Dear Parents/Guardians,

On Monday, April 17, Brenda Lutz, a volunteer with The Asservo Project, will be presenting to students on the topic of human/sex trafficking, child exploitation and sexting. Your student will be educated on the basics of human/sex trafficking and dangers of social media. Any person who utilizes a cell phone, social media, or other online platform is at risk for being exposed to human/sex trafficking, child exploitation and sexting.

The goal of this presentation is to provide students the knowledge to protect themselves and friends from predators, both in person and on line. By educating students on various ways predators hunt and what makes them and their friends vulnerable, they will be better equipped to recognize the signs of compromising situations.

The 45-minute program will include true stories and relevant videos of teens who were victims of dangerous online situations and chose to tell their stories in hopes of helping others. Our teenagers are most vulnerable when engaged in social media platforms where parental supervision is limited.

The Western Beaver School District is dedicated to educating students on social media trends and consequences of inappropriate online engagement. If you have any questions or concerns regarding the topic of this presentation, please contact the high school office prior to Monday, April 17th.

Respectfully,

Mr. Brandon

Mrs. Fortner
