

Celebrating 100 Years West Point High School 1908-2008

West Point started out as Crooked Creek School. The name was changed to West Point School not long after the school was founded. The first picture below, on the left, is of WPHS in 1935. The picture on the right is of the school, circa 1961.

Change is often good for a person, community, or school. The manner of the change, however, is not always benevolent. The school was burned down on Labor Day, 1996, by arsonists. Shocked and stunned from this catastrophe, the community, the faculty and staff, and the student body of West Point rallied, experienced the growing pains of going to school in trailers, and were joyous when the new school was finished. Pictures left to right are of the fire and the front of the new school.

West Point High School, 2008. Additions include the courtyard area and the flag pole. Students enjoy the courtyard area for break, lunch, and socializing before or after school. Pep rallies have even been held in the courtyard on special occasions.

Steven Methvin (12), on the left, and Taylor Bates (9), on the right, enjoy the featuring of the tuba during marching band season this year.

The school's mascot was changed to an Indian Warrior and his Indian Princess this year. Kayla Sellers (12) and Timmie Walker (12) agree with smiling faces that the new costumes are more user-friendly than the warrior costume from the past several years.

The senior cookout during the homecoming football game won rave reviews by many seniors.

During the Opening Day assembly, Rocio Robles (l) and Leslie Vandergrift (r) listen intently to the challenge put forth to the senior class to be good role models this year for the underclassmen.

Jennifer Blackwood (l) and Erica Dill (r) show their excitement of being seniors at the Opening Day assembly.

School spirit is displayed by Austin Preiss (12) and Ty Campbell (12). Their jerseys are painted-on!

50 YEARS AGO

"The Merry Tale of the Senior Trip of the Class of 1958"

Submitted by Crystal Dutton's grandmother, Mrs. Emily Nattress

We left the school in the early morning on two buses. We were going to Panama City, Florida, for our class trip. We stayed in cottages on the beach by the seaside. There was a little park next door where we spent a lot of time. We were so blistered by the end of the trip we could barely move. We had to go to the grocery store for our food and cook our own meals. At night, all the girls would stay up and do their hair for the next day. One of the boys and one of the girls started talking while we were down there. They ended up getting married eventually and are still married to this day.

On the way back home from the trip, one of the buses broke down in Montgomery. The chaperones found out that it would take at least one day to get another bus; therefore, they decided to send the girls home on the bus that was working and let the boys stay the night in Montgomery. The boys got all dressed up, went around to car lots and test drove some of the most expensive cars they could find. They had terrific fun doing this. The boys arrived home one day after the girls. The boys boasted to all the girls about how much fun they had test driving the expensive cars and role-playing that they were rich. This made the girls really mad and jealous that they missed out on this part of the trip. As far as I know, there was never another school-sponsored senior class trip again.

For the last senior class to take a senior class trip, at least something happened that made it memorable!

100 YEARS AGO

In 1908, did you know that. . .

on Jan. 1 the first New Year's ball was dropped at Times Square in New York City to welcome the new year?

on Jan. 11, the Grand Canyon National Monument was created by President Theodore Roosevelt and became a national park in 1919?

Feb. 18 was the first time that U.S. postage stamps were issued in rolls?

Mar. 22 was the birthday of Louis L'Amour (d. 1998), an American author from Jamestown, ND, who wrote 116 western novels?

April 2, was the birthday of Buddy Ebsen (d. 2003)? He played Jed Clampett on the television series, "The Beverly Hillbillies".

On May 2, the popularity of Cracker Jacks snack food was ushered in by the copyrighting of the original version of the song, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" by Albert Von Tilzer's York Music Company? The music was by Albert Von Tilzer and the lyrics were written by Jack Norworth.

May 30, was when Mel Blanc was born? He was the voice of Bugs Bunny, Elmer Fudd, and Porky Pig in Warner Brothers cartoons. When he died, he had "That's All Folks" inscribed on his tombstone.

On June 10, Ernst B. Chain was born? He was a German chemist and bacteriologist who earned the Nobel prize in 1945 for discovery of penicillin.

July 1 was the birthday of Estee Lauder, CEO of Estee Lauder's cosmetics?

On Aug. 12, Henry Ford's first Model T rolled off the assembly line. From 1908 until 1927, the year the Model T was discontinued, approximately 15 million were built.

on Sept. 4, Richard Wright was born (d.1960)? He is best known for "Native Son" (1940), a novel about abuses of blacks in the white society of his time.

on Sept. 26, an ad for the Edison Phonograph appeared in "The Saturday Evening Post"? The phonograph offered buyers free records by both the Democratic and Republican US presidential candidates.

Nov. 14 was Albert Einstein's first presentation of his quantum theory of light?

on Dec. 28, 70,000-100,000 people died in the Messina earthquake in Sicily. The government hired a number of steamships, including the Florida, to ship survivors to America.

on Dec. 31, Simon Wiesenthal, survivor of the Nazi Holocaust who dedicated his life to tracking down former Nazis, was born.

Braque and Picasso began vying with one another in their artwork and ended up teaching everyone to see the world in an entirely new way. Picasso created his oil painting "Three Women" this year.

Pierre Cartier, a French jeweler, acquired the blue Hope Diamond.

Heike Kamerlingh-Onnes, Dutch physicist, was the first to liquefy helium.

CENTENNIAL YEAR

We appreciate the contributions of items for the Centennial edition of the yearbook: The Centennial edition of the yearbook includes items loaned to us for the cover shot of the yearbook, the use of pages from the 50th year edition of the yearbook as well as other older yearbooks to use as backgrounds for many pages, the creation of new ideas for sections of the book, and the contribution of a wonderful story about the senior class trip from the class of 1958.

Worst event of the year: One of the most memorable events that occurred during the 2008 school year was the night of the football homecoming bonfire. The main office and Mrs. Blackwood's office was broken into that night by an axe-wielding creep, sometime around 6:30 p.m. Fortunately, there was no one in the main office area, hallways, or classrooms when this occurred. Mrs. Harbison, who had come back over to her classroom on the hill, had second thoughts about making a quick stop by the main office to use the copier quickly for some items for the next day. Thankfully, she missed being in the building by mere minutes while the dangerous criminal was in the building. The thieving creep was eventually found somewhere in Birmingham.

Best and Worst Senior Prank: The Senior Prank of the Class of 2008 was one of the most detailed ever witnessed by the school. Most of the activities that were done were harmless enough. The design that was left on the football field was, however, very inappropriate and was the single-most reason that the senior class was given one hour to clean up the entire campus or the Senior Walk scheduled for that afternoon would be cancelled.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

DANNY BRADFORD

What is your favorite hobby? Repairing computers.

What is your favorite activity to do with your friends? Play video games and watch movies.

If you were going to open a restaurant, what foods would be on the menu? Hot wings, burgers, and steaks. P.S. Me and Ricky Smith are opening a What-A-Burger when we turn 30.

If you could chose where you could live, where would that be? Paris, France or Hamburg, Germany.

You have been described as "unique". What do you believe makes you different from your peers? I try to get along with everyone I meet. Most people like me enough to get to know me, so I have a lot of friends.

The reason for this page: One of the thngs students have asked us to put more of in the yearbook are snaps, more one-on-one coverage of the students, and to strive to put every single student in the yearbook somewhere beyond just the class pages. Over the past three years, the yearbook itself has gone through many changes and this is one change that we will include more of in the 2009 yearbook. Changes, of any kind, take time to implement in such a monumental honor as putting together the school's yearbook.

STEPHANIE KING

What is your favorite hobby? Drawing.
