

Expectations Are Running High

September 08, 2012

The FISD Central Office hosted an open house for the public on September 07, 2012. The community was introduced to the new changes and expectations brought forth by the board of trustees.

With every new school year, there are always big challenges that the Floydada ISD must overcome.

“We have had to adapt to many budget cuts and other financial burdens over the past few years,” said Floydada Superintendent, Gilbert Trevino.

New adjustments that are being made by the state have made the school district change drastically.

“As far as academics go, we have made changes from TAKS to STARR, which has been a challenge that we were well prepared for,” explained Mr. Trevino.

Changes made by the state not only affect the school board, but the staff as well.

“During the school year, the staff will have to overcome huge obstacles,” said Trevino, “which is why I met with them on the first day of school to discuss how to produce the best students that we can.”

The expectations are always running high at the start of a new school year, especially when there are difficult amends being made.

“Every difficult year leads me to believe that FISD is always one step ahead of the game.”
