COLUMBUS DAY APPROPRIATELY CELEBRATED

College Shows Movie

The afternoon and evening of Oct. 12th will long be remembered by the students as well as by their friends and patrons who took advantage of seeing a worth while photoplay treating Columbus and the discovery of America. The 10-reel picture depicted a great part of the life-story of the great Catholic Italian mariner and discoverer of the American Continent. The first five reels told of the untired efforts of the ambitious seaman in trying to convince his countrymen of the unknown fact that the world is round and that by sailing due west unknown lands were to be found. This statement so startled the world that the explorer's name was soon uttered by every tongue and people began to speak about the adventurer's dreams and desires to hazard an expedition in the hope of finding this unknown world. It was through the instrumentality of the Franciscan Friar

Father Juan Perez, a warm friend of Columbus, and one time confessor to the queen of Spain, that Columbus received an audience with the Spanish Sovereigns Ferdinand and Isabella and in the royal presence ardently pleading his cause begged for the necessary means to undertake the journey which he promised and guaranteed should mean untold advantages to Spain. The queen, realizing the possibilities of this novel adventure linked her petitions to those of Columbus and finally persuaded her reluctant consort to give the project his royal approval. The question of means to furnish ships and to fit out the expeditionary crew with the necessary supplies was solved by the Queen herself who magnanimously pledged her jewels that the expenses of the journey might be defrayed. The fifth reel showed the voyage of the hopeful admiral with his handful of companions sailing the unknown deep of Western seas on three frail sail ships, the "SANTA MARIA," the "PINTA," and the "NINA." All goes well until the time elapses to sight traces of land. Overtaken by fear, the crew grows mutinous and determines to force the admiral to give up the wild adventure, and even threatens to throw him overboard if he refuses. But the iron will and resolute courage of Columbus prevails over their fears, and they "sail on" in obedience to his command until the following morning the object of their desires is attained. Land is sighted and reached, and in paroxysms of joy they all set foot upon the shores of the new world, the Admiral claiming it for God and Spain.

The remaining reels deal with the further history of the discovery, the return of Columbus to Spain, his elevation to honor and renown, his second voyage, his great disappointment in finding that his orders had not been complied with by the men he had left in charge of the natives, his downfall caused by envy and jealousy at court, his imprisonment, his reinstatement to honor through the efforts of the queen and finally his death.

It was a picture, complete in every detail and sufficiently thrilling to make a lasting impression. We hope to have more like it. We wish to express our gratitude to the College orchestra, which furnished appropriate music throughout the picture, making it doubly interesting. We also thank those who attended.

THE AIM OF OUR PAPER

The school publication has two very important functions, namely: to develop and encourage school spirit and to afford training in literary and journalistic fields. What our school paper aims to do is, therefore, to bring the student body more closely together by means of its columns, and to establish communication between the home and the school, and other schools as well; and, secondly, to give the students an opportunity to apply the ideals of journalism in a practical way. It is our first attempt at publication work, but we feel confident of getting out a paper that will please, interest and instruct you, who are helping in a material way to make this endeavor possible. Please remember that we are still in our infancy in this line of work and as amateurs are not accomplished experts at the journalistic game, but we will do our best to satisfy and repay you for your loyalty to the school and your interest in us, its pupils.

The film was shown again in Victoria Oct. 13. A large and appreciative crowd was present to witness it. Patriotic songs were sung between reels by the school children.

ST. FRANCIS DAY

October 4th is a great feast day at our college. St. Francis, being the patron of the Capuchin Order, from whose ranks our good professors are chosen, is likewise greatly honored by the students. This high esteem of the Saint entitled them to a dispensation from the regular routine of study, to attend the solemn services in church and to spend the day in healthful sport and recreation. With what eagerness the boys look forward to this first free-day of the year. Finally it comes and the holiday schedule sustains its first attack.

In the morning, a long sleep, followed by breakfast and High Mass, in close succession, starts the program.

Then for the great out-doors and the first excursion of adventure of the season. Here, there and everywhere, to visit old haunts and explore new ones. This year, the greater part of the day was spent in observing the progress made by the diligent workmen employed in the building of the new College.

Interest shown by the boys was exceptionally great and it was with the greatest reluctance that the command to return to the premises was complied with.

Gone is a day that has relieved the tension of mental exertion, but which has furnished a new supply of energy. We're "back on the job" for another period of hard work, but the memory of this past feast day still lingers as a stimulus to go on to the desired goal.

NEWMAN CLUB

The first meeting of the Newman Club for the scholastic year was called on September 21, 1924. At this meeting the customary procedure was taken, viz., the reading and explanation of the constitution for the benefit of the new members. This was done by the Rev. Moderator, Fr. William, who also made some timely suggestions relative to the purpose of this society.

The object of the Newman Club is to stimulate and foster literary endeavors and to give its members opportunities for training their elocutionary powers. The Newman Club has also charge of the library.

After the necessary explanations had been given the nomination and election of officers followed with the following results: Lewis Dreher was elected President by a majority of 31 votes. John Koerperich was elected Vice President by a majority of 38 votes. Alfred Schwartz was elected Secretary by a majority of 29 votes. Francis M. Bollig was elected Librarian by a majority of 31 votes. Julius Bahl was elected Chronicler by a majority of 39 votes.

IMPROVEMENTS IN BUILDING

No doubt the first improvement the older students noticed on their return was the new study hall for the College Department. The college students and high school pupils had always been together in the same study hall, because of lack of space, but owing to some changes, a room was found which the Rev. Fr. Director wisely converted into a study hall. The balcony of the auditorium is now used as a typewriting department. An advantage surely, since the click of the machines no longer causes disturbance on the study floor. A small cabinet has also been put in the college study hall, containing a valuable collection of fossils and minerals. The high school study halls have also been remodeled, paint and varnish having been used freely all over the building.

HOW ABOUT OUR TEAM?

Our team is possibly the lightest in the circuit, but it has speed and knows how to play the game.

The first encounter with Ellis was not so good, owing to the few work-outs and the number of inexperienced men on the squad. A steady improvement was shown in both the Russell and WaKeeney games.

The boys were at their best, and held Ellis (the) team in the fourth game of the season. The final score was 2 to 0. Had Foxy not tripped, a touchdown would have resulted. The speed is beginning to tell.

The Athletic director C. H. Jameson is well pleased with our team which has everything but weight.

Coach Kinderknecht is teaching our boys the fine points of the game and he has them all "het up", full of pep and ginger. They have the never die spirit and are confident of holding all opponents in the future.

We wish to thank our loyal rooters, the students of the Girl's Catholic High School and the Hays High School who did much to encourage our players.

ENROLLMENT FOR 1924 IS 107

School opened September 11, with an enrollment of 107 students. Half of this number are boarders. Students thirsting for the knowledge acquired by a higher education flocked in from every corner of the Sunflower state. Summer vacation with all its pleasures and past times is a thing of the past and the sterner task of wading through class books is taking its place. Realizing what education means to them in later life, the boys are "plugging" hard, determined to make sacrifices in order to get all they can out of four year's high school and two year's college work respectively.

AUTUMN

What beauty can compare with the mature beauty of the Autumn? Have you ever listened to the rustle of ripened corn, and made a song of it in your heart, and was ever song so rich in music? The leaves as they grow serene sing more pathetic songs. Later on the corn falls in golden waves before the reaper, and is stored away, and men feel that they have earned the harvest home. The crimson streaks grow more frequent in the sunset and the sunrise. The distant bank of foliage a wealth of coloring—russet, amber, crimson—which no painter would be bold enough to copy as it stands. Besides, one feels that this is just the right time to enjoy the beauty that nature spreads before us.—Rev. Joseph Farrell.

COURAGE

Courage is a virtue that the young cannot spare; to lose it is to grow old before the time. It is better to make a thousand mistakes and suffer a thousand reverses than to run away from the battle. Resignation is the courage of old age; it will grow in its own season, and it is a good day when it comes to use.—Van Dyke.

AMBITION

The first thing for you to do is to cultivate Ambition. Ambition is simply an eager desire to do something and get somewhere. That something and somewhere standing clearly out in your mind and impelling you to action.

While it is pitiable to be without ambition, it is far more pitiable to have ambition and lack the gumption to plow or the manhood to make manhood effective.

COLUMBUS

Often we speak of this great America as the Land of Promise but little does the thought ever recur to our minds of the great adventurer and discoverer, Christopher Columbus, who made possible for us this great domain.

Little do we think of the fears and hopes entertained by this great man who so courageously faced the dangers of an unknown sea and fought so bravely against despondency which his men by their continual mutiny tried to turn to despair.

It was only the iron will of Columbus which could not be turned and which tempted him to continue his journey, the outcome of which is well known to us.

This man set a good example for all scholars. He taught us the lesson of perseverance. If perchance we meet with some difficulties in our school work, we must not despair. We should recall the words of Columbus to his wearied men, "Sail on," and if we follow his example we may rest assured that we will also be as successful as Columbus.

WHO? FATHER!

Who thinks he's just to pay the bills?
Your Father.

Who is it your ambition thrills?
Your Father.

Who is it who lays down the law?
Who writes you letters cold and raw?
Yet the best sport you ever saw?
Your Father.

ATHLETICS

A month ago the referee blew his whistle for the big kick off of 1924. A high school is not complete without clean, healthful athletics, and in Kansas a high school must have a football team.

The Western boy, budding into manhood is a bundle of twist, squirm and wiggle. He is a human dynamo of physical energy and ceaseless action. This period of motor activity is best controlled by athletics.

There is no game which calls for quick thought, quick action, and determination so much as football.

Amateur Biologist

"Jep", in sketching the external anatomy of the grasshopper and reaching the end of his paper, remarked: "I never knew there was so much to the beast, I'll have to put it's trunk on the other side."

IT IS UP TO YOU

Growl, and the way looks dreary;
Laugh, and the path is bright;
For a welcome smile
Brings sunshine, while
A frown shuts out the light.

Sigh, and you "rake in" nothing;
Work, and the prize is won;
For the nery man
With the backbone can
By nothing be outdone.

Hustle, and fortune awaits you;
Shirk, and defeat is sure;
For there's no chance
For deliverance
For the chap who can't endure.

Sing, and the world's harmonious;
Grumble, and things go wrong;
And all the time
You are out of rhyme
With the busy, hustling throng.

Kick, and there's trouble brewing;
Whistle, and life is gay;
And the world's in tune
Like a day in June.
And the clouds all melt away.

Pat—Say, Foxy, don't you wish you were an intelligent bird like me?
Foxy—Couldn't I be intelligent without being like you.

SENIOR'S ADVICE TO FRESHMEN

Get system into your habits. They'll go with you through school and through life. In addition you must be able to get thoroughly each day's work. Do not miss a single day of study; go into each classroom with the idea that you will be called upon to answer all the questions and that you can do so without difficulty. When the Prof. puts questions to you do some quick and stout thinking and see if the answers you have in mind are correct. If you discover your answers are wrong or only half right, you may be sure you have failed to give enough time to your assignment, or, worse still, you have not learned how to study and to know when you have your lesson.

Apply Simple Rules of Study

1. Have a fixed time each day for the preparation of each lesson. Do not let anything break into your schedule of work. Follow a fixed schedule of study for a month and you will be likely to follow it for four years.

2. Study the lesson as a whole to get a general idea of its content, and then go back and analyze it carefully. Ask yourself questions about the lesson and try to answer these questions.

3. Make a synopsis and visualize it so that the relationship of the various parts is clear on your mind.

4. At all times work with concentration. Get into the study with a determination to understand every part clearly.

5. Occasionally review the past month's or week's work; see if you can make a summary of the essential points.

Make yourself assume the attitude you would have if you were playing tennis, basketball or any other game. Go in with all the interest, concentration and drive you possess. You want to win in play. Strive also to win in the intellectual game, in study. Don't be a quitter and don't be a second rater. Then we'll be proud of you. Seniors '24.

Everybody is back and looking fine. There are a few new faces in the bunch, but they look wise, so we've agreed to keep them.

The commercials are working hard at "Bookkeeping," "Typewriting" and "Shorthand." They have all taken a good hold on their studies and threaten to take all the business of the city in hand after a few years. This being their first year in typewriting, they think they're just it. Last week Fr. Director assigned a small job to them, typing addresses, and they ruined only forty envelopes for him. They're young but they'll learn.

"Lula" says, "Bookkeeping is pie but Shorthand is the 'Cat's Whiskers'."

The classicals are roasting their beans over Latin, Greek, and Botany. Latin, they say, is a "humdinger". Several of the class are developing into Greek "sharks". Jacobs says, "Botany is grapes."

The commercials and classicals have the English and History in common. In English we are about to form "Debating Teams".

SOPH STUFF

A look at Griese's hair makes you think his father is an oil king.

"Faeda" would like Geometry if only there were answers in the back.

Ross was riding with friends on Sunday evening.

"Nickie" is getting absent-minded. This morning he poured syrup down his back and scratched his pan-cakes.

Schreiber—I hear they stopped The Covered Wagon at Denver.

Schmidt—Why?

Schreiber—To grease the wheels.

Brock—I can never make my bed straight.

Pete—Look at the crooked guy that sleeps in it.

Too Bad

Latin Professor—Virgil wished his Aeneid to be burnt, because he felt it needed more polish to make it more perfect.

Student—Too bad Virgil's wish wasn't granted.

Bloody Study

Prefect—What's all the noise about?

Teddy—Babe is butchering his Latin.

WITH OUR ALUMNI

The Alumni Association is taking a very active part in all athletic activities of the College.

Wednesday, September 24, Mr. George Gottschalk was united in marriage to Miss Martha Breit of Ellis, during a Nuptial High Mass celebrated at St. Joseph's Church, Hays, Kansas, at 9 o'clock a. m. Mr. Gottschalk graduated from the College Department in the spring of 1922. At present he is associated with his father in the furniture business. At the last annual meeting of the Alumni Association he was elected secretary, which office is receiving his most careful attention. The young couple will make their home on West Fourth Street, where a new modern bungalow has been built. We wish them a long and happy married life.

Dr. G. J. Leiker, dentist of Ness City, was seen here last week. "Doc" belonged to the graduating class of 1918. Come again, "Doc," we are always glad to see you.

Dr. Leo J. Schaefer, physician and surgeon, has established an office at Great Bend, Kansas. "Doc" is a member of the first class graduating from the College Department in the spring of 1916. We wish him success at his new location.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Karlin on September 20, a son, to whom was given the name Erwin Joseph. "Eddie" is with the J. M. Schaefer Abstract and Loan Company, having charge of all abstract work. He has filled the office of treasurer of the association for the last three years.

Mr. Joseph W. Staab of the class of '19, was here last week for a short visit. Mr. Stab is employed by the Santa Fe Railroad Company at Amarillo, Texas.

Mr. Adolph J. Kuhn of the class of '23, recently accepted a position with the H. H. Winters Hardware Company of this city.

The officers of the Alumni Association wish to thank all who responded so generously in the purchase of season tickets.

Mr. Bernard Brungardt is on the Atwood High School faculty, teaching mathematics.

Clement Pfannenstiel, a graduate of '23, is teaching school in district No. 13. We know Clem is able to wield the "board of education."

Fidelis Wasinger was at College visiting last week.

George Ruder was at Hays, Sunday.

The Alumni are very busy assisting Fr. Director in some work concerning the New College.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gotschalk returned from a short wedding trip to their new home on West Fourth Street.

Linus Roth of Pfeifer was a caller at College Tuesday.

Carl and Joe Jenish of Clafflin former students of Hays College, paid a visit to their Alma Mater.

Robert Depperschmidt, a graduate of Hays College and also a student at K. S. T. C. during the summer school period, is teaching school at Park, Kans. He has visited us several times of late.

COLLEGE SOPHOMORE ECHOES

Argumentation and Debating was chosen as one of the main subjects of this year for English Class. Great interest is taken by the debating class to learn the principles of arguing correctly and efficiently. There will be a real try-out of these rules, soon, and we think stretchers will be needed to carry away our defeated opponents.

To keep in touch with the world at large, the College department subscribed to the "New York World." This publication aids the journalistic class in a very definite way and upon its arrival is promptly read by each and every boy. Mr. Bird has also been kind enough to present an issue of the Ellis Co. News to the class. This keeps us informed with incidents of local interest. The library, next door, supplies reading matter on other subjects of our line of work. We are indeed fortunate to have such great advantages at our very doors.

The Sophomores were interested in the Base-ball World Series, which proved to be exceptionally exciting this year.

Trigonometry was resumed again this year, and gives us more material to exercise our brains on.

Fr. George, our Latin Professor, brought us what was left of Livy, namely: Vols. 21 and 22, as an addition to the pensum, which is now complete. Horace was tasted and his numerous measures examined. He promises to keep things humming this year.

Autoist, Please Notice!

When "Kasp" was hit by a passing auto and the driver sympathized with him, he grinned and remarked that much repair expense could be saved if drivers would take better care of their cars.

A modern history pupil thought the Germans might have given up the fight sooner. Then there would not have been so many battles to study about.

COLLEGE FRESHMAN CHATS

The college freshman class comprises four high school graduates of last year. They have, so to say, finished to begin. Though they have passed another mile post, a very important period of their lives, they do not intend to rest long, but to keep right on the march till the terminus of their desires and ambition is reached. They realize that the education received at high school and college is but a beginning and is valuable mainly in so far as it trains in the habit of continuous application, to definitely planned and systematic study. During their college course they will continue in their endeavor, to construct the "framework of the vehicle which will carry them along the straight road to success."

The freshmen are very much interested in Argumentation and Debating, a part of their English course. After a few more weeks of theory absorption, they will challenge the Sophomores to a debate and try out their skill on an interesting proposition.

Latin Poetry has also a great attraction for them and they find the scanning of Virgil's "Aeneid" a pleasant occupation. They are becoming so Latinized that we would not be surprised to see them walking about in Roman togas before long.

The grasshopper is still absorbing the interest of the Biology class. My, what a marvelous combination of systems.

"Vince," a member of the Freshman class, has been to Kansas City lately to see the Doctor on account of his respiratory system of which he heard so much in Biology class. The college radio being out of commission and the telephone rates rather high, we haven't heard of Vince since he left us. Oh yes, we did. Somebody heard him in the building, so he must have got back. Well, we are sure glad to have him with us again.

THEY CAME WITH A PURPOSE

We're here, not because we're here, but because we want to be here. And we want to be here because we realize that without a High School Education, No Standard College will enroll us as students.

Our Ambition to be teachers can never be realized.

We cannot study law in a law school of recognized standing.

Reputable schools of medicine will bar us as students.

Class "A" dental schools will not allow us to take their courses.

Schools of engineering will not enroll us in courses leading to a degree.

We are barred from the competitive entrance examinations for West Point Military Academy.

The U. S. Naval Academy will not allow us to take its examinations.

We cannot secure a position of standing in the newspaper world.

Even the embryo Radio Engineering School will not accept our registration fee.

The possibility of ever becoming a private secretary is remote.

Our hope to follow in the footsteps of the Master in the role of Priest or teacher can never be realized.

RECENT DONATIONS TO LIBRARY

Rev. Fr. Lewis, O. M. Cap., donated two novels and a biographical work; Rev. Fr. Justin, O. M. Cap., donated a book of a spiritual nature; F. M. Wilson donated a complete set of Dickens' works, per Miss Elizabeth Leahy. In addition to these recent donations the library has been enriched by Mrs. Sarah Bissing's generous contribution of 87 volumes of Dickens', Bret Harte's and Marion Crawford's works. A complete set of the Lives of Saints in 16 volumes was donated by the Rev. Director. The Newman Club greatly appreciates these valuable contributions and extends its heart-felt thanks to the benefactors.

The Rev. Moderator, Fr. William lately purchased a number of valuable books to the amount of $50.00. This set comprises the more recent works of the foremost Catholic authors and is a valuable asset to the library, since it brings the library's Catholic literature shelves down to date.

OUR COLLEGE

As George Washington put it, "You cannot teach morality without religion". All boys of this grand republic should grow up with Religion. Hays Catholic College aims to do its share in as far as the Catholics of this "rolling prairie" are concerned, and she is willing to be of assistance to all others.

An education that enriches the mind with knowledge but fails to develop the will, or briefly, an education that bars religion from its curriculum, may produce scholars, but it cannot produce good men. The best system of education is one that unites the intellectual, moral and religious elements.

The boy must love his country. He must be brought up with a sense of responsibility, respect for authority and a consideration for the rights of others. He is in this world, in America, in Kansas, not for the purpose of scheming for a thrill but to do his share in making his neighbors happier and his country better.

Hays Catholic College is doing this for your boy. There is no other Catholic College for boys in the Western Part of our state. The enrollment this year, without any canvassing, proves that our college is appreciated.

Our College is up-to-date in Education. We have a standard faculty standard curricula, standard equipment. We follow no educational fads. Holding fast to "the old reliable", we welcome the worth-while new.

Our College is up-to-date in Athletics. Our High School Team is ever challenging, inspiring all year 'round. We do not permit Athletics to be all-absorbing, yet you will not find a pluckier team than our speedy athletes.

Our College will soon be more than up-to-date when the magnificent "Bishop Tief Memorial Hall", now building, opens its wide portals to receive the many boys for whom we have not ample room under present conditions.

From latest reports available the subscribers to the New College are working heart and soul with our esteemed Bishop Tief and the good Capuchin Fathers—and we—are now visualizing a beautiful editorial sanctum for the home of our "Journal".

Hays Catholic College has the lowest College terms in Kansas. Experience is teaching our people that it "pays to stay in Hays".

The location and climate of our College are unexcelled. The Western boy wants a Western setting. There could be no finer setting, no better environment than that of our New Catholic College.

Ask your family physician and he will tell you that there is no healthier climate than that of our sunny Kansas.

We boys are full of enterprise. This journal is gotten out by us. We know that we are undertaking great things; at the same time we are planning still greater things, and we will achieve them, too.

As the College grows, so will the enterprise of Western Kansas grow. Sending your boy to our College is just one more step forward in progress.

If by next year your boy is not ready for College, send him to our High School Department. The faculty here has pledged itself to make a real man, both morally and intellectually out of your boy, and is redeeming its pledge. Come and join us.

Much Sense and More Apples

One of the "Freshie" boarders thinks that one dish of apples on the table is better than loads of them in the cellar.

FACULTY CHANGES

Several changes have been made in the College Faculty. Rev. Fr. Ferdinand, O. M. Cap., is the new prefect, having taken Fr. Walter's place. Rev. Fr. Walter is still on the faculty as teacher. C. H. Jameson, Athletic Director, is also a new member of the faculty. Professor Alexander Meier, teacher at the Hays Catholic College for the last sixteen years is no longer with us. We are informed that he is in North Dakota connected with school work and teaching music. That "Prof" may be successful at his new post, is the earnest wish of the Hays Catholic College students.

THE BOTANIST

The botany Prof. while explaining the food value of edible roots noticed "Rich" a day-dreaming, and woke him up with the following question: "Well what part of a potato do you eat?" "Rich" shrewdly answered: "The inside."
