The City School District of New Rochelle Program Overview

The City School District of New Rochelle hosted Learn With Leaders during the 2022 Summer Stars Program with great success!

Over 110 highschool students participated in seminar classes where they had an opportunity to analyze scientific papers from medical journals (Future Doctors), interpret legal cases and learn strategies to prepare for the LSAT Test (Future Lawyers), develop an understanding of the business cycle from idea generation to launching a business (Entrepreneurship), learn the building blocks of procedural programming (Tech Leaders) and review the elements of preparing an effective Ivy-league college application.

The program offers unparalleled access to Ivy-league student instructors and has made a significant contribution to our college and career education curriculum by offering student perspectives into exceptional career fields. We are excited to present Learn With Leaders to New Rochelle students and families in our 2023 Summer Stars Exploration Program.

The Future Doctors Program by Harvard Student Agencies

Future Doctors Program seeks to introduce students to the fundamentals of pre-medical studies. The program covers various topics including content modules on genetic inheritance, hormones, immunology, and organic chemistry. It also explores case studies on various diseases, poses medical ethics questions, and offers an opportunity to dissect scientific papers. The program also aims to prepare students for a career in medicine by providing an overview of the MCAT process, as well as the chance to hear first-hand about the process from Harvard students. Providing an extensive overview of pre-med, the program encourages students to think critically and quickly. Each day begins with an in-depth lecture covering an important aspect of the medical field ranging from genetics to organic chemistry. Students then engage in hands-on activities created to orient them to the realities.

The Future Lawyers Program by Harvard Student Agencies

The Future Lawyers Program aims to orient students to the field of law. The program covers due process of law, the many careers in the world of law, the difficult-to-navigate requirements of the application process to attend a law school, and much more. The program enables students to get their first taste of the complex world of pre-law studies and the American legal system. Beginning with civics lessons and legal systems, the program quickly equips students with the skills that they need to read, interpret, and incorporate legal cases into their writing. In addition to fostering these pre-legal skills, students will also get acquainted with pre-law studies and learn strategies to prepare for the 'Law School Admissions Test' in the future.

Program in Policy Making and International Relations by Harvard Student Agencies

Lectures are taught by renowned speakers in the field of politics and will introduce students to broader themes in policy making and international relations. In this program, participants will have an opportunity to discuss the material covered during a lecture with the help of a Harvard mentor. This will provide students with clear ideas of what to expect in college classrooms as they embark upon their post high school studies. Students will get to cultivate their ideas and develop hands-on knowledge with the opportunity to share with their project peers. Students will also be taught a plethora of subjects in the realm of politics including law, urban planning, government structure, campaign management and public policy. As a final project, students will provide an actionable policy recommendation.

Young Tech Leaders Program by Harvard Student Agencies

The Young Tech Leaders Program is an intensive program designed by Harvard Mentors concentrating in computer science, and is geared towards teaching high school students and the fundamentals of coding. The program will be a mix of theory and practical application, driven by engaging interactions between students and their trainers. With the overarching themes of abstraction and algorithmic thinking, students will learn the fundamental building blocks of procedural programming. This includes variables, conditions, loops, functions, and file input/output. By the end of this program, students will be able to identify all that can be accomplished with Python and/or Bootstrap, and use this knowledge to learn additional coding languages.
