Wakefield High School

Alma Mater

In the heart of the United States,
In sunny Kansas land,
Where the Republican's blue waters
Slowly wash their silvery strand,
There resting in the valley
Is our old Wakefield town,
And from its stately, throne-like hill,
Our High School dear looks down.

Oh, Wakefield High! Oh, Wakefield High!
The Alma Mater of our youth;
Oh, Wakefield High! Oh, Wakefield High!
We reverence thee in truth.

When our high school days have reached the end,
And we knock at life's door,
Still fondest memories will linger
Round that old High School of yore,
The colleges should beckon,
And we haste to their call,
Were it not for our High School dear,
We wouldn't be there at all.

"The time has come when we must part and go out to start careers of our own. We must face all life's demands and learn to stand. We'll never forget the good times and all the fun we've had through our high school days. It will stay in our hearts and you will see, there'll be a time for us."
