SHS Breakfast of Champions

Students are nominated for Breakfast of Champions by their teachers. Though there is not a set criteria, these are just a few of the guidelines for what teachers consider when nominating their student:

- Students who exhibit great school spirit/pride and show it in the classroom, hallways, and extra-curricular activities
- Students who regularly meet/exceed expectations.
- Student leaders (who lead quietly by example, or are more visible/outright in their leadership capacities)
- Students who intentionally go out of their way to help other students

Nominees: Cooper Browne, Zoe Walton, Erin Wallace, Noah Yoder, Esther Miller, Brooklyn Roe, Spencer Johnson, Hailey Jones, Dmitiri Tull, Raimi Gardner, Zane Dudley

SMS Breakfast of Champions

What's Happening at the SES

Coach Typer and Mrs. Leach kept their promise to dress up if students met their goal for Jump Rope for Heart, though Coach dresses like this everyday.

Leprechauns Beware!

Mrs. Hendry's 4th grade was excited to share their leprechaun traps. Some worked independently and some worked with their families to use Simple Machines in their construction of a Leprechaun Trap. One student was concerned and asked, "How will the Leprechaun eat if he gets stuck in one during Spring Break?"

Mrs. Hendry assured them she'll check on Monday and release any that get caught.

Mr. Campbell's class also made leprechaun traps using at least one simple machine in their design.

Gold Slip Winners

Each month, Sullivan Elementary School recognizes students who go above and beyond expectations by awarding them "Gold Slips." Here are the Gold Slip winners from the month of March:

Jozelyn Meador noticed that some of her classmates left equipment on the blacktop after recess. Instead of just leaving it there, she quietly picked it all up to bring inside. How thoughtful, responsible, and respectful!

Infinti Phillips saw another student spill a water bottle on the floor and volunteered to clean it up without being asked.

Addalyn Hendry is always helping others! When another student needed something, Addy selflessly gave that student hers. She is helpful not just in the classroom, but everywhere.

Emmersyn Jiannoni's determination and hard work is very impressive. She has been a great role model!

Connor Ruge opens the door for Mrs. Crowe nearly everyday when she has a big load of trash to take out of the cafeteria. He has done this the entire school year!

SMS supports Epilepsy Awareness Day

Students and Staff at Sullivan Middle School showed love for Epilepsy Awareness Day today by wearing purple.

National Day of Giving

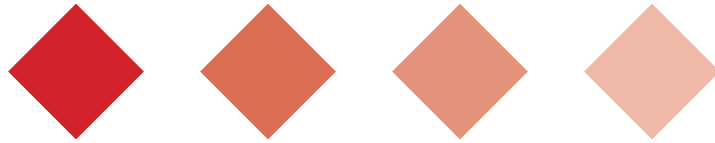

These are all of the junior high and high school FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) members who raised the canned goods pictured for National Day of giving! If you want any more information on it I'm sure she would be happy to answer anything if you just send her an email.

Roaring Twenties at the SHS

Students in Mrs. Badman's AP Language & Composition class enjoyed their Great Gatsby Party. During the party, students read eulogies, learned & performed a dance from the Roaring Twenties, and ate decade-appropriate food. Decor in the room focused on symbols from the text. While students were enjoying food, they were able to listen to music from the time period.
