NEW COLLEGE NUMBER

VOLUME I.

HAYS, KANSAS, FEBRUARY 20, 1925.

OUR PICTURE

Dear Reader, just take a good, square look at the cut of our NEW COLLEGE. We promised you from the start, that we would keep you posted on the progress of the building and today we are going to redeem our promise.

This picture tells its own eloquent story in its own appealing way. True, it is only a photo from a painting of the architect; and the architect assures us that no painting can do full justice to the magnificent structure that is rising from the ground like a giant in his might; but the picture is telling you what you want to know.

When you study the picture, present to your mind the dimensions—200 feet in front and 200 feet depth to each wing. Some dimensions to our NEW COLLEGE. When this unit is completed we will have ample room for 250 boarders. These students will come from all over Kansas and neighboring states to test the truth of our slogan: "It Pays to Live in Hays."

What eloquent story does the picture wish to tell you, dear reader? It wishes to tell you that the Bishop was sincere when he spoke of erecting a College of which you could be justly proud.

This NEW COLLEGE is to be a monument to the generosity of the good people of Ell's County and all the subscribers. This monument is something you can point to and say: "Here is what we erected."

The first story of this gigantic edifice is progressing nicely. With the appearance of good weather it is our intention to rush the work, so that by next winter we have the College under roof. The estimated cost of this one big unit is $450,000.00.

This picture of our NEW COLLEGE wishes to go into every home; it wishes to be seen; it wishes to be talked about; it wishes to be appreciated—appreciated to the point of awakening keen interest in each and every subscriber and well-wisher of our NEW HAYS CATHOLIC COLLEGE.

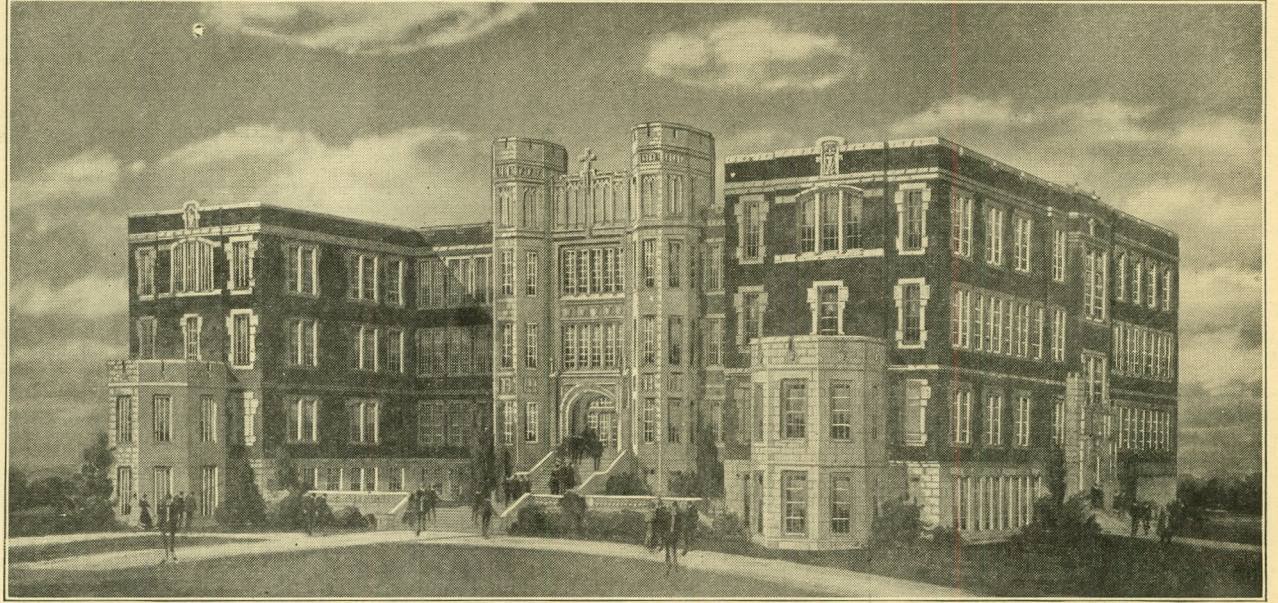

It seems to say in its own impressive way: "Dear Reader, behold me, my dimensions, my structural greatness, you, who are looking at my appearance, are my friend, and I wish you to be my friend forevermore. Prove yourself a friend in need, for I am sorely in need at the present time.

"Why am I in need, right now? Dear Reader, to rear up this contemplated and planned College to the roof and put a roof on it, will demand at least $100,000.00." Should the good Lord bless you, as He did last year, with a good crop, then do not forget the NEW COLLEGE.

Our students—and we have just an even hundred of them crowded in our inadequate OLD COLLEGE—are in the position of the apostles. They are eager to help, both the College and you. But, alas, they have neither gold nor silver. They are not entirely helpless, however, though lacking in earthly goods. They have prayer, and it would make you feel good to hear their prayers daily offered up for all the good people who are so ably supporting the construction of THE NEW HAYS CATHOLIC COLLEGE.

That God may bountifully reward every subscriber and well-wisher of the NEW COLLEGE is the petition of every student. These boys feel and appreciate what you, dear subscriber, are doing for them.

Keep this picture before you. Figure out what you can do, so that in the near future we can send you a REAL photo of the NEW COLLEGE, taken right on the grounds.

MEDALS FOR THE LEADERS

We feel happy to mention that some loyal friends of ours are taking exceptional interest in our progress in studies. To encourage the same as much as possible, medals have been promised to students manifesting the greatest devotion to their studies. Our Rt. Rev. Bishop offered a medal for the best student of Oratory. The Alumni promised one to the students attaining the highest class average. Another good friend of ours chose the best historian as the recipient of his medal. Indeed with such ample encouragement each student should exert all his efforts to make himself worthy of such an honor. Extraordinary enthusiasm is noticeable even now and we hope it will steadily increase. The winners of the prizes at the end of the year will be satisfied to know that they have worked for a distinction of which they may be proud.

The students wish to thank their kind benefactors for these gifts and for having stimulated their spirit for work.

ATTENTION, STUDENTS!

$5 to anyone who solves the crossword puzzle in the window of the Classic Store. Come up and see it. Fifteen other prizes.

THE LITTLE UNDERSTOOD WASHINGTON

This month we celebrate the birthday of another great American hero, George Washington. The hardship of Lincoln's birth and early life, the heroism of his struggle toward better things, the tragedy of his death, have all helped to make him the moving memory that he is. Washington cannot arouse the sympathy that human nature gives those born, apparently, without a chance. He was one of the so-called "landed gentry." He had many advantages. That old tommy-rot story about the cherry tree raised him up as a paragon of perfection. It made him seem unreal, with the result that to a great many people his appeal is still that of a legend rather than an actual living character of American history. He is not understood. And yet here again we have, if we look for it, the great soul of a human being. Had it not been for his patience, fortitude and courage, the American Colonists might never have achieved their independence.

By all the ordinary rules, Washington should have been a Tory. He had everything to lose in the event of war with the mother country. He had no particular personal complaint. Life, to him, had been good. He had money. If England levied taxes he was able to pay them. War might bring ruin. His estates might be burned. He might find himself penniless. And yet, when the time for action came, in his heart there was no compromise. He risked everything. Had he been captured there is little doubt but that, under the rules of warfare as practiced in those days, he would have been hanged as a rebel. In fact, at one time there was a price upon his head.

This American gentleman gave up the luxury of a fine home and of servants to rough it as a soldier. The privations and sufferings extended over eight long years. All through those years came events to try his heart. Generals disobeyed him, and once this disobedience turned a victory into a defeat. Arnold betrayed him. Politicians tried to take away his command. Time after time his army was beaten on the field of battle; time after time he had to retreat. Yet somehow, some way, he held the cause together, fought through fog after fog of black discouragement, and at last reached Yorktown. Without Washington in command, the Revolution might not have survived Valley Forge.

In spite of his granite courage he showed sparks of tenderness as fine as any that came from the heart of Lincoln. In his youth he was ambitious for a naval career. His sea chest was packed; the vessel on which he was to sail was waiting. He found his mother in tears, and then and there brushed the ambition aside. He could not bear to go when he saw how keenly the separation would affect her. The more we come to know the real George Washington, the more we come to love him, too.—The Columbia.

BISON'S FIRST DEFEAT AT THE HANDS OF H. C. A.

All the hard luck along in the first four games of the season, which proved to be successive defeats for our basketball team, was annulled in the second clash with Bison, which turned out to be a glorious victory to the tune of 17 to 12. The game simply was a fight in the truest sense of the word, from beginning to finish. Bison never got into the lead throughout the entire game. The surprise was too much for the large and appreciative crowd, which incessantly cheered the players with roaring applause for good plays which, this time, were quite evenly distributed between both sides. Both teams bear marks of this brilliant encounter in so far that they played their hardest game of the season. Bison had never been defeated and most likely did not expect to be; Hays College had lost four games and was determined to bring home a victory even though it was against one of the strongest teams in this part of the circuit. The game showed the undying spirit of our husky basketballers.

The whistle gathered the players for the game exactly at 7:15. They lined up for the fray, and the game was on. The first few minutes were moments of decisive action on the part of every player on the court, one trying to size up the other in a few quick and well planned plays of defense and offense. In vain did Bison try to break our line of defense. Once, twice and again did they carry the ball up to take a reasonable chance for scoring, when our guards, Bahl and Wasinger, swooped down upon them with lightning swiftness, not only taking the ball away from them, but bringing it up to our goal so fast that Bison did not have time to get set and suffered the loss of two points. This happened not only once, or twice, but repeatedly, the strategem proving very destructive to our opponents' chance for a victory. The failure of the opponent's plays was due, mostly to our lately developed method of defense which was played to perfection by our fast quintet.

Bison was not in the same spirit as our team was, but, at the very first onslaught, their line crumpled and, before they could stop us, we had three baskets. Bahl and Jacobs were simply "putting them in" to say the least. Staab and "Pat" played in about the same style and did very effective work in taking the ball up to the goal. "Pike" and "Isi," who were substituted for Staab and "Red," respectively, helped to cinch the victory over the panic-stricken opponents. The last quarter was played with Hays in the lead by seven points, seemingly a hopeless case for Bison, when, all of a sudden they closed in on the ball and advanced the score four points. Further hopes of their victory were dashed to pieces when Bahl shot another ringer, making the score 12-17, for Hays. And so it stayed till the gun called the game over.

A victory like this one is enough to arouse the latent good spirit of our players at any time. They now look forward to more and better victories against their future opponents: Plainville, LaCrosse, Russell and Quinter. According to past games of these teams, good games are expected on the home court.

SENIOR CLASSICAL NOTES

In interest, Latin takes the cake. For each class, our professor requires the translation of a whole bunch of sentences. "Doc" got into a little scrape the other day. Most likely he had too many sentences translated.

Whoopee! The semi-finals are over. We feel lucky to have gotten over them so smoothly.

Among the many new things that the second term brought along, is a new professor, Prof. Weigel, who is now trying hard to drill some politics into our noodles. We think he'll not have to procure a funnel to accomplish his design.

Religion Professor: This is a new semester, so turn over a new leaf.

Foxy: Can't do it. This here Catechism is just about all shot.

Last Thursday, we were huddled in our classroom, waiting for the awful moment to pass, which precedes all Greek tests. It was mighty slow in doing so, for, when only five minutes were left of the period we felt hilariously light, being convinced that our good professor had forgotten about it or taken pity on us. Later, we found out that he was called to Olmitz on business, the urgency of which most likely caused this "miserable break."

ALUMNI NEWS

R. A. Leiker was in Hays lately, transacting business.

Fr. Koerperich, who is on his school examination tour, called on us several times during the last weeks.

Maurice Weigel has resigned his job at Munjor. We are not informed as to his future work.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Toepfer, a baby boy to whom they gave the name Erwin William. We extend our hearty congratulations to the happy parents.

The executive committee of the H. C. C. Athletic Association will meet in the very near future to plan their annual gathering which is to take place some time in June. This meeting promises to be the liveliest ever had.

George Ruder, we are informed, has been elected assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Ellis. Here's success to you, George.

All Alumni show great interest in the success of the basketball team.

John J. Miller was seen at Hays, last week.

Paul Wasinger was seen in Hays transacting business.

We wish to extend our heartiest congratulations to Bernard J. Brungardt, a graduate of 1922, on the splendid article he wrote in the February issue of the "Kansas Teacher." We always expected Mr. Brungardt to enter the literary circle some day as a writer.

Frank Urban was here to see the Hays-Bison game, Feb. 5.

Clem. Pfannenstiel, '23, was a visitor at College, last week.

Robert Depperschmidt, '23, was a caller at College.

Fidelis Wasinger, '24, and Paul Wasinger, '15, were here to see the Hays-Plainville game, on January 27.

SENIOR COMMERCIAL CHATTER

The finals being over, we are again on the alert for surprises in the guise of class tests. English and History were booming successes as were also some of the other branches. The big exception was Physics. Either the professor overestimated our knowledge or we had a bad attack of nervousness. At any rate the questions were too much for poor us. The freeday after the examinations was employed mainly in recuperating.

Civics has been substituted for History for the second semester. The desire to become patriotic citizens is outstanding in our class.

Fr. Florence, our typewriting professor, who was operated on, is with us again and making up for lost time. He took charge of us in religion in place of Fr. Alfred. The first class over, we were convinced that he meant business and are now acting accordingly.

"Pat" is sick at present. Indisposition wouldn't bother Pat so much if he would not have to "lay off" in basketball.

"Ise," Pete, Nick and Brake, our representatives on the quintet are doing fine work on the court. Ask Bison if you doubt it. They will admit having received a sound thrashing.

Feb. 22 will see some of our classmates in action in "The Recognition." Many hours of preparation have been spent in drilling and many pointers given by the Moderator, who is "heart and soul in it." We hope it will be a whooping success. If the weather-man will do his part, we will meet him half way, and do our utmost to make it a success.

COLLEGE FRESHMEN CHATS

The substitution of Trigonometry for Solid Geometry and Xenophon's Anabasis for St. Luke's Gospel are the marked changes in the new semester.

Saxophone and also Xenophone's Anatomy are the "cognomens" already given to the new work (Anabasis).

The Anabasis, which treats about Cyrus the Younger in an expedition against his brother Artaxerxes, is written in a very simple and pleasing style. In it Cyrus was defeated and killed in the battle of Cunaxa. Xenophon's fame as a writer chiefly rests on this work. It is also the work of great historic value and will therefore be a great asset in acquiring a wider knowledge in history.

Reading about the beginning of the Industrial Revolution in England, our history professor asked the following question: "What would you do in our present day civilization if you couldn't use the telephone or telegraph for sending a message?" Babe answered: "Tell a woman, of course."

Trigonometry is liked by everyone for our text book has the answers given.

Vincent Werth would join the Messiah orchestra if he only knew who would be his "partneress."

Some of the drawings of a recent Biology class were simply a surprise to us when Fr. William told us what was what in his criticism of the same. What they should have represented is: Volvox, Gonium and Tissue of a Metazoa.

"Teddy" (parading up and down the corridor, seemingly in deep thought about the latest religion lecture on Hell): "And there shall be howling and gnashing of teeth."

Janitor: "Supposin' a person hain't got no teeth, what then?"

Teddy: "Get false teeth, when you get there."

COLLEGE SOPHOMORE CHATS

Of all the tests we ever went through, those on Jan. 27 and 28 were the best. We believe in preparation and this time, at least, we were not fooled. Everything turned out fine, except a few items here and there. All Sophs are perfectly satisfied with their reports which just recently came from their parents, and all are of the opinion that some tests are bound to be disappointments to a slight degree. In short: The semi-finals were reasonable—not too hard for comfort and not too easy for work.

Our work in Biology for the second term will be mainly on illustrations and several chances to prove our skill at drawing specimens were given us. Schwarz seems to have us all "skinned" in that line. His first attempt resulted in a "99". What will his later ones be, once he is in practice?

Our Greek Prof. told us good news—that he would give us "Demos-thenes" for the second term. Our class, if "he" is anything like Cicero in oratory, is eager to shake hands with the "old boy". Homer's Iliad was studied and, during a little quiz one of our stars, when asked what terrible affliction he had, answered: "He was a poet."

"Lui" Dreher was suffering from a bad cold, which took effect in one of his eyes. Now he can see both sides of the text again.

Alfred Schwarz enrolled as cellist in the Messiah orchestra.

Some of our class were present to see the Hays-McPherson game, Tuesday even'ng. They say it was an excellent game, both teams showing wonderful ability.

"The Recognition" is causing some of our representatives to spend a lot of time on the stage, in oratorical rapture, never satisfied with their action of certain "heavy" parts which have to be interpreted in a way to forbid "lagging on the job." Their gray matter must have enlarged by a whole lot since it got busy on "The Recognition."

During the "Semester holidays," the baseball goods were unearthed again by the baseball lovers. The warm weather was an incentive to that act and some of the boys are partly limbered up, ready to hurl the "old pill" down the valley.

AMONG OTHER THINGS

Mr. Smith, architect for the new College, had a beautiful painting of the building made from which the cut in this paper was made.

Emery Catudal was a caller at the College, Sunday.

Otto Linnenberger visited the library, some time ago, and now he seems pretty well supplied with reading material for a few weeks. He is an old and good friend of our library, having served as librarian for several years.

Rev. Fr. Florence is with us again and back on the job, much improved in health. We hope he will not have to go to the hospital again while he is with us.

Our Rt. Rev. Bishop Tief will pay us another visit before leaving for Rome. We are all anxiously looking forward to his visit.

Fr. Director announced to the students that the Provincial and some other Fathers from the East would be here in the near future. Fr. Alfred is working his musicians to death preparing a program for the day.

All the new books that were ordered for the library some time ago arrived. Everybody is expecting to read one of them as soon as they pass censorship. Quite a job for Fr. William our Moderator, to read them all.

Quite a number of students went home for a short visit over Sunday with their parents. The drizzle plus the snow on that day made it difficult for them to return, but they are all back now.

The twelve volumes of O'Henry donated recently to the College Library by Mr. Alphonse Staab are on the shelves.

The Rev. Moderator, Fr. William, purchased sixty new novels for the library. Among them are some of Peter B. Kyne's works, Curwood's, Churchill's, Oppenheim's and other famous authors' works. Five works of Mrs. Southworth have likewise been added. Isabel Clarke's latest novel, "Children of the Shadow," found its way to our library.

On Wednesday evening, January 28, the students of the College Dep't played a short and snappy game among themselves. There were just enough players to make up two teams. Babe's team defeated the other quintet to the score of 22-16.

Fred Schreiber and Jonas Rome discontinued their studies at College after the first semester.

Feb. 7 and 8 were rather lonesome days at College for quite a number of the students spent those days with their folks.

READ THIS CAREFULLY

This list contains the subscriptions paid up to Feb. 5th. No credit is given for money paid into the Building & Loan Association. If your name is missing in spite of the fact that you have paid up, come and see us, and we will find out where the mistake lies.

Last September we sent a letter to every subscriber and in the letter was a clause which read thus: "To facilitate matters, we have arranged with the various banks of the county to accept your payment, therefore, go to your own bank, pay your installment and get a receipt."

There are nine banks in the county which were asked to assist us in this drive. These banks were instructed to send a DUPLICATE DEPOSIT SLIP to F. W. Arnhold, Hays, Kans. This man keeps the books up to date. He lists your "paid up" subscriptions. He can only do this IF YOUR BANK SENDS THE DUPLICATE DEPOSIT SLIP TO HIM. Find out if your bank has done so.

The list is a copy from the books of F. W. Arnhold, up to Feb. 5th, 1925. If you paid before that, your name should be in this number of the Journal. We want you to assist us so that proper credit is given.

Each month we will issue a list of paid-up subscriptions. We are human and liable to error. But it is our endeavor to have every error corrected. Kindly assist us and watch for the March number of the H. C. C. JOURNAL for the latest report. If you have not subscribed for the JOURNAL as yet do it NOW. Price of subscription, 75c.
