In East Feliciana Public Schools, we believe well-prepared teachers using high-quality curriculum drive student learning forward. Take a peek at some of the teaching and learning happening this week!

Pizza Party Spotlights Scholars at SES

Slaughter Elementary students who were on the Principal's List for outstanding grades for the second nine weeks were recently treated to a special pizza party.

Superintendent to Represent Louisiana Educators on NIET Board

East Feliciana Public Schools Superintendent Keisha L. Netterville is one of just eleven educators nationwide recently named to the National Institute for Excellence in Teaching's 2023-2024 Educator Advisory Board. Ensuring great teaching and learning happens in every classroom is the core of NIET's work with its partners. As a learning organization, NIET relies on the expertise of its partners across the country to support innovation and improvement. The Educator Advisory Board contributes to the success of NIET's work on-the-ground in classrooms across the country. These educators come from all across the country and collectively provide the knowledge, innovation, and strategy needed to advance NIET's mission.
