Paul Hawking

This is Paul W. Hawkins, a man whose capacity for understanding, guiding and inspiring students is almost unlimited. This ability, together with his vast experience in the field of education, has made him a principal for whom we have admiration, respect and affection.

In a spirit of appreciation, then, we dedicate to this man THE DIAMOND BACK OF 1957.

SENIOR POEM

And now, we've turned twelve well-worn leaves, Each filled with joys, and frowns, and tears: And Fate, the everlasting, sees What waits for us beyond these years.

We come across a memory page, And here's one quite without a line; Our friends, portrayed, will last an age--Some space has been erased by Time.

As each page ends, some lines are left, For footnotes sever right and wrong; But most of us too often guessed-To reason would have been too long.

The book is not completed yet; We close this chapter, swiftly done, The ink is new, the pen is wet--We haven't finished--just begun.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The day of June 22, 1967, I was flying over Washington D.C. on my flying saucer, when I looked down and saw the President of the United States. The President in the year of 1967 was Billy Beason. The Vice President was Raymond Cotton. My flying saucer took a sudden dip, and I saw the Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bartz, with his beautiful wife, Ruth.

As I flew on through Washington and into New York, I saw Shirley Jean and Martha, singing and dancing at the Stork Club. A little bird told me that Shirley was married to Jimmy Loyd and Martha to Billy Newsom.

As I came back through West Virginia, I saw Lennie sitting in a chair rocking his four children. Richard is working in the coal mine trying to support his big family of twelve.

After I left West Virginia, I went back to Michigan. As I was flying over Detroit, I saw Jessie working as an engineer for the Studebaker Corporation.

As I was on my way back to Washington, I flew over Indiana. In Indianapolis I saw Shirley Ann directing her famous "All Girl Orchestra" at the Marott Temple.

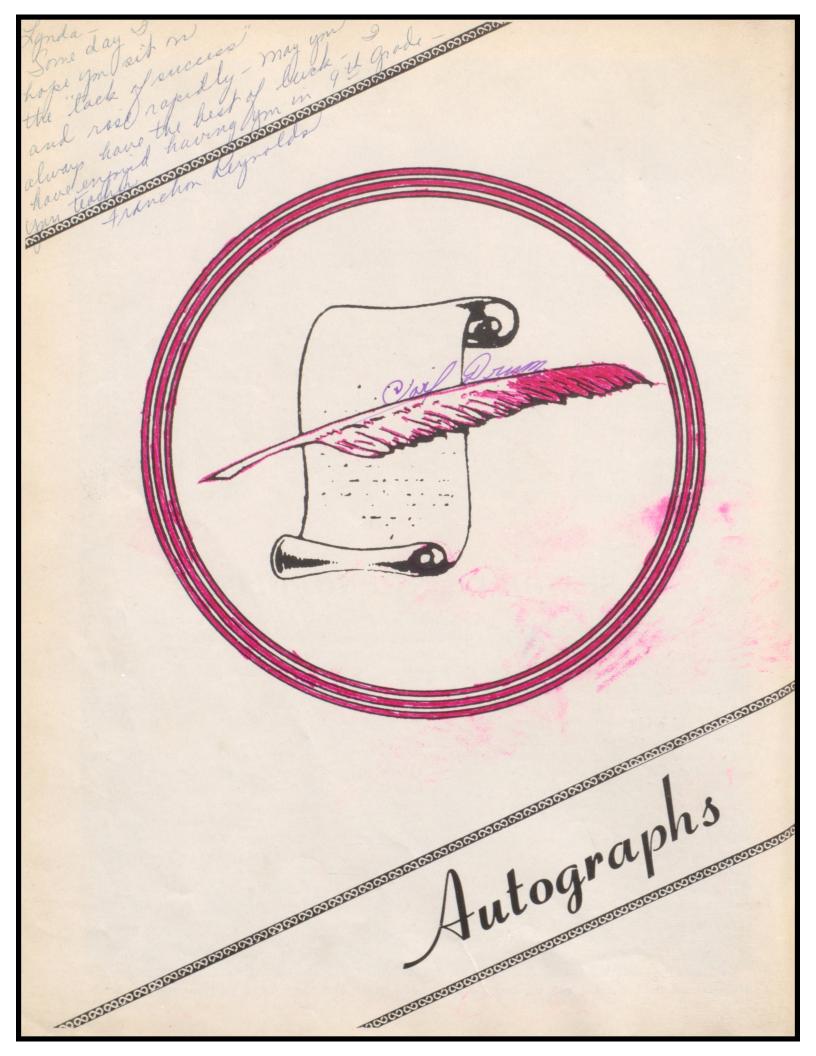

Then I came back over Texas, and I saw Deloris, who is not taking nurse's training and is divorced from Nookie.

Before returning to Washington, I took a trip overseas by the way of California. I flew over Betty in Hollywood, hard at work on a new movie, co-starring Don Loyd, the teenage heart throb.

When I got overseas I saw a sailor, coming closer, I discovered it was Buddy, who is now a Chief "Petting" Officer. A little bird told me that Phyllis was his head secretary.

As I was coming back home, I noticed a beautiful little house. I went down closer and discovered that Vondel had married a Japanese girl, and they were very happy.
