

A message about the Indiana Speed Test to school students:

Help fill-in your District on the Indiana Speed Test map!

Local officials in your county are analyzing where broadband service is inadequate or unavailable. Many areas of your school district are in both of those categories. They need data to make good decisions and they need your help.

The Indiana Speed Test collects data about your broadband experience. It creates a map in real-time that will help plan improvements to internet availability in our county. Get online at home and take the Indiana Speed Test. At home, log on to your computer or other device and visit www.infb.org/speedtest. Enter the address of your location to test your internet quality. No internet connection? Please report your address and select one or more reasons you don't have internet. Take the test at different times to see how your service varies.

How do I take the test? Watch here.
