Homecoming

By Morgan Bax

Parkston celebrated this year's Homecoming week from September 27 to October 1. There were games every day between third and fourth block.

On Monday, students participated in a game of scooter racing. Tuesday's game was musical chairs. The student council tried out a new game on Wednesday: sleeping bag relay where the players had to lay down in sleeping bags and inch across the floor. In Thursday's game, the royalty faced off against the teachers in a volleyball game.

Friday was Homecoming Day and we had time to work on our floats before the parade. Because it was raining, we played more games in the armory, instead of on the field as we traditionally do. Some of the games included: musical chairs, tug-of-war, dodgeball, and a scavenger hunt. After all the games on Friday, we went to the parade--and it began to rain again before we were finished. winners for the parade were eighth graders with first place, sophomores with second, and freshman with third. Then the football game finished off the day with a satisfying win against Kimball/White Lake.

Halloween's long history

By Troy Norden

Halloween was grew out of the ancient Celtic festival of Samhain. The Celts celebrated the new year on Nov. 1, which marked the end of summer and harvest. It also marked the beginning of the cold harsh winter. On Oct. 31, they celebrated Samhain on which they believed the ghosts of the dead returned to earth.

The Druids commemorated the event by constructing huge bonfires. During the bonfires, they wore costumes and sacrificed animals and crops. The costumes were made from animal skins and heads, intended to ward off the ghosts of the dead. In the eighth century, Pope GregoryIII officially designated Nov. 1 as All Saints Day. Eventually, the traditions of Samhain were incorporated into the celebration and became known as All Hallows Eve, or as we know it--Halloween.

NHS begins new Service Projects

By Brody Boettcher

The National Honor Society is doing a new type of community service this year. Instead of emptying trash cans in the gym after athletic events as they have done in recent years, they are donating non-food items or cash to the Trojan Den.

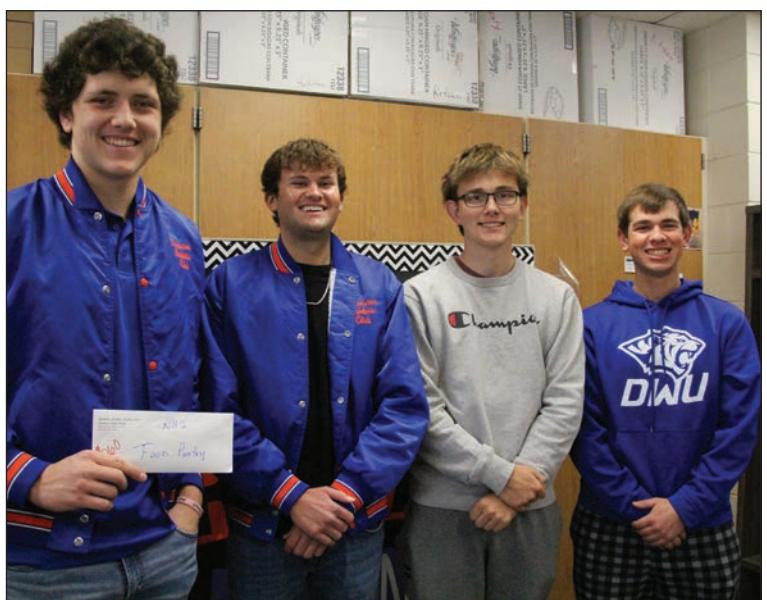

The Trojan Den, which was started this year, is a service that can provide clothing and hygiene items to students in need of them. The Trojan

Den is located in room 120, where the old senior lounge used to be located. Students can scan the QR codes posted around the school to access a form they can fill out with a request for items. Parents and students can also contact their teachers, Mrs. Kafka, or Mrs. Mette for hygiene items and clothing items.

In addition to the Trojan Den, every NHS member made a cash donation to the Community Pantry. There are 52 members involved in NHS this year, including fourteen new members. For both the Trojan Den and Community Pantry all 52 members chose to make donations in cash.

"I am very proud of our NHS members because not only do they have a high academic average, but they exhibit leadership, service and character," -Mrs. Deinert.

Representatives of the National Honor Society, Max Scott, Quinn Bormann, Matt Ehler, and Caleb Titze, present a donation to Mrs. Kafka, FCCLA Advisor and FCCLA member Amedea Luikens to help support the Trojan Den and local Food Pantry.

Volleyball keeps going strong

By Brielle Bruening

The Volleyball team has had a pretty tough month for matches. October 5, they played the Platte Geddes Black Panthers. The girls fought hard but came up short and lost the first three sets.

In their next game, they played the Kimball/White Lake Wildkats October 7. It was also senior night. Three senior players were recognized at Senior Night: Allison Ziebart and Brielle Bruening, both middle hitters, and Baylee Schoenfelder who is the Libero. The team came out strong and finished with a win in three sets!

Dig Pink night was October 12, against the Wagner Red Raiders. Every year the two teams schedule their game in October for Breast Cancer Awareness Month so that they can team up and do the Dig Pink and donate to Breast Cancer Research. The Trojans took Wagner to four sets, but fell short on the win. A new tradition was set this year. At the end of every Dig Pink game between Parkston and Wagner, the winning team will get to take home a pink volleyball trophy.

The rest of the month was a mixed bag: October 14, they played the Parker Pheasants who took the win over the Trojans in three sets; October 19, the Trojans played the Bon Homme Cavaliers and came back home with a win against the Cavs in four sets.

The Trojans have one more tournament left before Regions begin. The tournament is the SESD conference tournament. This year the tournament is held in Wagner, SD. Regions will begin on November 11.

X-Country Athletes do well at state

By Javon Friederich

The Cross Country team ended their season with a bang. In Regions the varsity girls team took first place with Lindsey Roth finishing in 5th place and Morgan Maxwell in 12th place, rounding it up with Berkley Ziebart in 14th place and Sadie Mueller 16th place.
