Dedication

I.D. Leftwich is a very important person to the Magazine School District. The high school building is named after Mr. Leftwich due to a substantial monetary contribution to the school during its construction. Mr. Leftwich is still a liberal contributor over many vears.

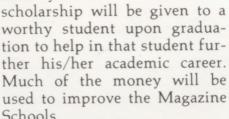

I.D. Leftwich was born in Magazine, Arkansas, on Feb. 13, 1907, to Clarence Charles and Anna May Slade Leftwich. J.D. Leftwich attended Ouachita Baptist College for one year and then moved to the University of Arkansas for three years of study. After college, Mr. Leftwich returned to Magazine to be a cashier at the Bank of Magazine for seven years.

On April 3, 1937, Mr. Leftwich married Miss Gladys West of Dierks, Arkansas. Mrs. Gladys Leftwich was born in Dierks on January 6, 1909. Her parents were William Oscar and Melissa Price West. Mr. and Mrs. Leftwich moved to Lubbock, Texas after their marriage and have lived there since. They have one daughter, Judy Jane Calder, of Boerne, Texas.

Throughout his life, J.D. Leftwich has had many business ventures in various fields. Mr. Leftwich has been an oil distributor for Sinclair Oil Company. He has started the I.D. Leftwich Lumber Company and the J.D. Leftwich Construction Company. Later on, he remained active in his oil interests in Texas, Wyoming, Colorado, the Dakotas and Ohio.

Along with J.D. Leftwich's sizable previous contributions to the Magazine School District he has recently given two contributions, one of $50,000 to be put in the J.D. Leftwich Scholarships Foundation, and one of $12.500 to be used in the I.D. and Gladvs Leftwich Academic Excellence Foundation. Each year a Schools.

The Magazine Community and School District owe a great deal to Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Leftwich for their humble patronage and financial contributions given to better the community and its youth.

The Annual Staff gladly ded icates this yearbook to Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Leftwich for the many contributions they have made to our school.

Faculty Play

The faculty presented a play, "Rest Assured," on October 22, 1992. The proceeds went toward buying new stage curtains for the auditorium.

The play was about Mr. Morlock, a work-aholic, who is shocked into paying more attention to his family when he is visited by a ghost in his dreams.

I can't be dead!

5 minutes!

Oh, my pains!

Oh, honey! You just don't have time for me anymore!

Jr. Play

The Junior Class presented the play, "School for Nerds" on December 10, 1992 for the public. They held performances for the high school and grade school students during the day. The play is about Brawny Preparatory High School, a "jock school," that gets put on probation for its lack of academics. The school registrar brings in a group of five very smart students (nerds) to help bring up the overall test averages. At first, there is a clash between the jocks and nerds, but in the end, the school is saved and the jocks and nerds become friends.

Everyone knows that fund raising takes a lot of time and effort. In terms of fund raising, 1992 was a very good year. The money that is raised by these classes and clubs go to various projects; prom, new computers, carpet, trips, and other things that money is needed for.

Homecoming

OH! Aren't they cute?!

Presenting: Queen Julie

On Friday, November sixth, Julie Beck was crowned the 1992-93 Homecoming Queen by Superintendent Alan Standridge. The Magazine Rattlers were the victors over the Oark Hornets in both games.

The Homecoming candidates were chosen and voted on by the Sr. High Boys basketball team. Each maid was chosen by her own class. The Homecoming ceremony was organized and coordinated by the Sr. High cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs. Diana Branham. They were assisted by the Jr. High cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs. Renee Holt in putting up the decorations.

The cheerleaders held a bonfire on Thursday night, November fifth followed by a honking pep line. They also organized dress-up days during the Homecoming week. The Senior class sponsored a Homecoming dance in the auditorium after the basketball games and ceremony.
