

MJS Weekly Update

January 7, 2022

Good evening MJS Community,

I hope your student enjoyed the first snow day of the year on Friday. With guidance changing every day, I waited until this evening to send our weekly update. Please be sure to review the procedures for remote learning and updated basketball game attendance guidelines below.

We are grateful for your partnership as we maneuver through another challenging period in this pandemic. We are doing everything we can to keep our schools open and have our students learn in person and remain engaged with their classmates and friends. One way we can do this is by having students remain home if they are not feeling well. Our staff is doing the same. By taking this conservative approach we can work to keep everyone as safe as possible

The key to making this next stretch of time work is communication, so please reach out to your teachers, the office, or me, with any questions or feedback. We can get through these next few weeks together; we are still Madison Strong!

Remote Learning at MJS

As of today, remote learning is available only for any students who have tested positive for COVID-19 or who are isolating due to close contact exposure and are unvaccinated. We are also showing flexibility with remote learning for families impacted by the prevalent delays in the notification of test results, as this is a COVID impact.

Students who are home sick should not be learning remotely, as we want these students to rest and recover so they can return to school as soon as possible. Each morning before school, the office sends out to the teaching staff a list of COVID impacted remote learners approved to join the classroom remotely. Students who have been called in sick by a parent or guardian are not on this list and should not be joining classes remotely.

I urge you to call me if you have any questions or would like to talk about your child's current learning situation. In the end, we want what's best for our students, and there are many extenuating circumstances that play into our current state of learning.

MJSAO Basketball Game Attendance Policies

The Madison Public School District recently met with the Northwest Jersey Athletic Conference (NJAC) schools in the area, and they have decided to temporarily limit the number of spectators attending indoor athletic events at our schools.

Effective today MJS will be restricting the number of spectators permitted to attend home basketball (boys & girls) events to two (2) family members per player. This decision will be reviewed weekly with NJAC schools with the hopes that these restrictions can be lifted before the end of the winter season. Madison Public Schools believes that this decision will help create an environment that gives our student-athletes the best opportunity to remain healthy and complete an entire season.
