BOO Grams

The last day to purchase BOO Grams will be October 21. BOO Grams are sold daily in the cafeteria 10-12.

Cafeteria Student Pin

It is imperative that students learn their Cafeteria Pin Number for purchasing items to include breakfast and lunch. When students do not know their Pin it slows down the lunch line and students end up with less time to actually eat their meal. We are asking parents for their help with this task. Please work with your child at home to memorize their Pin.

OCTOBER 23-31
IS RED RIBBON WEEK

Attendance

Late arrivals and early checkouts disrupt your child's daily education and should be limited to unavoidable doctor appointments or other excusable absences. Per school board policy the parent will be notified when a student accumulates five (5) unexcused early checkouts and/or late arrivals within a semester. Students must supply the front office with a handwritten note when students are absent. Electronic e-mails are not acceptable but you are welcome to use the FOCUS upload option. Notes must be turned in or uploaded within 5 school days from return to school.

Portable 5 is open for homework help daily . Any student in grades 2-5 needing support with homework are welcome to attend. Students will be required to have work with them.

M-F 6:45-7:25 AM

Students do not need a note to attend this resource time but they must report directly to the room and sign in.

Progress Report Schedule

April 4
May 31

Report Cards available in Focus Portal.

Healthy School Tip

As cough and cold season approaches Hand Washing is one of the most important ways we can prevent the spread of illness in the classroom and elsewhere. By teaching your child how to wash her hands properly—and to especially wash after blowing her nose, using the bathroom and before eating—you can help her reduce the risk of getting sick, and keep her from infecting others if she catches an infection or illness.

Help Your Child Stay Motivated When It Comes to Homework

Your child may complain “I hate Homework!” The truth is you may not like it either. However, research shows that meaningful homework helps kids do better in school --and the benefits show as children get older. To motivate your child (and yourself) about homework:

- *Set up a study schedule: If your child works at the same time each day, he may not resist homework as much.
- *Be available: Supervise and support your child, but let him do the work. Do something productive while they are doing homework, such as reading nearby.
- *Show interest in assignments: Help your child understand the assignments. Sometimes, you both may be confused! Consult another family member or the teacher for help.
- *Notice success: Compliment your child’s work and effort. When his homework comes back from the teacher, show him how proud you are by posting it on the refrigerator.

Lost and Found

Lost and found is located behind the office on the racks.. Please label student items with first and last names. Found glasses, wallets, purses and jewelry will be kept in the front office. Unclaimed clothing will be donated to a local clothing organization at the end of each term.

Parent-Student After School Questions

Trying asking these questions to learn about your child’s school day.
