My Promise to All Veterans.

I have made a promise to all of our Veterans that I will try not to break. I want to be successful with my promise. I know words and actions can make a difference in this world. Actions can change people's lives. I pledge to our Veterans that I will donate all I could to help them, for they lost a big part of their lives fighting for us. I will stand united with them and support them in any ways I can. They could have lost their friends in the war just trying to protect us. Veterans died fighting for our country and for our freedom, and a lot of the time, us people who live in the United States do not realize this. People died just to make us live a better life, just to make us stay safe from terrorists and invaders. Just to protect us from wars that could break out and just to make us feel like we are at home and not a dangerous place where we are like invaders to other people. In the Pledge of Allegiance, it states that we live with liberty and justice for all. Who gave us liberty and freedom? Veterans that fought and protected us.

I pledge to our Veterans that I will help them in whatever they need help with. I can help them with yard work because it can be hard for them to do it themselves. I can help them with shopping if they ever need help with it because they could have lost a leg or an arm fighting for us. If they can't pick up groceries or walk regularly, they could ask for help from me. I can help with errands because they could be too tired, or they might just not want to collect what they need. I could pick up the errand for them. I will help Veterans with anything they need help with because that is what a good citizen would do for their state, country and for their Veterans. I want to be a good citizen for my country and state, and that is why I will fulfill these pledges for our Veterans.

My Pledge to Veterans

My pledge to veterans is to always be truthful, especially when it's for the country, I will always have bravery and sacrifice for my country. I will always be kind and respectful to others, put friends, family and anyone in need before myself. I will stick with commitments and always keep my promises, in this essay I will be getting more in detail about my pledge and how I am going to make it happen. I will care about anyone and everyone that needs help. I will encourage people to try their hardest. I will make sure that I stand up for myself and others whenever possible.

I pledge that I absolutely will not confuse Veterans Day with Memorial Day. Veterans Day is a day to honor all veterans, so we can say, "Happy Veterans Day." Memorial Day is a day to honor those who have fallen, anything but happy. I will make cards for the veterans, so that they know that they are appreciated and that we love them for risking their lives for our country, our freedom, and our well being. I know that I wouldn't like to be in the army and that is why I am so thankful for the veterans and that they will do the jobs not many people would like to do.

For veterans I will make sure that I visit veteran homes and bring them gifts they can have fun with. I will talk with the veterans and ask them questions that were good memories, not the bad memories. When I see anyone in uniform I will try to help them with whatever they are doing. A lot of my family members were in the army but unfortunately I never got to meet them. Actually some of them died a few years before I was born, I would have loved to talk to them and thank them for their service and their bravery. Sometimes I sit and think when the veterans left to fight when they came back home, their lives were not how they left them. That is what I feel incredibly bad for.

This is my pledge to veterans and I will follow and respect it for the rest of my life, or at least I will try. When I feel like doing something I really shouldn't do

I will think about my pledge and remember that I didn't want to not follow my pledge. Veterans, this is my pledge.
