

Sphero Roadtrip Nation Career and Education Paths

The roadtrip nation is a digital interactive journey to discover what possibilities your kiddos could explore and develop into a future career. They experienced interviews, sites, locations, colleges and facts about the careers of their own choosing in order to create and model their education path after their chosen individuals. Students this week got to maneuver robotic sphero bolt balls through their designed course to follow their educational path.

