The screenshot shows the Gmail login interface. A white arrow points from the text 'Full email address' to the 'Username' input field, which contains the example 'pat@example.com'. Another white arrow points from the text 'Mail.google.com' to the Gmail logo. The browser's address bar shows the URL: `https://www.google.com/accounts/ServiceLogin?service=mail&passive=true&rm=false&continue=https%3A%2F%2F`. The page features the Gmail logo, a headline 'A Google approach to email.', and a list of features: 'Lots of space' (7613.963571 MB), 'Less spam', and 'Mobile access'. A 'Sign in with your Google Account' box is on the right, containing fields for 'Username' and 'Password', a 'Sign in' button, and a link for 'Can't access your account?'. At the bottom, there is a 'Latest News from Gmail' section with a link to 'New in Labs: Preview Pane' and social media follow links.

Gmail™ by Google

A Google approach to email.

Gmail is built on the idea that email can be more intuitive, efficient, and useful. And maybe even fun. After all, Gmail has:

- Lots of space
Over 7613.963571 megabytes (and counting) of free storage.
- Less spam
Keep unwanted messages out of your inbox.
- Mobile access
