Rural Mental Health Caregiver Challenges Webinar – Presented by Rural Minds and the National Grange

Free Webinar focused on important content created by two CVCS grads - please check it out! Jeff Winton (CVCS class of 1976) is the founder and CEO of Rural Minds, a nationwide advocacy organization focused on mental illness, substance use disorders and suicide ideation in Rural America. And featured in this presentation is Travis Carlson, from the Class of 2009. Travis is an award winning film producer and he will be discussing his family's journey and showcasing a film he made on mental health in the area called "Mother's Day." It was completely filmed in Gerry where Travis is from and where his family still lives.

This free webinar presented by Rural Minds™ and the National Grange will focus on the challenges faced by rural mental health caregivers – those who care for loved ones with a mental health condition while confronting barriers that are unique to life in rural America.

Wednesday, May 10 at 7 PM Eastern Time

This remote virtual event will be presented via Zoom. To honor confidentiality and privacy of those attending this webinar, the name and image of attendees will not be visible to others.
