◆ ◆ ◆ by Mount Magazine,

Shrine of all my youthful dreams.

Hallowed halls and peaceful shades,

In my memory always.

Magazine, stand ever nobly.

Many miles away from you

By the depths of Petit Jean,

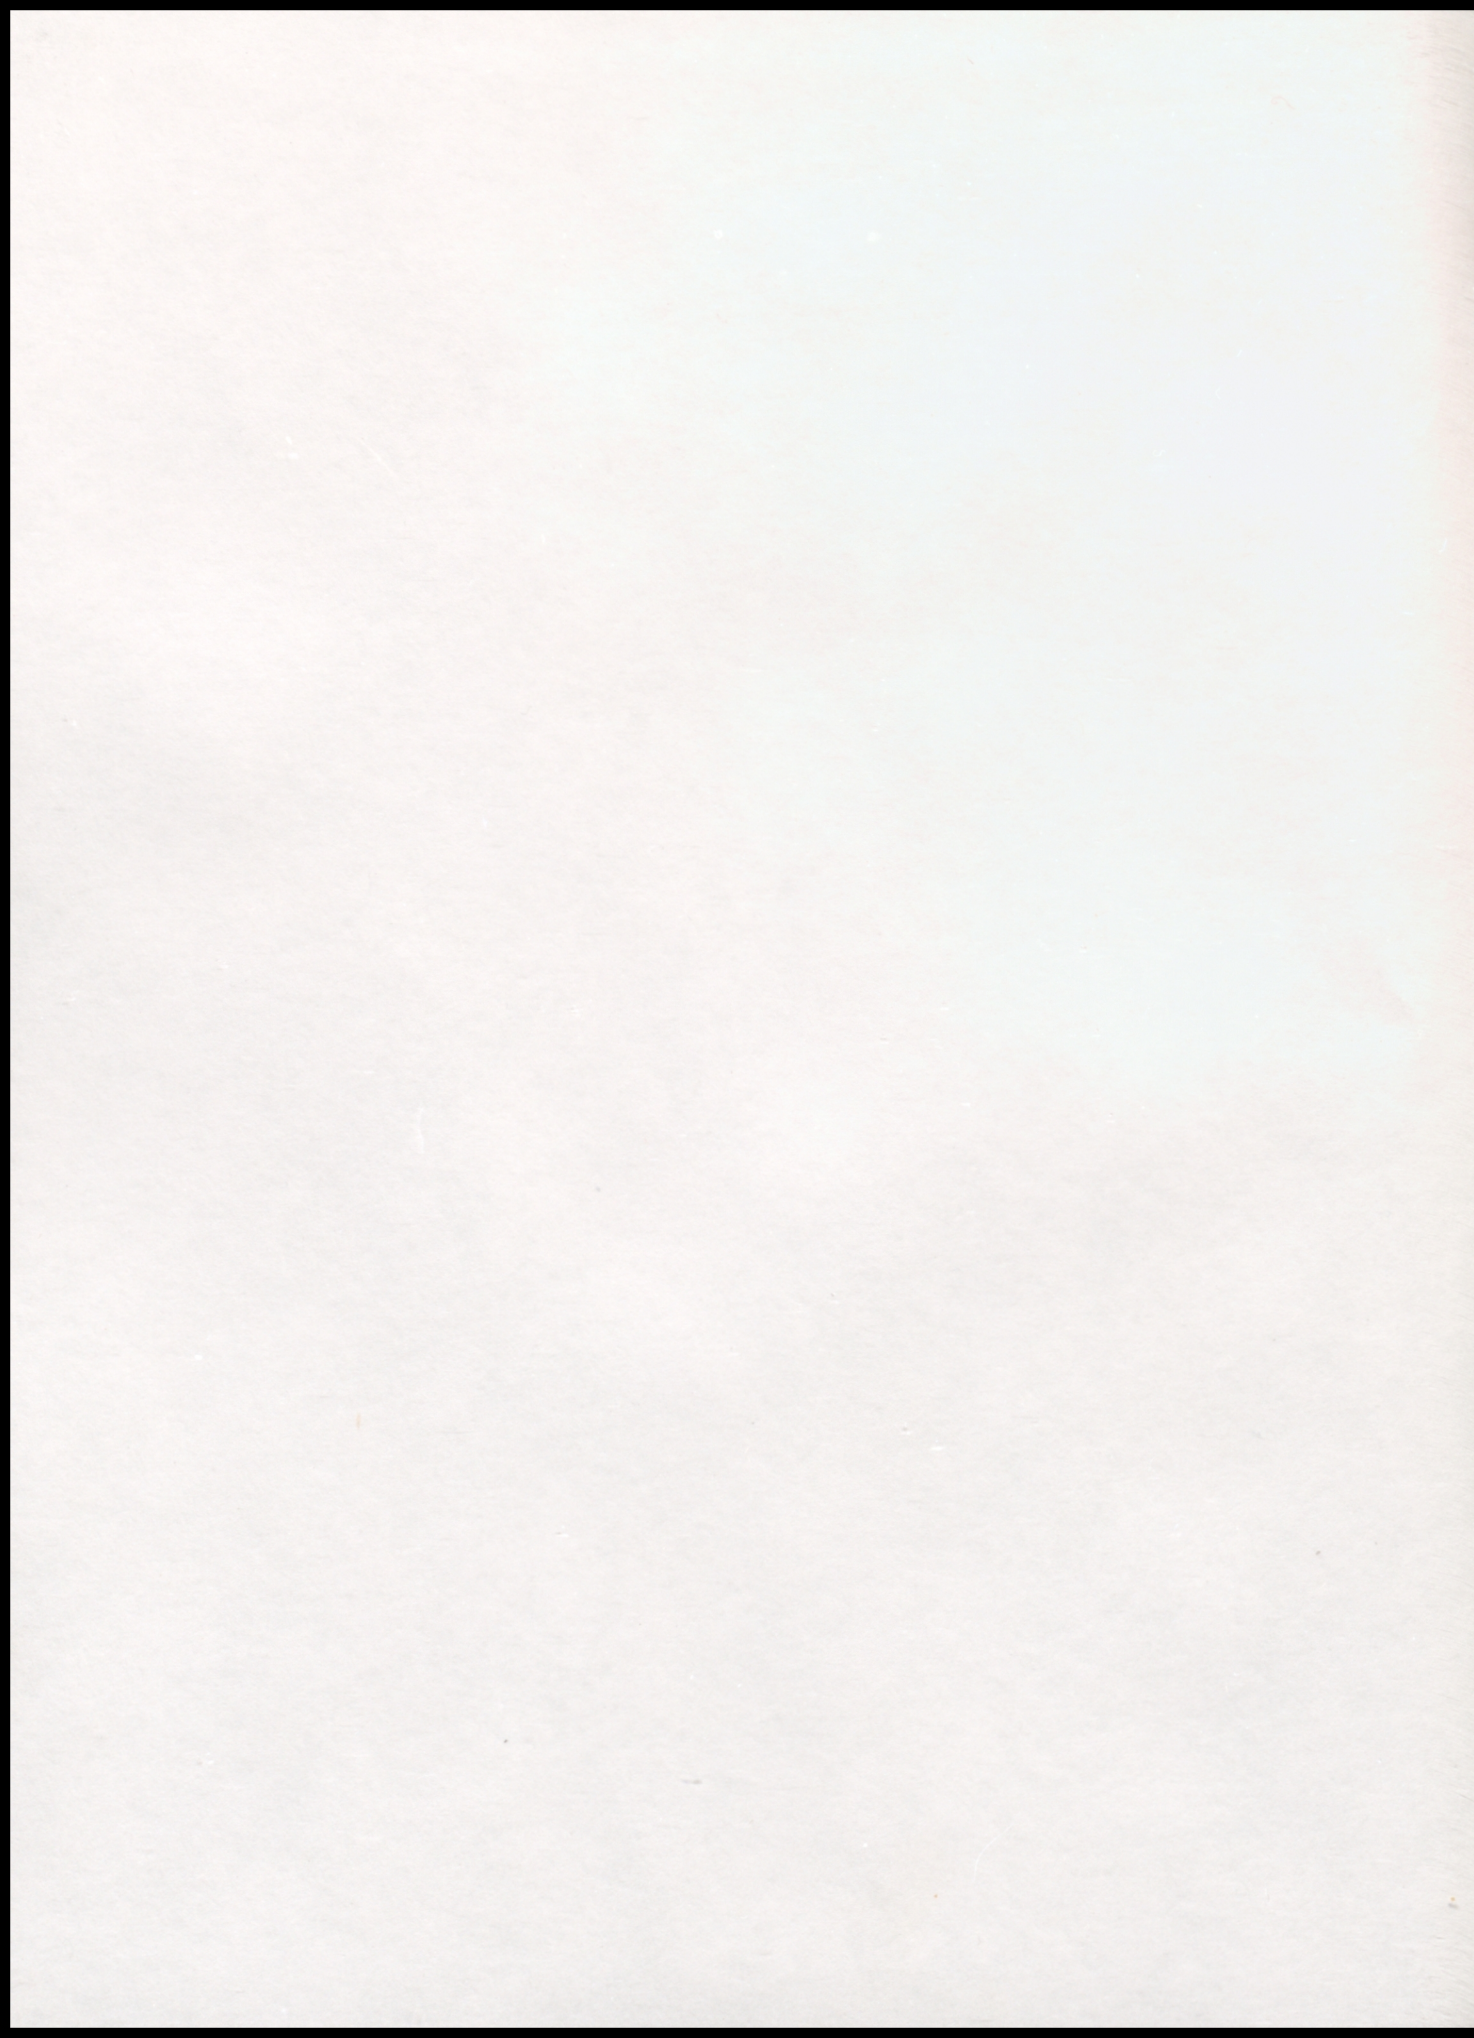

Stands the school of my devotion,

Youthful steps and voices gay,

Keep alive my alma mater

Trust your children to be true,

Even though our lives may lead us

Depths...

Have you ever really considered what the words of our Alma Mater mean? If we took the time to really think about the words we were singing, alumni would be overcome by the urge to reminisce, current students would discover a profound love for this town, this school, and the lives we lead here, and the entire tone with which we sing our song would change forever...

Devotion...

...dedication, patience, time, sweat, hard work and the love of what you do. Many students put in long hours to perform the numerous tasks involved in the extracurricular activities they enjoy. They understand that more will be expected of them, but they are all willing to go the extra mile to keep our clubs, organizations, and sports alive.

Do you think too much emphasis is placed on sports?

Yes. A school is an environment that is designed to support needs of all students.

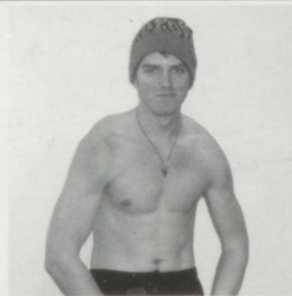

-Cody Moore

Yes. Students will miss anything except ball practice or a game, but it does keep some students involved who might drop out.

-Donna Riddle

No, because I play sports.

-Rusty Huber

Dreams...

Everybody has them. Everybody wants them to be fulfilled. We all want the perfect career, car, home, maybe even the perfect spouse and family if that is the way we choose to go, and money to get the other things we need and want. Although we dream and wish for all these things, for the perfect life, we know that we have to work hard and stay committed to our goals so that our dreams will come to pass. Still, each of us intends to strive to live our dream.

Do you believe most contests within the school are based upon popularity instead of merit?

I think some of it could be, but I also think people put what they really believe.

allowed Halls...

To some--the halls hold memories, to others--they are a place to make them. Our halls proudly show the faces of seniors who have been this way before, and will show the faces of seniors yet to come. They are a place for us to meet and chat with friends. They are our pathways through the present and to the future.

What makes our school unique?

We're like one big family.

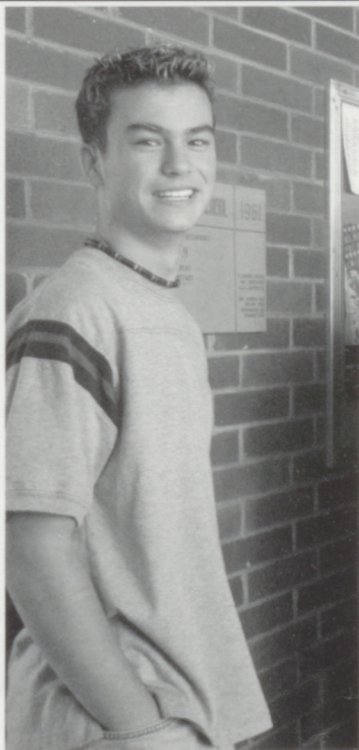

-April Smithson

It's more spirited than any other school I've been to before.

-Cody Moore

Because of our student/teacher ratio, each teacher can give each student more time and attention.

eachful Shades...

Every day, kids relax and rest at the picnic tables in the shade during breaks, getting ready to go back to class and work until they get another break. With all the stress and tension of adolescence, Jr. High students need a place just like that--a place where they can sit back, talk with friends, take their mind off that hard test coming up, and maybe even enjoy a snack.

What is your favorite thing to do at lunch?

Eat, talk, work on homework, and play football.

-Montana Droemer

Talk with friends.

outhful steps...

These younger generations are our future. In the years to come these students will be walking the halls, standing at the picnic table during breaks, playing high school sports, taking classes for credits, getting ready to go out into the world to work and begin adult lives, wondering how time can go by so quickly, remembering all the steps they took to get wherever they end up, and sometimes wishing they could go back.

V oices...

As we look back through our years here, we will always recall the lessons, advice, lectures, and even jokes our mentors shared with us. They have educated, amused, guided, and disciplined us in attempt to push each and every one of us to our full potential. Whatever we achieve in life will be owed to the voices of these educators.

What is your biggest classroom peeve?

When kids say they didn't do it, but they really did.

And now...a word for our sponsors: Trust. The word itself means reliance or faith. We have to trust our local communities & businesses to purchase ads from the yearbook staff year after year in order for us to put this yearbook together. In addition to being a great help to us, those businesses get a little advertisement.

Thanks to all of you who purchased an ad for our yearbook.

Katrina,

We are so proud to have you for our daughter. God has truly blessed us with you. You are beautiful, sweet, smart, talented, and you can do anything you set your mind to do. We know you will go far in life because God is with you. When you walk into a room, your smile brightens up everyone's day.

Thank you Katrina for making so many people happy, especially us.

We love you more than words can say.

Janna,

There are no words to express the love and joy you bring to our hearts and lives every day. You are a beautiful young lady and we are very proud of you. We have every confidence you will achieve any goals you set in life.

We love you,
Dad, Mom, and Jordan

Coty,

From the day you were born, you had your own independence. Whether you are fishing, driving big trucks in the mud, wading creeks with Brent, riding your bike with Josh, playing with your doll with Daddy, or just sitting pretty for a picture...you will always be "our little girl" even if you're a "Rebel" 'n proud of it!

Just remember, boys have been a part of your childhood, and men will be a part of your adulthood, but they have to "pass" the big brother test, and that's before Dad and Uncle Butch.

Mom, Dad, and Joshua

Grandma, Grandpa, Granny Belle, Grandpa Garland, Aunt Sharon, and Uncle Brent are looking down on you from Heaven, too!

Ever since you were old enough to walk, you followed your daddy around asking if you could help do whatever he was doing. You haven't changed. You are still the best helper in the whole world. You are the joy of our lives. You've made us so proud.

I've been so fortunate to have you for a son. I love the way your eyes dance when you tell a story. Your quirky sense of humor is so much fun. It amazes me that you are always the first one to find the comedy in every situation.

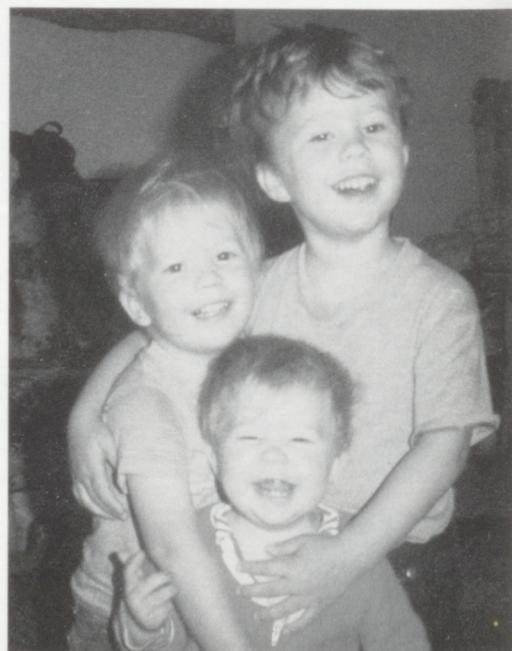

You know you were a surprise, and your brothers have teased you unmercifully about us not wanting you. But I have to tell you son, that when the LORD decided to give you to me, in HIS infinite wisdom, HE gave me exactly what I wanted.

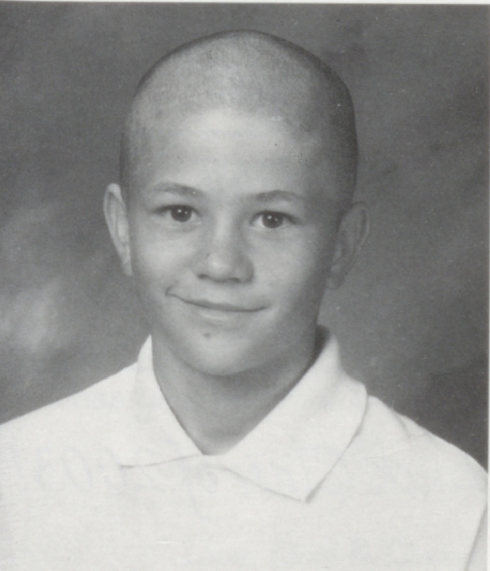

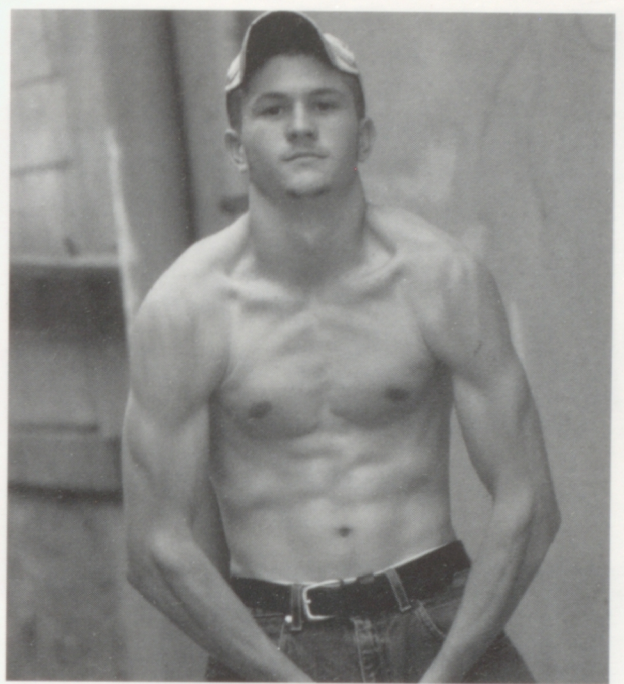

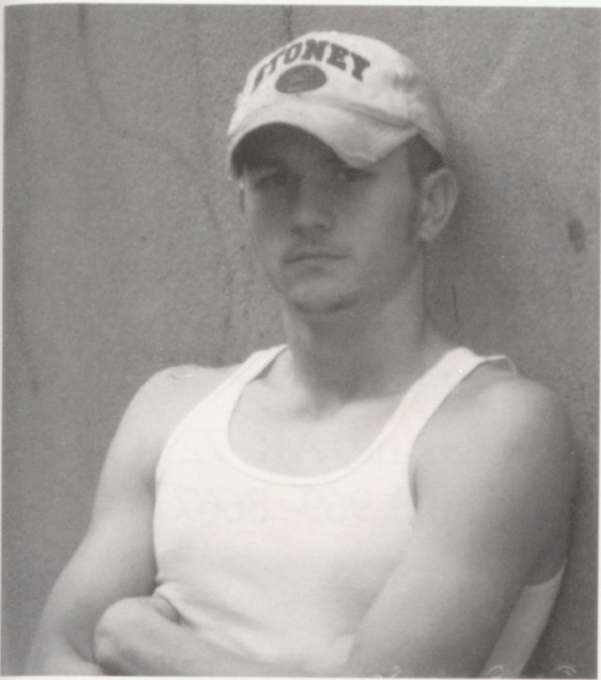

HE gave me you.

Can you believe it! This pretty little girl is a senior now. Time goes by so fast, so we have to remember what is most important. We are so very proud of this senior. God bless you, Aleshia. We love you very much.

Love, Dad & Caren

To Dad...with Love

When I was brought into this world, you were one of the first faces I saw, one of the first to hold me. You took on the responsibility of becoming a father...my father. You have made choices that hurt, that I didn't understand. But now I see why and I know you've raised me the best way you could, with love, care, discipline, and sometimes distance, too. Thank you for always having your arms out to comfort, teach, guide, and protect me.

No matter what obstacles our relationship has to face, Dad, I will always love you.

Go Rattlers!!

After twenty-eight years of dedicated service to the students of Magazine Schools, Mrs. Winston Johnson retired at the end of the 2000-01 school year. Winston had been the School District's Food Services Director for the entire twenty-eight years. Mrs. Johnson will be remembered as a very efficient manager whose oversight of the lunch program resulted in healthy and tasty meals for students and staff at all times.

In addition to being the School Food Service Director, Winston has been one of the most ardent supporters of the school athletic teams. Whether at home or away, Winston's voice has been a familiar part of the sights and sounds of the athletic experience for several generations of Rattlers.

The Diamondback staff wishes Mrs. Johnson well as she enjoys her retirement on the farm her husband, Bud, operates. We know that, as her great-grandchildren are active in school activities, she will continue to be a part of the "Rattler Scene."

Mrs. Frankie Sue Seamans has announced her intention to retire at the end of the 2001-02 school year. Mrs. Seamans has been a faculty member at Magazine Elementary School for twenty-four years. She holds a BS degree from the College of The Ozarks and a Master of Education degree from Arkansas Tech University. Mrs. Seamans has served as the school's coordinator of gifted and talented education for several years. She is also certified as a reading specialist and has worked in that capacity with the school's Title 1 program.

Students remember Mrs. Seamans' humor and her frequent attacks of laryngitis. She and her husband, Doyle, purchased a home near Magazine a few years ago and moved here from Greenwood. They have been loyal supporters of Magazine students and valued members of the school staff.

The Diamondback staff extends to Mrs. Seamans their best wishes for a long and happy retirement.

James

Isaacs

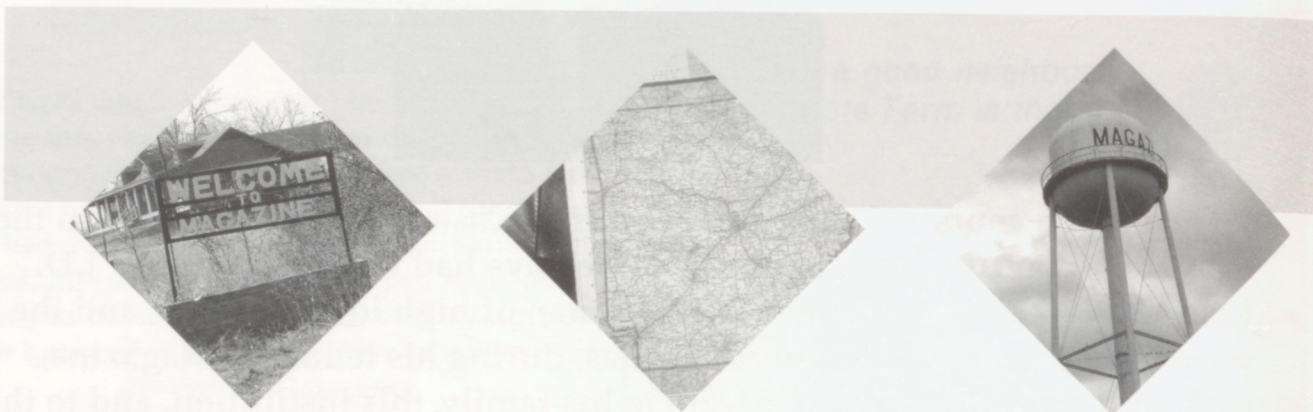

During the course of a lifetime, you are occasionally blessed to be in the company of a truly great individual. We have had that rare honor at J.D. Leftwich High School. James Isaacs, a man of high ideals, vision, and the passion to put thoughts into action, has, during his tenure at Magazine, brought respect, pride, and esteem to his family, this institution, and to the community.

Mr. Isaacs was born to Mr. & Mrs. John Isaacs on June 23, 1951, and has lived in the Magazine area all of his life. He graduated from J.D. Leftwich High School in 1969 and went on to receive a BSA degree from ASU at Jonesboro in 1973 and an MSE degree from the University of Central Arkansas in 1989. He and his wife, Sandra, were married in 1972. He was ordained to the ministry at Reveille Primitive Baptist Church in November 1975, where he still serves as pastor. His first child, Trina, was born in 1975, to be followed in the coming years by Carrie and Jake, all of whom have now graduated from J.D. Leftwich High School.

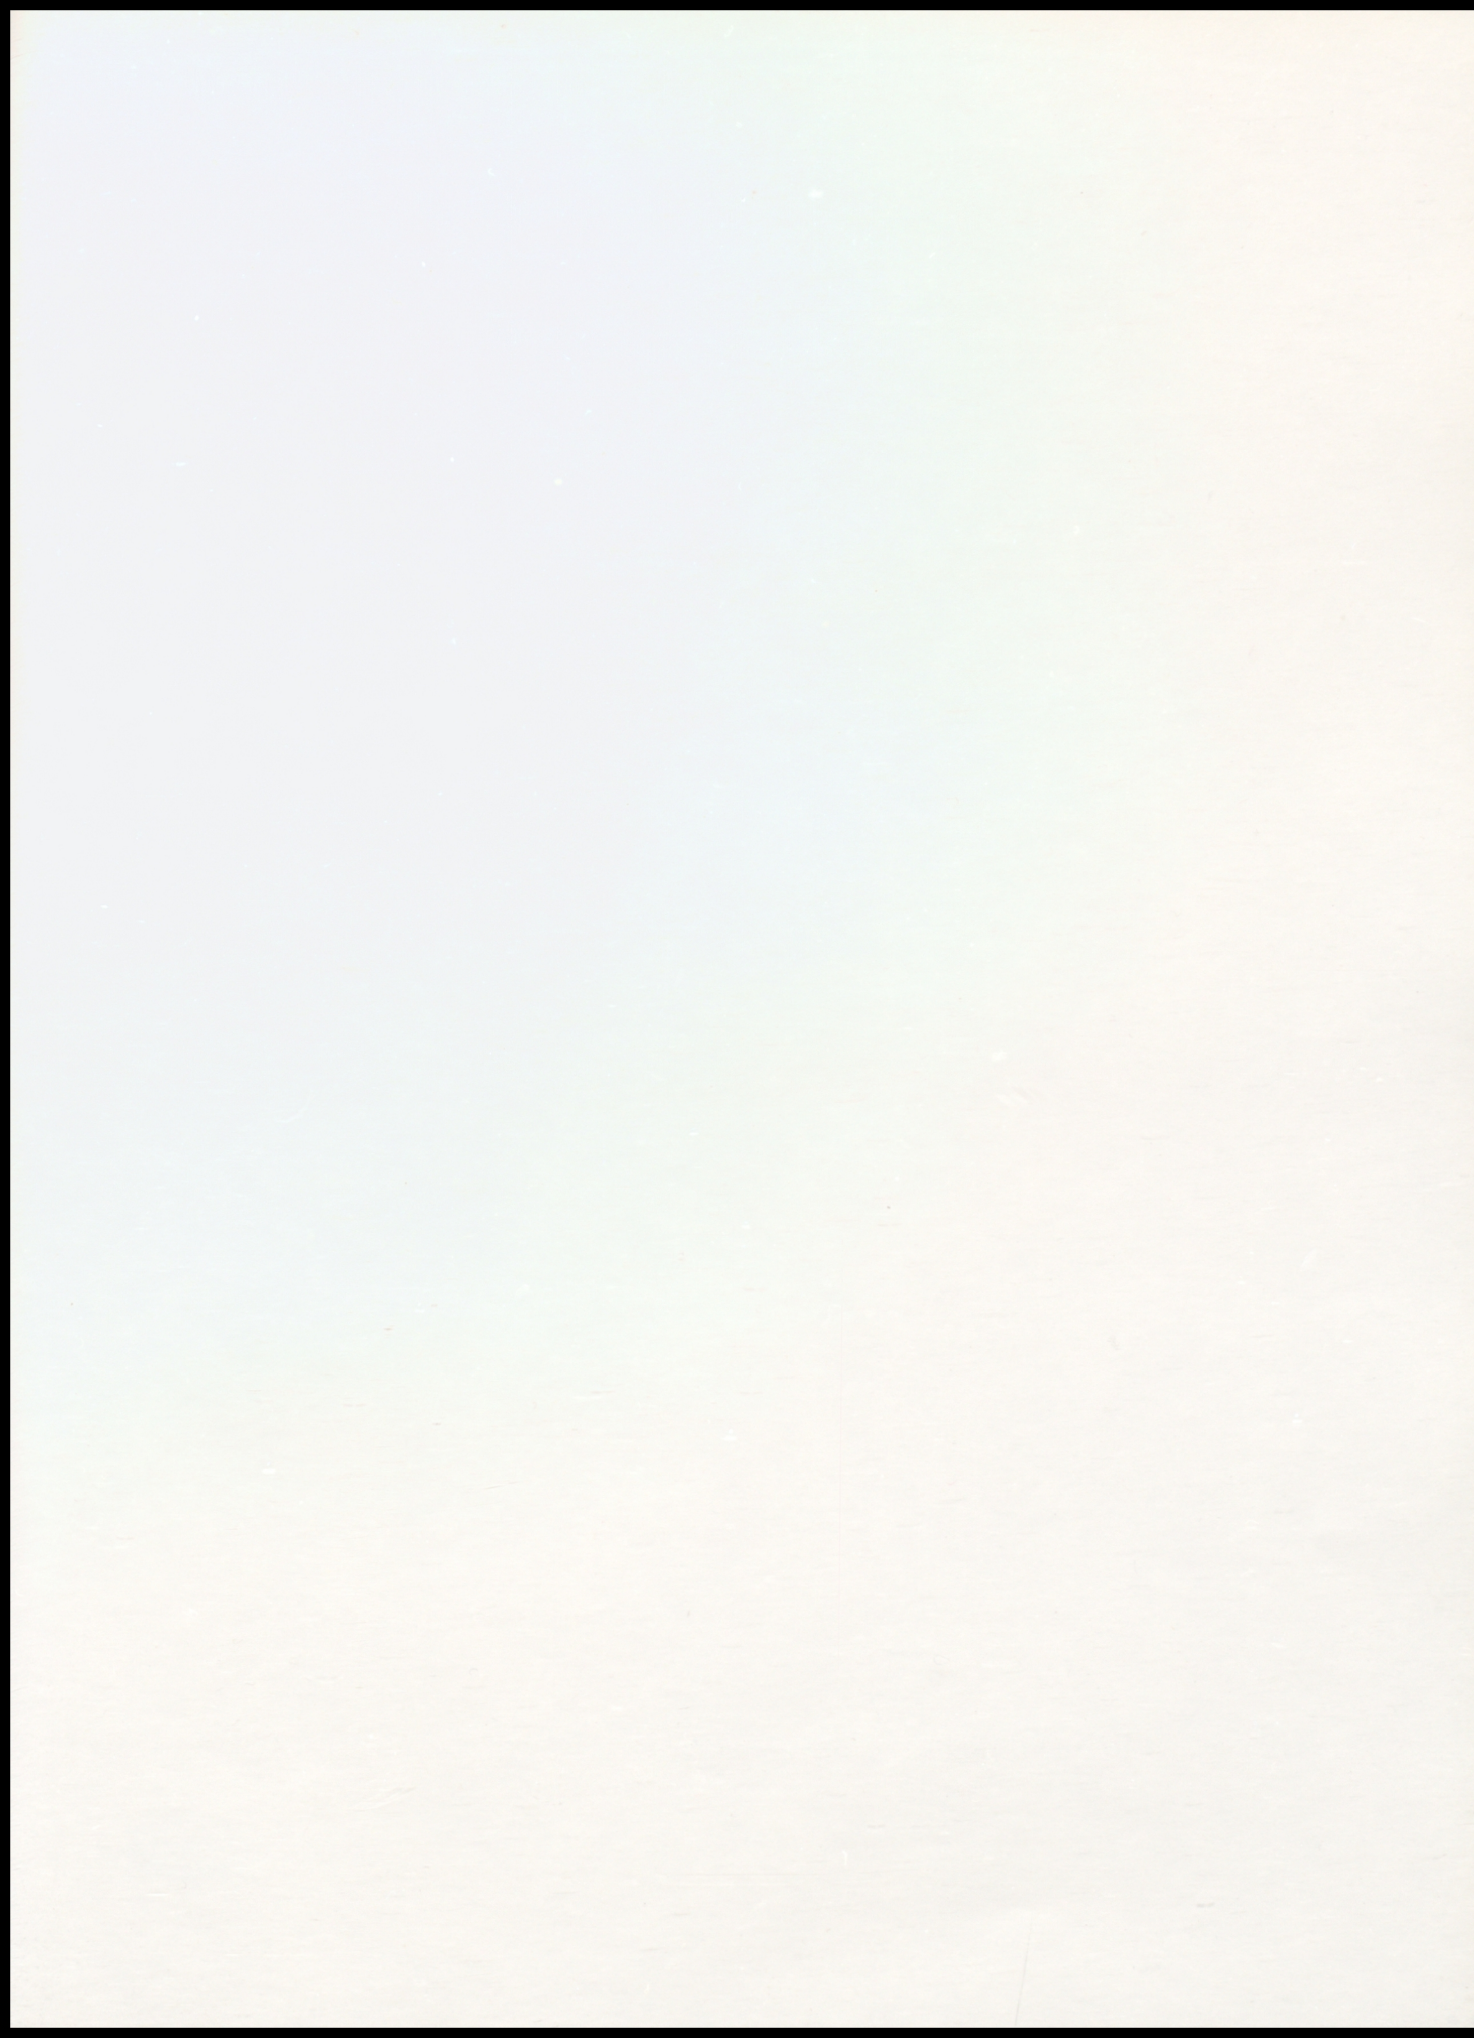

Mr. Isaacs began his teaching career at J.D. Leftwich High School in the 1970's, and went on to serve as the high school principal from 1987 until 1994, before taking over the helm as superintendent.

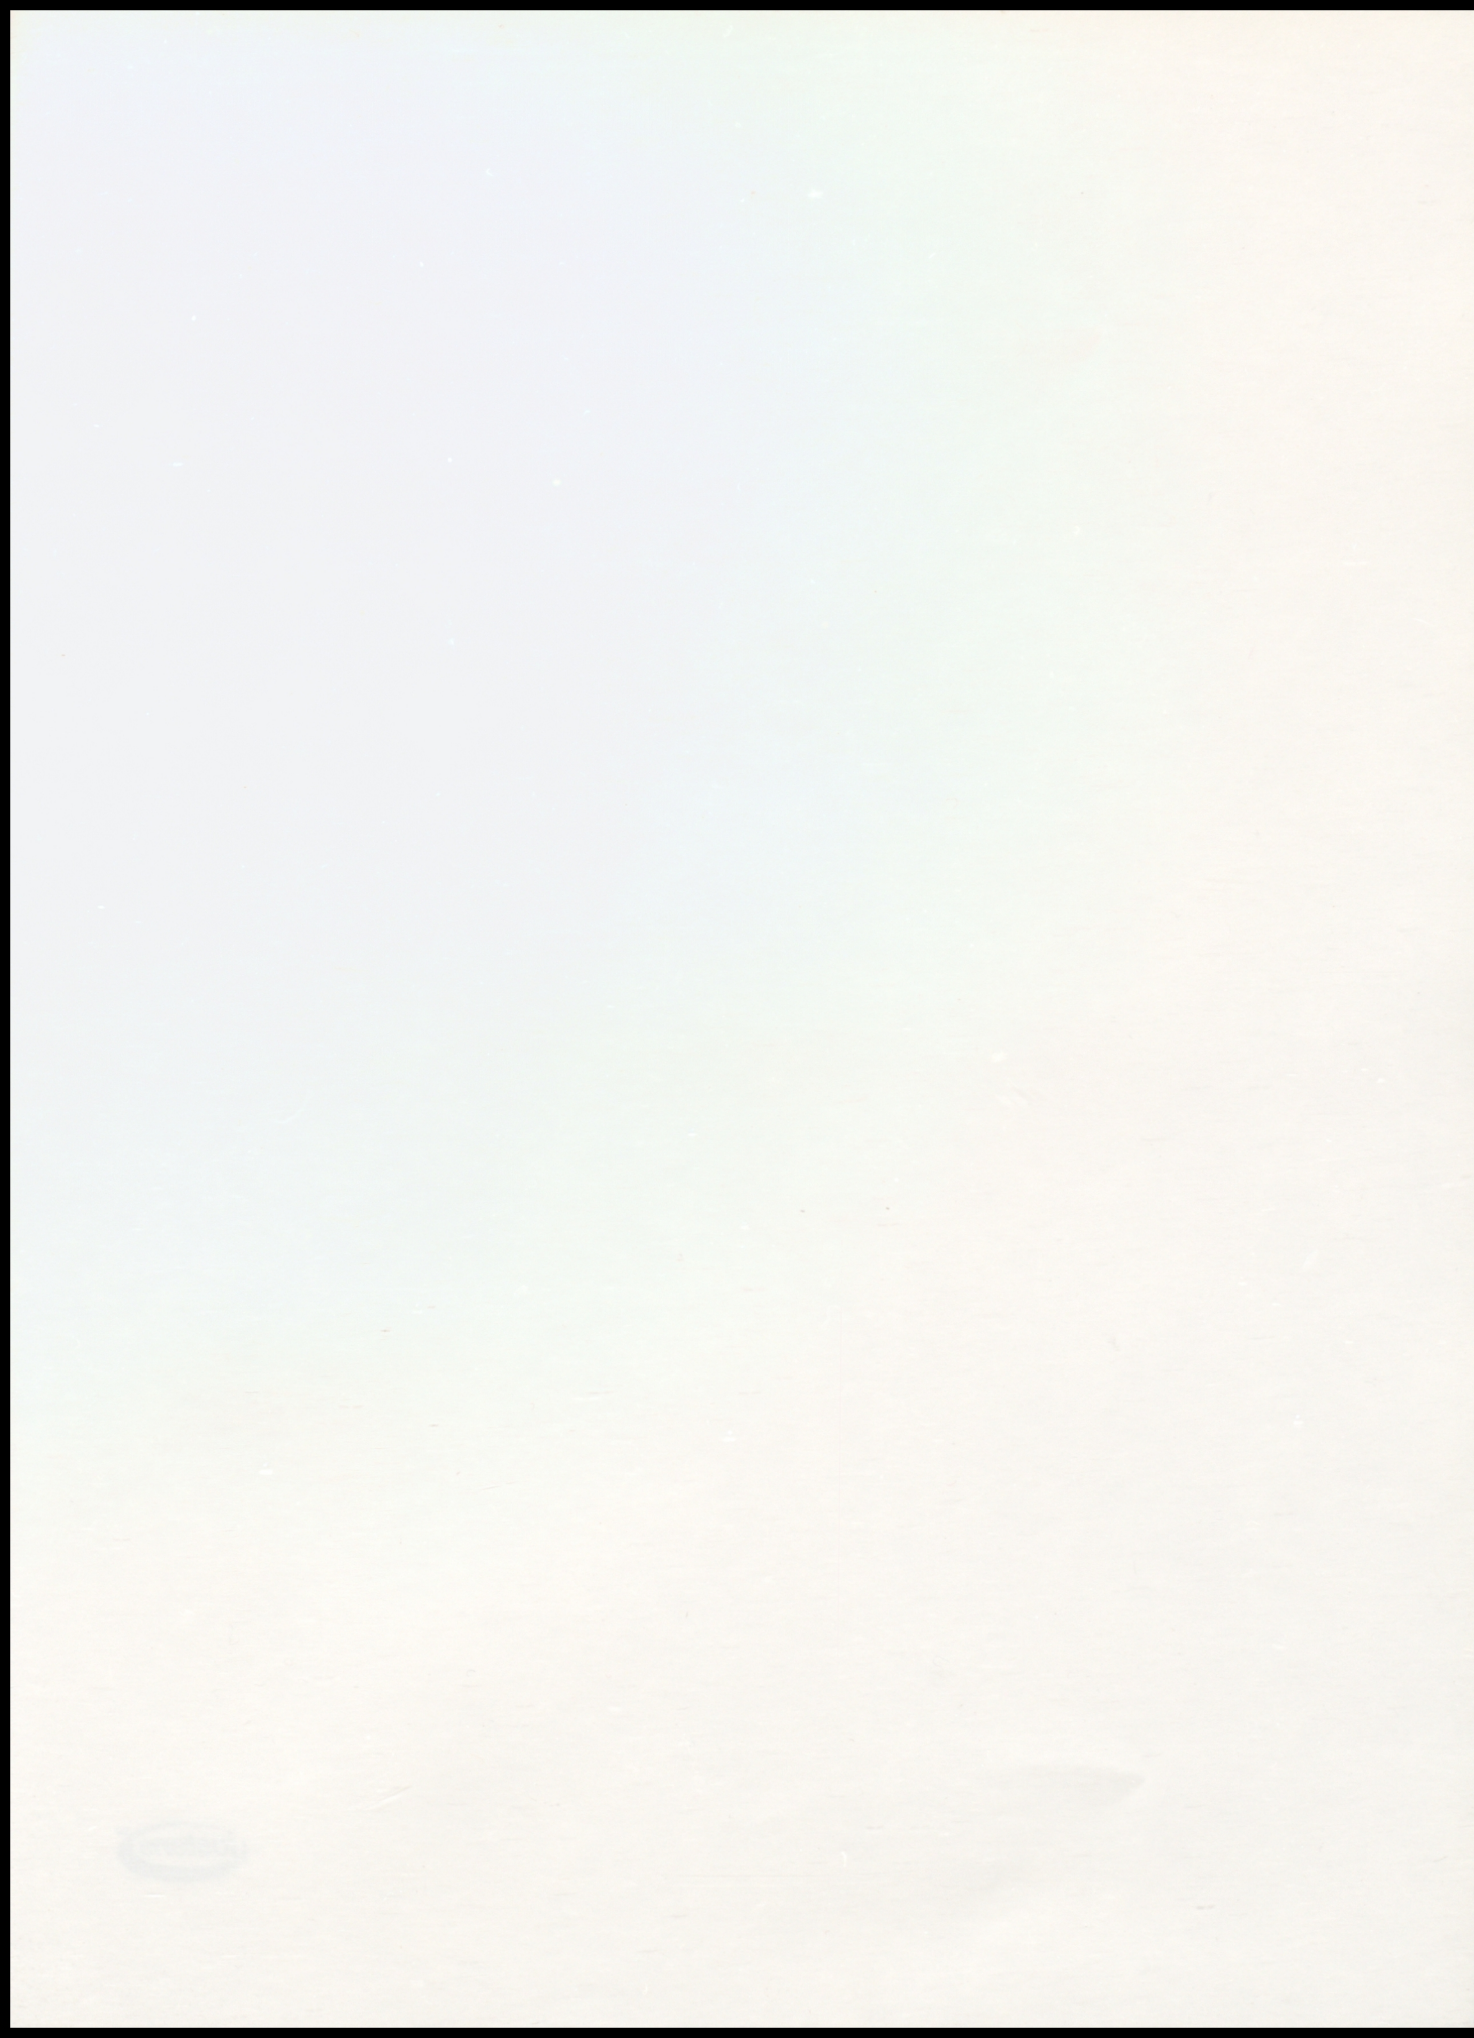

A few notable contributions as superintendent include the additions of a marching band, varsity football, a new science and technology building, and numerous other building projects, but what distinguished him earlier in his career was the ability to lead, guide, and direct students down a pathway toward success as evidenced by an annual award (James Isaacs Chemistry Award) being given to the outstanding student in chemistry each spring. This dedication is written to honor a man who has given so much time, energy, and effort to our schools. The Diamondback staff gladly dedicates this yearbook to James Isaacs.

True...

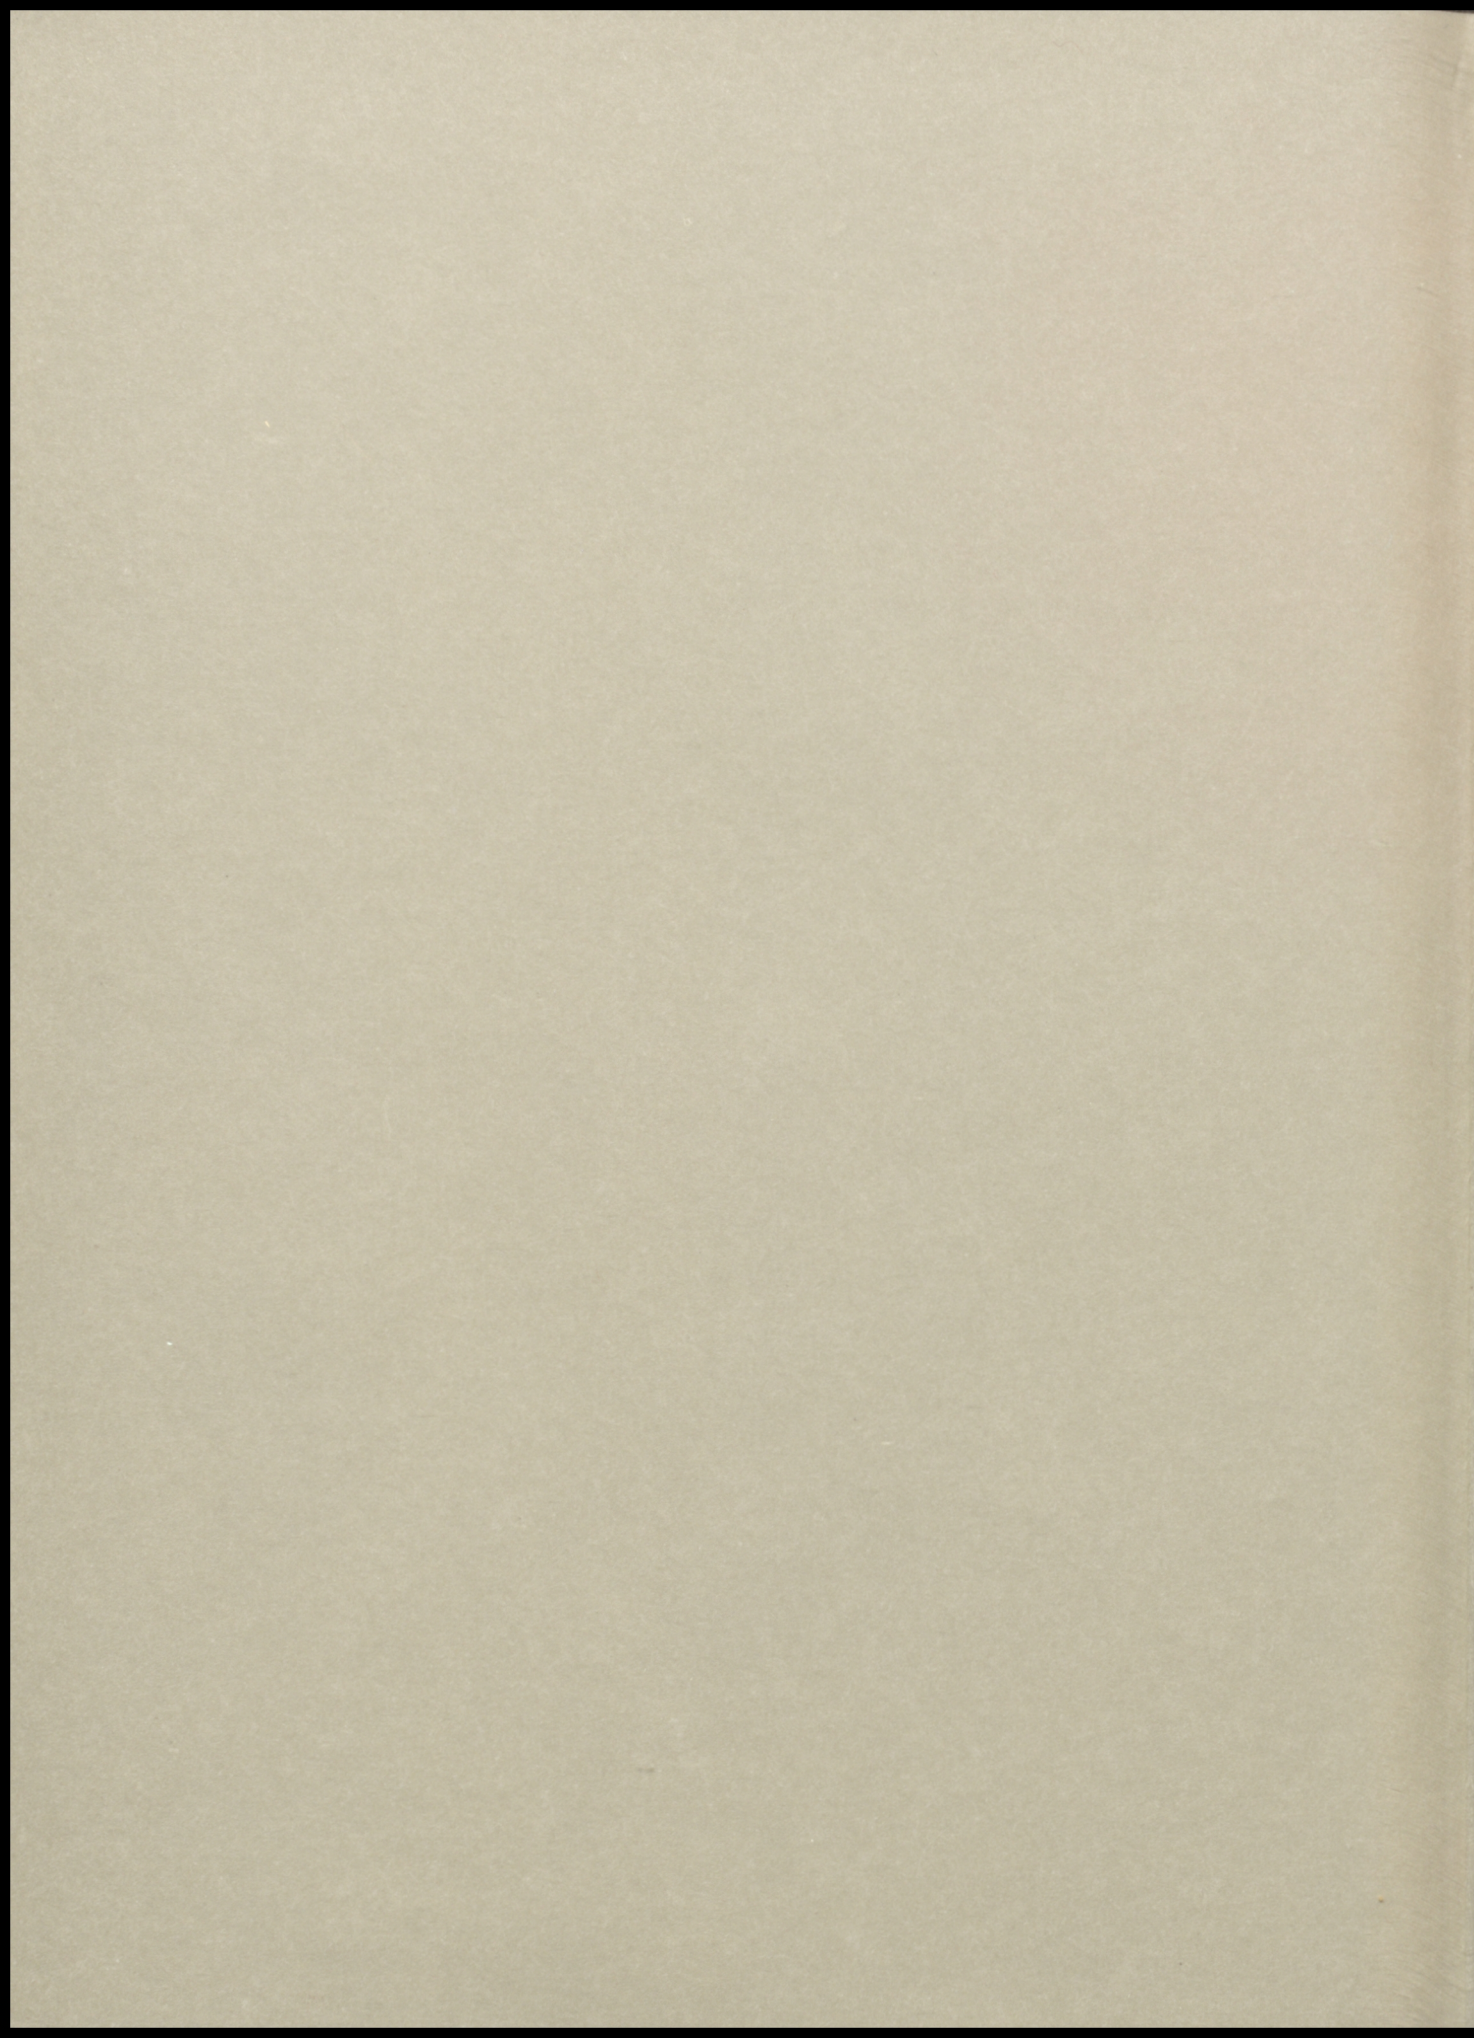

Even though our lives may lead us many miles away from you, we will always return to your shadow..into the walls of this school that taught us everything we know, into the arms of this loving community that supported us through our childhood and adolescence, into the heart of this town, that always offered us a place we could call home, and into the lives of our friends and families who offered us warmth and love.
