Item II: The Character Education Word for the week is "Citizenship."

Item III: NUTRITION TIP: You don't have to cook fancy or complicated masterpieces-just good food from fresh ingredients.

Item IV: READING FUN TIP: Children should learn that reading is pleasure, not just something that teachers make you do in school. - Beverly Cleary, American Author

Item V: COUNSELOR'S SPOTLIGHT: Performing chores can build responsibility and confidence
Research from a 75-year Harvard Study shows that children who are given chores become more independent adults. However, many kids aren't required to do as much today as they were in the past. They may be missing out on regular opportunities to develop positive character traits that could help them in school. To make chores a beneficial part of your child's schedule: Choose carefully. Pick jobs that are challenging yet manageable for your child. Give your child clear, step-by-step instructions and a few chances to do the task with you before going solo. Schedule chore time. Write it down on your family calendar and post it where everyone will see. Limit rewards. If you give your child an allowance, separate it from chores. Everyone in your family should be expected to pitch in. Make comments like, "It helps keep our house tidy when you collect the trash! Thank you!" Make work fun. Chores should not be intolerable or feel like punishments. Turn cleaning into a game by setting a timer to "beat the clock." Or listen to music or an audiobook.
