School Choice Matters

School Choice is in the spotlight in Ohio and across the country. It is more important than ever for people to hear why school choice matters. If you have a parent or a student that would be willing to share their story that would be great. When parents and children share their story, it can be a powerful tool in helping others understand the impact educational choice has already made in the lives of Ohio students. Responses will be used to illustrate the impact that School Choice makes for students and families as the Ohio legislature debates the issue of school choice in our state.

Will you forward to your families so they can share their school choice story?
