HERMON HIGH SCHOOL

Hermon High '04- '05

"The roots of education are bitter,
but the fruit is sweet."
-Aristotle

Dedication

We dedicate this yearbook to a person who has spent the last 16 years teaching and caring for her students and friends at Hermon High School. Nancy Connolly began her career here as a Reading Specialist. Her teaching responsibilities were eventually expanded to include all aspects of English. Mrs. Connolly has witnessed and dealt with many changes in education over the years, and she's handled them all with thoughtfulness and grace.

Mrs. Connolly, we are pleased to recognize all you have done, and continue to do, for your students. Your patience and readiness to help us with a subject that doesn't come easy for many of us are very much appreciated. In addition, your years of service are evidence of your belief in us as individuals and as a school community. Thank you for being a wonderful teacher and a great friend.

To my hommies, Travis F, Darren R, Moody, Big C-Man, Cody S, Andy C, all of them folks who I spend some of my day with Sarah, OK it was me who Im'ed you. I would like to begin with my best friend of 11 years, Mike Hutchinson. Since 6th grade you've been like my personal walking, talking, self-feeding assignment book, and knowing my organizational skills and strange forgetfulness, I wouldn't have been able to play school for all these years without you. I thank Aaron Fish for being a good friend since you moved here in 8th grade. You've listened to me whine lots more than other mere humans can tolerate and you've been supportive at the same time. I thank Cassie White and Alayna White. Cassie, you and I have a unique relationship-between all of our arguing and cordiality, I don't think I'll forget you for a long time. I also thank Chris Garcelon for beating me in chess every time I've played you. I thank Jen Cousins. I've only lived with you half a year, but we already know each other well and you've let me talk about things that other people would cringe to hear me say. I thank my sister, Sarah Manning. You're my best friend at home and you have helped me through many things. Finally, I thank my parents. Without a stable life at home I probably wouldn't be able to handle the everyday stresses that come with school, nor would I have an example to follow of how I should be pragmatic and easy going.

Valaree Charloux

These past four years at Hermon really have gone by with such a blink of an eye. Honestly, I can say that I will not miss high school, but I will never forget the good or the bad times spent inside and out of school during that time. I couldn't have asked for a better friend than Ellysea Morrill. She was always there for me and we had some great times during cheering and Anatomy class. There were only a few classes that I enjoyed to attend. One being Health Occupations - Brenda clinical was a hoot with you there. Second, Algebra/ Trigonometry - Craig and Heather, I'm going to miss drawing Hello Kitty with you guys. Let's not forget Cherie with all of her crushes, especially Langie - she's the only one who could tell you he was wearing new pants! Then there are my parents. They supported me through my accomplishments and failures. Lastly, I want to thank Josh, the man I love with all my heart. He made me realize that slacking off and being lazy was not the way to get anywhere. He taught me to be aggressive and take action if I wanted to pursue my dreams. With him, I also learned you need to have patience because not everything will come with the snap of your fingers. I want to thank him for standing by me and guiding me through the last stretch of high school because I don't know where I would be without his love and support.

Thanks to Mom and Dad for supporting me and helping me to make it through these past four years. I don't think I would have made it without you two there to guide me. Thanks to my brother Eddie for the rides to school on snowy days and for forcing me to do all those homework assignments that seemed pointless at the time. Thank you Mr. Marzilli for letting us gather in homeroom and for acting like you liked us and btw, stay off our heater! Special thanks to Madam for allowing us to vent during French class and for always being there to listen to our problems. MH, KP, HM, CM, CC, DP, DR: it is going to be hard not starting our day in Mr. Marzilli's window scrambling to finish homework and "commenting" on all the people coming into the building. Also, Dad you may not know it but you have taught me a lot of important lessons that needed to be learned. Even though we don't get to see each other as often as I wish I want you to know that you still have played a very important role in my life. The person in which I am most grateful is my Papa. Without him I wouldn't be the person that I am. He has taught me to be an opinionated adolescent, (a smaller version of himself, even if he denies it.) Also, my sister, Katie, which is living the life that I wish to one day possess. I want to thank Midge, Bill, Alaena and Sean because they accepted me as family without question. There are also several teachers that have been more than accommodating to my stubbornness: Ms. Clain, Mrs. Greene, and Mr. Marzilli. None of them put up with any of my crap and I appreciate that.

Jason Tarr

First and foremost I would like to thank my family. My mother for her crazy sense of humor, open mindedness, and continuous support in everything I do. My father, for doing anything it took to ensure that I would have a head start on my competition whether it be in sports or education. Also, for his life lessons. Even though I didn't understand them at the time, I now know that there was a reason for every time that he grounded me. Brett, for being the typical older brother; for taking advantage of my ignorance when we were younger to being my best friend and doing anything he could to make me the popular freshman. Finally, my sister, Shenita, you have always been my younger sister and I know it hasn't been easy. I've picked on you, I've yelled at you, I've even ignored you and sometimes I don't think I make this clear enough... I love you. To Josh, Tyler, and Chris. You guys mean the world to me. I honestly don't know what I would have done had I not found you guys in the eighth grade. You were my first real friends and I know you'll be my last. Whatever the future has in store for us, I know we'll always be the "Fearsome Foursome." To Whitney. I met you in the beginning of our freshman year and haven't stopped thanking the day, since. You are one of my very best friends, without you I wouldn't have a female friend to gossip or simply talk with. Last but not least, my brother from another mother... Ryan. I just know that we share a great-great-grandfather on some mountain near Canada. It's up to you to carry on the Tarr Legacy for one more year. You are a great guy and I know you'll succeed in anything you attempt, you're just that kind of guy. To the ones that have made my stay in Hermon High worthwhile: EJ, BM, BA, KE, MH, JD, RN, GM, AW, PM, FB, MW, SW, VC, LK, SG, KH, JR, JC, NP, MP, BH, MP, JB, JC, CW, LM, TK, Mr. Small, Mr. Flegel, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Biberstein, and Mrs. Deabay.

SENIOR PLAY

Brad Miller's character seems a little confused!

Kendra Jewett and Jenna Redman go over a scene.

Jason Tarr tries to play the trombone while Alex Graves is looking good in a shirt and tie.

Alicia Oliver and Nate LaFave seem a little tense.

Long hours are not a problem for Stacey Morrell and Jenna Redman.

ONE ACT PLAY

Don't you know your lines by now?

Mrs. D smiles as rehearsal goes well.

This is how I want it to go.

Nate LaFave rocks out on his air guitar!

Aren't you supposed to be acting?

Hillary Cox patiently waits to recite her lines.

Caught ya! It seems Nate LaFave and Whitney Schreiber are peeking from behind the curtain.

Belt it out, man!

Sitting Pretty.

Nice acting, Whit!
