2013 Tiger Football

Is Commerce High School Football team weak? Apparently not ,because Commerce is currently undefeated. They continue to work hard year after year, and their work ethic pays off. Other teams may think they are big and bad until they face Commerce, but we won't roll over and let them win. We are looking forward to continuing our winning tradition throughout the 2013 season.

TIGER CHEER

On Saturday, September 28th, the CHS cheer squad traveled to Union High School in Tulsa to compete in the regional competition. The competitors in class 2A were Afton, Hominy, Fairland, Quapaw, Weleetka, Ketchum and Commerce. At the end of the day Quapaw finished in third, Fairland in second, and Commerce walked away with the regional title.

The following Saturday the girls traveled to Stillwater to compete in the state cheerleading competition. Commerce competed in 2A with 17 other squads. They performed their hearts out and did the very best they could. They placed second in the state competition. The girls also received state academic champion with a squad GPA of 3.84.

Commerce Softball

The 2013 softball season started off a little rough for the Lady Tigers considering they lost five key players from the previous year. In the last weeks of August they started coming out on top. The Lady Tigers began their streak with a home conference win against Fairland and on to stay undefeated in conference beating Ketchum and Afton. The Lady Tigers went on to win the Wyandotte tournament, and won several games after that. Districts was held at Oklahoma Union, and they played their hearts out. It was best 2 out of 3 games, and the lady tigers went 1-1 the first day, but couldn't quite come out on top the next. Their season ended in Oklahoma Union.

2013 Big 12 Football Predictions

1. Oklahoma State University

6. Kansas State University

2. Texas Christian University

7. Texas Tech

3. University of Oklahoma

8. University of West Virginia

4. University of Texas

9. Iowa State University

8. University of Baylor

10. University of Kansas

2013 is shaping up to be an interesting year in the Big 12. Kansas State claimed the conference title in 2012, but a new champion should be expected next season. Oklahoma tied the Wildcats for the Big 12's top spot, but the Sooners must replace quarterback Landry Jones, as well as a handful of key defenders. The Wildcats face similar problems, but coach Bill Snyder will find a way for K-State to stay in the hunt.

With Oklahoma and Kansas State expected to take a step back next season, look for Oklahoma State and TCU to emerge as the conference's top teams. The Cowboys had to replace quarterback Brandon Weeden and receiver Justin Blackmon but still possessed one of college football's top offenses. The Horned Frogs finished 7-6 in their first year in the Big 12 and return 10 starters on defense for 2013. Quarterback Casey Pachall is back after leaving the team in early October due to off-the-field issues.

Texas is the Big 12's wildcard team for next season. The Longhorns have the talent to compete for the conference crown but need improved quarterback play to finish higher in the standings next year.
