

On Saturday I went over to Ella's for a sleep-over. First when I got there we played until 5:00. Then we did all of our makeup for Joe's Halloween party. When we came back from the party, we played in Ella's room. By then it was 12:00 pm. I went into Ella's closet and fell asleep. "Sh, don't wake her up!" Ella whispered. I woke up at the sound of her voice. I looked at her sleepily and saw she had a marker in her hand. She giggled. "What did you do to me?" I asked.

She giggled again and knew she was up to something. I got up and looked into the mirror. She had drawn a mustache on me! "Don't do that again" I said but it was kind-of funny. I looked at the time. It was 1:00 in the morning. We went on to YouTube and watched videos and by then it was 4:00 AM. We were all feeling tired so we went to bed. By the time we woke up it in front of a movie. We looked and saw that we all had mustaches.

Ella had marker all over her face!
We washed off our mustaches and went to see the horses in her barn. We saw the horses and then mine and Kusha's Mom came to pick us up. I was super fun! When I got home I bragged in Skye's face and she thought she had fun at her friends sleep-overs.