

Pre AP World Geography Country Project: Australia

This project is intended to give a deeper look into a specific country or region in the world. Using the sources of information provided, you will create a brochure that informs the reader about the major aspects of the assigned country (Australia). The final product should be as informative and accurate as it is creative and eye catching.

The Final Product can be either be digitally produced or hand drawn. Brochures will be graded for creativity and neatness so use the method that will give you the best result. The brochure should include all of the following divided into six different panels:

The Travel Brochure Information

- 1) A title page/front cover which introduces your country with the name: Australia, images of the flag, and YOUR NAME AND CLASS PERIOD.
- 2) A history section including:
 - i. 5 Major events that shaped the country
 - ii. 3 Significant people from the country's history
 - iii. 3 Locations of historical significance
- 3) A description the cultural aspects of your country. These sections should show/discuss: major religions, food, ethnicities, and any special clothing/holidays/practices/etc. Include both written descriptions as well as pictures and images.
- 4) A portion should be dedicated to the economy including resources and the level of development of your nation. This should include things such as: GDP statistics, currency type and exchange rate to US $, and major resources and exports.
- 5) A description of the government of the country. What type of government system do they have, what are the major leadership positions (i.e. President, Prime Minister, etc.), who is the current head of state, and how they elect their officials.
- 6) A description of the climate and major physical geographic features/landforms in the region. Include information like average temperature and rainfall, the climate zones, and unique environmental and physical features.

The above guidelines are not the limit of information that you can include. Any additional information you include helps you create a better final product.
