

13 and Under Permission for Web 2.0 Tools

Teachers may use web 2.0 tools to enhance student learning. Some of these tools require parent permission for use by students under 13 years of age.

COPPA applies any time personal information of children under the age of 13, such as a student's name and email address, is collected by a website operator. Under COPPA, these websites must provide parental notification and obtain verifiable parental consent before collecting personal information from children under the age of 13. The law permits schools to consent to the collection of personal information on behalf of parents of students, thereby eliminating the need for individual parental consent given directly to the website operator.

To keep a positive learning environment, your child's teachers will monitor student conduct to the best of their ability. While on these sites, students should not include comments that could endanger the safety of him/himself or class members. Students should not post personal information including but not limited to name, address and schedule.

The list on the back of this paper includes web 2.0 tools that your child may use throughout the school year. A running list of tools can be found on the Parkside Technology COPPA website. Teachers will add to the list as new resources become available.

Parkside School Student:

I understand that my parent or legal guardian has given the school permission for me to use these web 2.0 tools. While on these sites, I will not include information that may endanger my safety or the safety of my classmates.
