Dedication

Not often does a teacher enter a student's life and leave a lasting impression of wisdom and caring that will remain with him/her for an entire lifetime. Even less often does it occur that a teacher has the ability to reach each and every student in a classroom with this same sense of support and encouragement. It is with great pride and honor that I am able to say Hermon High School has been blessed with this special kind of person for the last twenty-five years. Whether you're looking for a teacher, a mentor, a cheerleader, a comedian, a coach, or, most importantly, a friend, you're sure to find it in this role model of a woman. She has given us unfaltering support through many wins and losses, wowed us with her skillful kazoo-playing abilities, led us in our school cheers, taught us the ins and outs of mathematics, and so much more. A day will not go by when students, faculty members, custodians, or administrators do not think of her and the impact she had and will continue to have on all of us. If you have not figured out by now who I'm talking about, the Senior Class is honored to dedicate the 2001-2002 yearbook to Mrs. Mary-Martha Collins, lifelong educator with a commitment to excellence. Thank you for your patience, integrity, advice, and, most importantly, your ability to inspire. We will never forget you, and we wish you much luck in your future endeavors, as you have changed ours forever.

Administration

Patricia Duran, Superintendent of Schools

Wilma Lombardi, Principal

To my dear students in the Class of 2002;

My experiences with you in the last three years have been some of the most rewarding experiences of my life. I have seen you cross over the threshold from adolescence to young adulthood. You have helped me to see just how rewarding it is to be life long learners and collaborative workers, two themes that truly have meaning and are not just Learning Results rhetoric. You, more than any other group of people, have demonstrated your maturity as you have never hesitated to step forward to be supportive, whether that support was needed by your classmates, your school, your community, your country, or even your principal. Although this letter is in reality a "goodbye", for realistically our paths will all be going separate ways, I hope you will take with you, wherever you go, or wherever life takes you, the spirit of my love and support for you, as I will take yours with me. I hope you will always remember our only two, for they will help you as you travel the very exciting paths before you:

With respect- Have Fun!!!

Chad Spann is caught walking toward the dance floor to "bust some moves".

Halloween

October 31, 2001

Katie Vashon, as Sponge Bob, Erin Lucey, as Olive Oyl, and Noelle O'Clair, as a nurse realize they should be doing Physics, not gathering for a picture.

Jason Ouellette, representing the thugs this Halloween, carries a paper back to his seat in Honors Physics class. Keep trying Jason.

After this picture was taken, Crystal Burgess was quick to tell Elliot Ho he had a head growing from his armpit.

No one be confused; that isn't Pocahontas; it's Nicole Ellis with a candy gram.

Christy Tracy, Katti Meeks, and Ashley Hichborn pose for the camera in their Halloween costumes. Ashley, you aren't fooling anyone in that nun outfit.

Mrs. Lombardi, shows Halloween spirit when wearing her unforgettable vampire costume and teeth.

Jodi Reynolds, as a werewolf, won the Most Scary Costume Competition this Halloween. Now, does anyone think they can introduce her to a haircut?

Matt Watson and Mike Phair obviously let their true selves out when they chose their elegant dresses over their usual jeans and t-shirts.

Winter Carnival

Chris Hogdon and older sister Serena Hogdon don't look very enthused for this picture.

Brothers Josh Blanchette and Aaron Blanchette don't look too thrilled to be seen together.

Jarod Ross and younger sister Ellysea Morrill pose together for this quick picture. Awww.....don't they look cute.

Jason Doucette should let his younger brother, Kyle Doucette know hats are not allowed to be worn in school.

Brothers Ben and Adam carry their sister Chantelle Haggerty. Ahh....three Haggertys in one school.

This is the closest you'll ever see these two. Kelly Schaap is actually hugging her younger sister Krista Schaap.

Sophomore Misty Rayot and Senior Mandy Rayot stand side by side. You can tell by the dimples that these two are sisters.

though you are only beginning to realize your soon you would begin to fulfill it. We are all so very proud of your accomplishments and anticipate even greater achievements in your future. The challenges ahead are new, exciting, and perhaps a little scary because they are unknown, but we know that you will face them with determination, confidence, and grace. You have taught us about courage, strength, and perseverance. We became better parents and better people because you needed and wanted us to be.

You are "our little angel baby" and without a doubt, our single, greatest accomplishment in life. Letting Congratulations Ashley "DC." You may have felt that 13 years of school was a waste of time, but doesn't it seem good that it is now behind you. We sometimes wondered if your "attitude" would get in the way of Graduation. We have missed you this year, but are very proud of you.

Our curious "little girl with the sunshine eyes" has turned into a beautiful young woman and is about to step onto the threshold of college and then into an exciting career—if the life of an attorney becomes your final choice, I am sure that happiness and success will be your close partners—but no matter what profession you ultimately choose, I am confident you will assume its responsibilities with the same grace and dignity with which you have walked the halls of Hermon High School. We want you to know how proud we are of the dedicated, caring, sensitive, ambitious, insightful person you have become. I hope you know that your brother and you are the light of my life, sweet Erin. We love you more than you can ever know...

You are about to move into a realm of great independence, where inner strength and self-discipline will be important. Take time to reward yourself for your hard work, and may you always treasure the "secret of life" (as James Taylor sings) — enjoying the passage of time.

All our love,

Saying thank you for 18 years of up bringing, where do I start? More importantly where do I end? I could compose a list of every person that helped make the man that I am, but I only have like 20 minutes to whip this out. So I guess I won't be doing that. Besides, there is no way I could even come close to drafting a list of thank yous that would credit even 1/8 the people on this list. So I'm gonna make this short and sweet. To everyone who has been there for me for the past 18 years (if you think you're one of them, you are). Thanks a million. Love, Aaron.

Voice Of Democracy

Voice Of Democracy

Hermon High School congratulates its top three winners for the 2001-2002 Voice Of Democracy Contest, sponsored by the Hampden Post of the Veterans of Foreign War.

Each contestant wrote and recorded a three to five-minute audio essay on the topic, "Reaching Out to America's Future." (Each year, the patriotic topic changes.)

Open to all high school students, the Voice of Democracy Contest is VFW's and its Ladies Auxiliary's premier youth scholarship program. This essay contest provides students a chance to praise the virtues of living in a democracy, to demonstrate writing talents, to build self-confidence, and to experiment with the technologies of radio broadcasting.

Local, regional, state and national judges evaluate VOD essays on originality (40 points), content (40 points), and delivery (20 points).

- Mrs. Catherine Lucey, Hermon's VOD co-ordinator
