TRAID PROGRAM

Technology Related Assistance for Individuals with Disabilities

The TRAIID Program provides statewide coordination of assistive technology (AT) activities for people with disabilities, fosters development of state and federal policies and programs to enhance availability of assistive technology.

Mission- To increase independence and improve the lives of individuals with disabilities through increased access to assistive technology (AT) for work, school and community living.

Goal- The goal of Long Island Regional TRAIID Center is to help individuals of all ages to access services and appropriate assistive technology devices. Assistive technology is one way for individuals to lead more independent and productive lives.
