

Parent and Family Engagement and Communication

At Renaissance Academy Charter School of the Arts, our relationship and communication with families is one of our top priorities. We recognize the home-school relationship as a crucial partnership in support of our students' academic, behavioral and social growth.

There are various ways we may seek to engage families in the classroom and school-wide. It's important for classroom teachers to reach out to families early in the school year to establish communication routines. Renaissance Academy employs a Family Services Coordinator to work closely with all stakeholders to ensure that the concerns of parents and community members are addressed.

Listed below are a number of ways Renaissance Academy has and will continue to engage and reach out to our families and school community:

1. Bi-monthly parent newsletter
2. December "Night Out for Parents"
3. Monthly ARTS Award Ceremonies
4. Title I & Curriculum nights
5. Parent-Teacher conferences
6. Arts Integration in Action Night
7. Coffee and Conversation
8. Field Trips
9. Email communication
10. School-wide Robocalls
