we could benefit more from our education. I think that a very productive way of doing this would be for students, teachers/faculty, and members of our community to reach out and speak to our state representatives in the form of emails, essays, letters, phone calls, etc. I think that another way to get their attention would be to hold an event as well that wouldnâ€™t be harmful to the students and teachers, especially those taking AP exams.	My biggest concern with the walk-out is the fact that I am an AP scholar and that I have several AP exams to prepare for. However, my parents are also teachers in the state of Oklahoma and so this particular subject holds a very dear place in my heart. I agree that teachers desperately need a raise and that education needs better funding, but I also believe that there is a way that we can acheieve this without harming so many students and teachers.
Student	I respect what the teachers are protesting for and i support it because they shouldn't have to be forced to even do such a thing just for a pay raise.	For me its just graduation but i understand why the such thing is going on. The effect that its going to have on us seniors who are trying to graduated and are in credit recovery.
Student		How will the legislators come up with the money to raise tachers pay?
Student	protest and home school everyone let the teachers and peers and people of everyone of our state speak their mind.	How could we handle the missed time besides punishing the students with Saturday school?
Student	to give them a raise and not punish us for the faults of them due to lack of payment, they work are to keep us safe and teach us but y'all don't know how to reward them besides teacher of the month really??? y'all know that bs, maybe yall should switch payments and see if y'all like it	why would you add days on, not every year will be a success, yes i get it no school but if you cared about us y'all would already given them raises, instead of us having to miss school due to y'all
Student	I have no idea	I think that they should just do what needs to be done and not ingore it like they are
Student	I believe we could protest. A work stoppage is, yes, a type of protest, but perhaps one where we get a large group of people involved.	I agree with a work stoppage but I do not think we need much more. Most parents and students would likely be eager to participate.

I believe we should just shed light on the things that are going on in the teaching community. Show the people how our school are overcrowded, understaffed, and lack the materials needed to properly educate their students. I think we should hold more protest until changes are made and I believe that the strike should last as long as it is needed to get the point across. Our teachers deserve better than what the state has given them, and it's time that

Oklahoma legislators actually do something about it.

We can show our support by writing letters to the legislators and having peaceful protest.

When the strike happens will school still be in session? How long will the strike last?

What happens if teachers do a work stoppage, will we have school? What happens if we go over our max days out, will we have to do more days at the end of the year?
