OUR SCHOOL

Time sweeps the tide of a rugged ford
And ages its work in life.
Its wings have covered and still support
The grace that banishes strife.
The fort of time as of years ago
Keeps open its doors, to all,
Its rugged steps wend upward to show
That its walls of knowledge still call.
The rugged, protecting, fort of all time,
The faithful example of "rule"
Still stands in its glory, ever sublime;
For this fort of all time is - Our School!

FEATURES

It was with a great deal of interest and pleasant anticipation that the Senior class awaited the announcing of the American Legion Award to be given to the boy or girl in the Senior class, selected by the Seniors by vote.

When the final day for balloting came due consideration was given the points, service, scholarship, courage, leadership and in voting for the person who was the most outstanding in each. When the votes were tabulated it was found that HOMER MULLINS had won by a great majority.

Congratulations! to you Seniors - for your intelligent and unprejudiced choice, for your accurate estimations and your unbiased voting; to you Homer for your excellent cooperation with and for your classmates that would enable them to see your excellent qualities. May you always maintain the same high standards through life you have striven for during school in Jenkins.

CLASS POEM

When the curtains of life have parted,
and revealed the coming day,
When success shall crown the worthy,
and failure makes brief his stay,
"Commencement" the guest of everyone who has made the climb of years;
The author of joy and gladness;
and often bitter tears.

To the peak of success we're traveling,
as Seniors of Jenkins High.
To the goal of rare ambition where happiness doth lie.
And yet we find our pathway-not always smooth and clear,
But by the help of J. H. S. our life
we'll rightly steer.

Jenkins High -- Our Alma Mater!
We leave thee now, for all,
To follow the Star of ambition, to answer
a welcome call.
We have worked together faithfully,
and to the end we've stood
Combating the battles of failure;
grasping the glory of good.

The world will see thy goodness,
As seeds of success are sown
Throughout the great dominion where each graduate travels alone.
Again we sing, Alma Mater! and praise thy great name once more.
But none more appreciative o'er shall enter, than the class that left in '34.

DALE CHRISTOPHER

Our president is a hard worker, an efficient organizer, a clear thinker, a forceful speaker and a loyal senior. Perhaps this is all due to his "red" hair. Anyway we can say this about Dale's brief football career of '33 -- "Although he was very small, Redhead always came up laughing".

ELIZABETH TRICE

We are very proud to claim Mrs. Trice as our class sponsor. She has stood by us through "thick and thin" and has made possible many things which we couldn't have achieved without her. It was through her diligence and hard work that the publishing of the Year Book was made possible.

MARIE VANOVER

"Still waters run deep" - so it is with Marie. However Marie is always ready for fun; yet through hard work and study she excels in her school work.

RAYMOND TRAIL

Raymond is a conscientious student and is very fond of music. He is never happier than when humming the phases of some tune. Whether he goes off to school or whether he remains at home next year we are sure that he will brighten his corner of the world.

WINIFRED BOLLING

Winifred not only adds quantity to our class but quality as well. She ranked high in the 1933 beauty contest held by the school. She has spent the greater part of her school days in Jenkins and we certainly have been benefited by her attendance.

BEATRICE BAKER

If you ever meet Beatrice, you will always remember her, for her personality is one that is in a distinctive class. She is a jolly classmate; with her genial disposition we predict a bright futuro for her.

ELMER BRADLEY

"Dummy", as he is popularly called, has made many friends the two years he has been with us. His best subject seems to be football as is evidenced by the four stripes and the star that adorns his sweater. He assures us that "someday" he will be a great coach.

EULAH MAE LeMASTERS

Eulah's manners are those of a polished lady. She makes friends easily, and we may say that to know her is to love her. She is one of those wholehearted, loyal persons who is always ready to take part in anything the class may attempt.

CARRIE GIBSON

Carrie believes that if a person gets through Geometry he can get through anything. Carrie is one of the quietest members of the class but has plenty of pep. Her friendliness, which is a genuine reflection of her inner kindness makes her liked and respected by all.

ALVIN MULLINS

Alvin is the "brains" of the senior class. We can always depend on him to pull us through when turns a knotty problem to solve. He has the honor of having made the "All County" team. He is another of those seniors who like sophomores.

MARZUELLA WEBB

Even though Marzuella just got here in time to graduate with us, we have all learned to love her. Quiet, but exceptionally capable is the verdict of those who know her. When asked her life's ambition she stated that she was working for a degree -- that of "Mrs" which she has already attained.

VERNA ASBURY

We hardly know Verna is around because she is so quiet. However, she is a very diligent worker, as you will find out if you ever happen to get in a mathematics class with her.

ARTHUR WRIGHT

"Dr. Cuttem", as he has been called by his classmates, is a good example of an itinerant student. In his loyalty to the school and the various activities he is not surpassed. Won't we miss him?

ESTELLE HALL

Estelle joined our class last year and immediately began to dazzle the wits of students and faculty by her poetical compositions. Indeed, we predict a very successful journalistic career for her.

JUNE NOWLIN

June started with us and then dropped out but we are very glad that she returned this year to graduate with us. Even though June is carrying extra work this year she is always ready to take part in all senior activities.

CURTIS WILLIAMS

Four years of football in Jenkins High School has made Curtis an outstanding figure. He is the only student who has made the "All Time" team. We hope that he continues the good work he has started toward making our school outstanding in athletics.

HAZEL STALLARD

Hazel has a sunny disposition, a level head and a winning personality. She is quiet and unassuming but her determination of purpose, her sincerity and dependability make her one of the outstanding members of the class.

EDITH HUBBARD

A jolly classmate is Edith. Believing that every good project can be successfully perpetrated in our school Edith has instilled within us the idea that cooperation and hard work are two factors which should always be present in a senior class.

ARNOLD VEST

A good worker and a splendid friend is Arnold. Though his vocabulary exceeds the comprehensions of the seniors, he is to be admired for carrying with him a small pocket dictionary. The senior class is proud to claim him as football captain for '33.

BEATRICE WILLIAMS

We wonder if "Bea" will ever grow up. She is the smallest pupil in the class. Probably this accounts for her being one of the hardest workers. "Bea" is always found where there is fun and frolic. Her smile is one that will always win.

ROSE BAILEY

The class of '34 is extremely fortunate to have Rose as one of its members. Not only does she take an interest in all school activities but she is one of the best students in the class. She has spent all twelve years in the Jenkins School and we know she hates to leave.

CLARENCE WOLFE

For the last few years "Abie" has been an outstanding figure in athletics. His "educated too" has made extra points, often touchdowns possible when other attempts have failed. He will also be remembered for his perfect form in track and smoothness in basketball.

MADGE KEGAN

Three cheers for Madge! She is the only one on record that has held the position as cheer leader for four successive years. She wears a smile continuously and radiates mirth and laughter wherever she goes. We prophesy a bright future for Madge.

SENIOR CLASS

History

On a beautiful day in September 1930 the J.H.S. airship under the command of Commander Snapp, took off for a four year trip. Our first stop was Freshman. Mary McFarland, Mayorress of Freshman did all she could to make our stay there a pleasant one.

Algebra! Here our trouble began. Not having studied such a thing before, our overburdened shoulders nearly broke under the strain, but being exceptionally bright boys and girls we over came all obstacles and began to look forward to a summer vacation.

After vacation we were called to go on a new trip to Sophomore. To our regret some of the passengers of the year before were missing, but to our delight some new ones came to take their places. So we victoriously sailed from Freshman and continued on to Sophomore.

We encountered some very unpleasant weather as we sailed over "Modern Times and Living Past" but with the splendid help of Prof. Womack we subdued this foe. With the exception of those whom Lieutenant Davidson asked to remain, we were given a triumphant send off to Junior.

Our number was increased by the arrival of Edith Hubbard. She boarded the J. H. S. and we soared aloft. Suddenly lightning flashed and thunder reverberated through out the heavens. It began to rain and the clouds around us were black. Some cowered in their rooms in fear, refusing to come forth, while others bravely, though not without trepidation, ventured forth to watch the play of the heavens.

"Sailing over Geometry, and a stiff trip it is you may be sure".

When at last the storm was over we descended because some wanted to get off. Although we were sorry that they left, we welcomed Marzuella Webb, Eulah Mae LeMasters and Beatrice Baker, and took off for Senior.

We thought that surely Senior would be a type of resort but we were certainly disappointed. First we had to overcome Psychology, English, and P. A. D. Which would have been impossible without the aid of our capable instructors. Then, to our consternation, commercial law appeared on the horizon, but with the help of Mrs. Trice who had given up being hostess at Junior to come to Senior with us, we fought a winning battle with our new found enemy.

We felt quite seniorish when we were granted the privilege of leaving study hall without permission, then, too, we, who made not lower than C were permitted to leave the building at extra-curricular period.

As we neared the end of our visit, pictures were taken for the Year Book, the class play given, Commencement Programme took form and we were delightfully entertained by the Juniors at the Junior-Senior banquet.

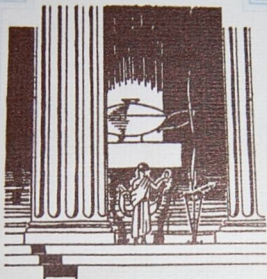

May 23 amid a large crowd of friends, teachers, and relatives, we sadly, yet, gladly, relinquished all claim to our excellent airship J. H. S. and boarding other lines, sailed majestically through the still night for destinations unknown.

History of JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class, with Mr. Walker as their home room teacher, started the Junior year with a "bang". Each pupil seemed to be glad to help in every way and in every activity, so that we were soon known as "the class with school spirit". During the first month of school we introduced to the school our school pep song, "On! On! Cavaliers"; and throughout all school activities we have put into practice the spirit of the song. We have worked hard to do everything we could for our room and our school.

Ours has not been entirely a year of work alone, however, we have had enjoyable moonlight hayrides to Pine Mountain; a jolly valentine party; inspiring and distinctive "sunrise" breakfasts on Raven Rock. Throughout the year we have had programs each week, on which both students and faculty members have taken part. We feel that the year has been a well-rounded one in its contribution to our mental, moral, and social development.

During the year we have been fortunate in having guest speakers from week to week. The purpose of the talks given by the speakers has been that of aiding in the vocational and moral guidance of our class. Many prominent men and women from Jenkins and nearby towns have been speakers.

At the beginning of the second semester, the Junior Class gave to the school another song, "Jenkins Alma Mater" which we were proud to dedicate to the Seniors of 1934. It was at this time that the Juniors announced their award to be given to the outstanding boy and girl in high school.

The high light of the entire year, however, was the extremely successful production of our Junior play, "Educating Esther", acclaimed by scores of people as the outstanding play of recent years. We felt that the success was the just reward of weeks of hard work.

As the end of our Junior year approaches, we wish to pledge ourselves anew to the support of our school and of the other homerooms in their every activity. We hope to be able to continue the work which has been so creditably done by the outgoing Senior class. Through the application of our motto of "Honor, Truth, and Loyalty" we believe we can.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Now the history of the Class of Six and Thirty, of the High School of the City of Jenkins, County of Letcher, State of Kentucky, is in this wise:

In the beginning, in the two-and-thirtieth year of our Lord, in the ninth month, and on the fifth day of the month there entered into this Land of Learning, five-and-fifty seekers of knowledge. Some came up from the Eighth Grade, where they had for many years been storing their minds with the honey of wisdom; some were green and fresh from the distant cities of McRoberts, Dunham and Burdino; some came from farms, where they had been tillers of the soil; and so some were from other halls of instruction.

Soon after they entered the land, the males were one and all seized with a strange infirmity which did cause them to act with much fierconess and strangeness of manner, and to grapple and to wrestle with one another in seeming rage and ferocity. A certain wise man by the name of Sir Rogor Clay Womack was called to look upon them. This strange and wise man did finally pronounce the infirmity "foot-ball". So, with many anxious fears, and dire forebodings, the instructors did allow the disease to run its natural course; and lo, none was killed, and few were seriously injured, whereat there was great rejoicing throughout the land.

Now it came to pass at the beginning of the second year that a new band of youths did come up from the adjoining territory and the class of six-and-thirty, in the dignity of their promotion, remembered the days of their own greenness, and as the Sophomores of their day had done unto them, even so did they do unto these.

"Behold, blessed be the name of Education, for because of it have we endured great torments, both of body and the mind. Verily have we been martyrs to its great and noble cause!"

History
FRESHMAN CLASS

The unusual number of ninety-nine Freshmen was enrolled in September, making it necessary to divide them into two home-rooms. These were Miss Stephan's and Mr. Tomack's, respectively.

Miss Stephan's group proceeded to show their worth by the wise choice of the following capable officers. June Short, President, Junior Davis, Vice-President, and Foroster Baker, Secretary and Treasurer.

In honor of a departing classmate, the class as a whole gathered for a little party in October. With enthusiasm characteristic of the 1933-34 Freshmen, we made this an evening to be remembered by all.

February 27 was the next occasion for a gathering, games were played, songs were sung, and refreshments served. Members of the faculty were our guests.

March 30 our homeroom hiked to "Raven Rock" and spent the day "with nature". This concluded our activities for the year.

The Freshmen are now nearing the end of the first "lap" of their high school journey. We are fewer in number and perhaps a little study-worn, but undaunted, and we hope to fight onward to that goal marked "Graduation".

History
FRESHMAN CLASS

We came, we met, we conquered! Such could be the brief history of Mr. Womack's Freshman room.

Some of us found our way up from Burdine, others wended their way down from Dunham, still others drifted across the mountain from McRoberts; and finally we have our own group from Jenkins.

Only a short time was needed for us to get acquainted; and we were soon one happy group, enjoying our school work, our extra-curricular activities, and particularly our interesting home room programs!

High School work was quite different from grammar school work; yet we met it with a grin. Through months of hard toil we have labored until we feel that we have conquered and are worthy to be called "Sophs" rather than mere "Freshies".

TRACK MEET

The annual track meet between the four grade schools was held Saturday, May 11, at the Jenkins Ball Park. Many thrills in the dashes and relays and the close competition in high jumps pictured the days program.

Some promising material for high school track was shown by the boys in the high jump. John Huffman, Jr. and Pat Whitaker gave the best demonstration of the Eastern style of high jump ever given at a Jenkins track. Roy Pratt Wolfe using the George Spitz style of jump brought cheers of admiration and encouragement from the gallery. Jackie Nowlin and George Carter using the orthodox scissors form looked good for future high school material.

In the dashes, Howard May, Horace Owens, and Warren Davis proved themselves worthy enough to hold the sprint in the different age groups.

Howard May appeared to be the most finished track man on the field. May won honors in the dashes, weights and relays to cop one of the first place medals. Warren Davis, another fine looking product, also won one of the medals. Davis showed a smooth, powerful stride in the dashes. Horace Owens, Jackie Nowlin, Lloyd Mullins, Lewis DeSimone, and Humphrey Ricketts were other medal winners.

The girls should be praised for their efforts for some of the girls showed very good form in a number of the events.

Margaret Whitney and Mabel Blackenship were the two outstanding stars in the girls group.

GLEE CLUB

The purposes of the Glee Club are to provide a means of self-expression for its members and to give pleasure to others. The first objective we have in a large measure attained; for the second we are dependant upon the good will of our audiences.

In November the Chorus presented the Indian operetta "Hiawatha's Childhood", for which costumes and setting were planned by members of the organization.

During the second semester much time was spent in singing negro spirituals and folk-songs, and in preparing in four-part harmony the "Jenkins Alma Mater" for the Commencement program.

The Glee Club wishes to take this opportunity to express its appreciation to Mrs. Womack, Miss Hilsenbeck and Miss Stephan for their splendid accompaniments.

Rose Cullis

FORENSIC CLUB

Believing that every individual should know how to think clearly, logically, and quickly, to speak distinctly and with expression and to be at ease before audiences the Forensic Club was organized.

This year debate was the only event in which there was any interest. During the entire season of thirteen debates, Jenkins only lost three, one in the preliminary series, none at the District Tournament and two at the State Tournament.

The girls who were members of the Debate Team, Rose Bailey, Tish Purser and Marzuella Webb, spent much time and effort this season. They are to be commended for their splendid work on the question, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the British System of radio control and operation". Too, the untiring efforts and enthusiasm of their Coach, Grace Hilsenbeck, led them over many difficulties and kept them working and interested.

Debate Team - to you we owe a note of appreciation for your wonderful record.

JUNIOR PLAY

Educating Esther, a farce in three acts, including several complicated and humorous situations was given March 21.

Critics declared the play an outstanding success. The cast of thirteen included the best talent of the Junior class.

It was directed by Mr. Walker, our Junior Home Room teacher. Several Sophomores had the honor to be in the play.

The cast included:

Elwood Gardner, The Scientist-----	Lawrence Stephens
Esther, his wife-----	Virginia Gibson
Leon Green, his friend-----	Elmer Stanley
Alberta, Leon's wife-----	Tish Purser
Peter Meston, the manufacturer-----	Clifford Dunlap
Dora Meston, his sister-----	Dean Woodson
Max Blanton, the undertaker-----	John Hunsaker
Woody Sellars, the salesman-----	Grate Wright
Delores Juanita Mercedes De Anda, the dancer--	Cleo Johnson
Pearly Waters) friends of Delores -----	Hattie Dotson
Tessie McGuniss) -----	Eileen Looney
Roy Kirk, the thief-----	George Walker
Harvey Beaumont, the detective-----	Johnce Howington

Mr. Womack: (anxiously questioning a sub about football rules)
"Carl, what would you do if the ball was near the goal line and it was fourth down and one yard to go?"

Carl: (riding bench) "I would slide down the bench some, so that I could see the play better."

Mr. Walker: "Chalmer, is trousers singular or plural?"
Chalmer: (after much thought) "Singular at the top and plural at the bottom."

"THAT'S THAT"

Senior Play

Wow! What a night! What a house! and what a play! From start to finish "That's That" was a grand uproar. There was a continual battle -- Rose Bailey, as "Mamie Rimer", and Dale Christopher, as "Mickey Sullivan" her beau, had a hard time, indeed, trying to keep Clarence Wolfe, playing "Eddie Dewey" the country hick, from stealing the show entirely.

Geraldine Stephan, the leading lady, in the role of "Eloise Roswick" and W. K. Davidson as "Kenneth Neilson" her leading man, added "love interest" to the show.

Madge Kegan, Mac Darnley and Arthur Wright gave delightful interpretations of their respective roles. Madge's interpretation of the Stag Number with the Stag chorus was one of the high spots of the performance.

One hundred chorus girls and boys gave interesting song and dance numbers.

The show was directed by Bessie Robinson, a professional director for the John B. Rogers Producing Company.

CHAPEL PROGRAM COMMITTEE

"Well, what will we have for Friday?" "It's time for music again. Maybe the Kegan trio, or the Sephomere quartet, or Luke Berlin ought to play". "Rev. Schultz would talk to us. He's good". "Why not get Mr. Bennett to sing, or Miss Hilsenbeck to give a musical reading?" "No, let's ask the debate team to argue a little" "Maybe Mr. Walker's English class is ready with a play by now".

And so it goes, on, on through the extra-curricular period.

Halt! - Atten-t-i-o-n," Madge Kegan as chairman of the chapel program committee commands. She has listened to the suggestions of her buck-privates of Semester I and II and to the advice of the faculty sages Mr. Walker, and Miss Stephan respectively through the entire school year. As a result the High School has been directed through a series of chapel programs of real educational value--radio broadcasts, talks by missionaries, plays, music, debates, etc. So the year has been spent.

The corps of Semester I as follows is already on the Fatalities list:

Madge Kogan	12 th. grade
Lawrence Stephens	11 th. grade
Tish Purser	10 th. grade
Pauline Bain	9 th. grade
Steve Toth	9 th. grade
Eloise Pratt	8 th. grade
Inez Anderson	7 th. grade

The corps of Semester II is dying--sinking, too, into oblivion:

Madge Kegan	12th. grade
John Hunsaker	11 th. grade
Margaleen Boyd	10 th. grade
Kathleen Howington	9 th. grade
Woodrow Sexton	9 th. grade
Joe Blevins	8 th. grade
Magdalene Johnson	7 th. grade

Their names as recorded have done honor to their school for the year 1933-34.

"Dummy" in Camp Knox - "Sergeant" pick me out the nicest gentlest horse you have."

Sergeant - "Right, have you ever ridden before?"

"Dummy" - "Never", confessed the raw recruit.

Sergeant - "Good! Then I've got the very horse for you".

"Here's one that's never been ridden before.

You can both start out together".

JENKINS
HIGH
"J" CLUB

The "J" Club is composed of athletes who win the privilege of wearing the official "J" by virtue of athletic ability in any of the major sports. Its purpose is to sponsor clean athletics, sportsman-like attitudes and to instill in the minds of the members loyalty to the Green and White. Its influence is felt by anyone who comes in contact with its members, and the ambition of many of the smaller boys is to wear one of the honored letters.

This year for the first time the new members were initiated by the old members and a "hot" time resulted. The practice of initiations will continue from year to year.

The library club began to function November 1, 1933 and has continued to date. It has had many ups and downs such as any new organization will have. Its purpose in organizing was that of contributing books to the library and also to carry on the work of observing book week. During this time many posters were made and hung in the library; banners were also hung on the walls.

Through the efforts of the members of the club book week was very successful in that it encouraged proper reading of books.

The club met every two weeks, on Monday evenings. The evening was spent in programs, and socials. We hope that the present Junior class will continue with the Library club next year and receive as much enjoyment out of the club as we the present Senior class has. Much of the inspirations for the programs and the organizations of the club in particular was due to our sponsor Miss Stephan, the librarian.

Landlord to Clarence (prospective tenant): "Have you any children?"

Clarence -- "No"

Landlord -- "Any dog, cat, or canary bird?"

Clarence -- "No"

Landlord -- "Piano, loud speaker or phonograph?"

Clarence -- timidly, "No, but I have a fountain pen that scratches a little."

Judge -- "Curtis, the jury finds you guilty"

Curtis -- "That's all right, Judge; I know you're too intelligent to be influenced by what they say."
