CANYON RIDGE HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTS 3-D PRINTED DRONE

Principal Scott Ahlgren said, "This was a total fabrication project that allowed students the freedom to create a project from concept all the way through to producing flight with the drone. The students had the opportunity to use a grinder, drills, and many other power tools. They had to make real time decisions. Not only were our students engaged, but people that walked in and saw what we were doing had ideas and showed us ways to make it better." This was true project-based learning.
